Rescue Faked, Is Report

'Snuffy' Smith, Medal of Honor Winner, Is Under Charge; Mother, 21, Says She Was Offered $500 for Stunt

Washington, Aug. 5 (AP)—A young mother who was reported bent on making a suicide leap from a sixth floor ledge last Thursday now says the whole thing was a hoax to get publicity for the Medal of Honor winner credited with saving her.

Mrs. Ernestine Lucille Whomble, 21, mother of two children, said yesterday she was offered $500 to fake the jump attempt because Maynard H. "Snuffy" Smith, hero of World War 2 wanted publicity in his campaign for governor of Virginia.

Assistant Corporation Counsel Clark King promptly charged Smith with making a false report to police and firemen. A similar charge was filed against Roland Bennett, described as interested in furthering Smith's political fortunes.

Smith, 41, and Bennett, 27, are fellow employes in a radio shop.

Denies Any Hoax

Smith told reporters the incident last Thursday was no hoax. He suggested Mrs. Whomble may be suffering "from hallucinations of grandeur."

"If this girl was making an act, she should be in Hollywood," Smith said. He said he had never seen or met her before the encounter on the ledge.

He added it was "ridiculous" for anyone to say he was running for governor of Virginia. He moved only recently into nearby Virginia, he said, and doesn't know anyone there.

"I require no publicity. I've had a lot in my lifetime."

Bennett said "there is not a grain of truth in what this young lady has said."

Smith's wife said it was "ridiculous to say Snuffy is planning to run for governor" and said she doubted there had been a hoax. But she added:

"Snuffy is a daring type of fellow who might be talked into something like that."

Smith, who won the nation's highest military award for single-handedly bringing a burning Flying Fortress and its wounded crew members safely across the English Channel, has been involved with the law before.

Pleaded Guilty in 1948

In 1948 he pleaded guilty to a charge of violating food and drug laws by misbranding a "rejuvenation" cream which he sold to an elderly Virginia man.

King said Smith and Bennett considered Mrs. Whomble a "natural" for the faked suicide attempt because her five-months-old daughter had died a few days before.

According to Mrs. Whomble's signed report, Bennett made the first suggestion that she fake a suicide. She said she told her husband, a taxi driver, about it and he tried to dissuade her.

'Afraid' of Bennett

But she said she went ahead anyway because she feared Bennett. She said she wanted to back out at the last minute but Bennett had told her he would be on the street below the YWCA building "to see that I did it" while Smith would be on the sixth floor "to see that I went through with it."

She climbed out on the narrow ledge, and Smith followed. A photograph of the incident shows her apparently being pinned by Smith on the ledge.

"What's really happening is that I'm trying to get back inside the building by walking past him and he's trying to block me. I was scared to death," she said.

At the time, Smith gave newspapers a long account of his appeals to the woman to give up thought of suicide. He said he urged her to think of her two children still living.

Moody Gets Letter Saying Contract Will Expire Sept. 30 for Group

Might Close Mines

Unless Agreement Is Reached All Mining Would Cease

Washington, Aug. 5 (AP)—The specter of another industry-throttling strike before the steel mills have had a chance to get back to full blast production arose today as John L. Lewis served notice that his United Mine Workers' contracts are ending next month.

Lewis, president of the mine workers union, wrote Joseph E. Moody, president of the Southern Coal Producers Association, that his present work contract will expire Sept. 30.

That's 60 days from the date on Lewis' letter. Terms of the existing contract provide termination upon 60 days' notice by either side.

The notice to Moody, following by 10 days similar word to the Bituminous Coal Operators Association, is certain to mean a shutdown of all but a small portion of soft coal mining the end of next month unless Lewis, Moody and Harry M. Moses agree on new contract terms. Moses heads the Bituminous Operators Association, representing an estimated 240 million tons of annual production, much of it owned by the steel industry. The Moody group produces around 100 million tons a year.

Hard Coal Gets Notice

Lewis, it was also learned yesterday, has served contract termination notice on the anthracite, or hard coal industry, which employs 100,000 miners. The bituminous diggers number 450,000.

Still not a party to the series of recent Lewis letters are operators in Indiana and the far west, with an estimated 40 to 50 million tons a year and a scattering of soft coal producers in a dozen other states.

In the last 10 years or more, Lewis and the soft coal operators have reached a contract agreement without a strike or slowdown only twice—in 1948 and 1951.

The 1951 agreement, which was signed Jan. 18 and boosted miners' daily wages $1.60, was influenced by knowledge that the government was about ready to slap a wage freeze on the nation. That freenze came a week later but because the 1951 agreement had already been signed Lewis is now entitled to a minimum of 10 or 11 cents an hour wage boost for all his bituminous miners to com-

Leaflets and Radio Used to Tell Residents What Lies Ahead

Seoul, Korea, Aug. 5 (AP)—The U. S. Fifth Air Force said tonight U. S. Sable pilots shot down four Communist jets and damaged six in aerial dog fights over North Korea today.

The smashing UN air victory announcement came only a few hours after the UN said it had warned 78 North Korean towns housing Communist military installations that they are doomed and advised civilians to get out in advance of air raids.

The air force said Sabre pilots destroyed four MIGs and damaged five in four separate fights. The sixth MIG was hit by an F-84 Thunderjet pilot.

The air force said the Red fighters ventured farther south than they had in recent months.

Flaunts Superiority

The program of heralding air raids is designed to spare noncombatant lives. It also has the effect of a flaunting the allied air superiority over the Communist North Korean and Chinese commands.

At least two of the forwarned towns have been hit.

Lt. Gen. Glenn O. Barcus, U. S. Fifth Air Force commander, said the warning program has been under way in Korea since mid-July.

Leaflets Dropped

Millions of leaflets telling of future bombings have been dropped on North Korea by B-29s flying out of Okinawa and Japan.

A headquarters statement said: "In an effort to save the lives of North Korean civilians, an audacious program of prior warnings of bombing attacks is in effect.

"In recent weeks, Far East air forces aircraft have dropped leaflets on 78 town and cities in North Korea known to house Communist military installations or supplies.

"The leaflets have told the North Koreans that the United Nations command knows where such military targets are located and must and will destroy them. Civilians are advised to remove themselves from the danger areas."

Radio Seoul Broadcasts

Shortly before an attack begins, radio Seoul advises the civilians in the target area to get out immediately. The broadcasts continue right up until the time the attack begins.

The bold program was announced as Fifth Air Force fighter-bombers swept central and eastern North Korea Tuesday morning, bombing and shooting up targets behind Communist front lines. Pilots reported destruction or damage to 24 rail cars, nine buildings, a supply dump and one vehicle.

Ground Fighting Limited

Fighting along the ground front was limited to small-scale skirmishes.

A frontline officer reported no Reds in the vicinity of the western front hill Old Baldy, the battleline's hottest spot in the past few weeks.

UN naval headquarters in Tokyo said the British light cruiser Belfast was hit by a Communist shore battery Sunday while shelling in the vicinity of the west coast port of Chinnampo. Four Chinese were wounded, one fatally. The ship suffered only minor damage and was able to continue its patrol duty.

Six Guerrillas Die In Korean Voting

Attack Is Made on Polls in First Election of President

Pusan, Korea, Aug. 5 (AP)—Police killed six guerrillas and wounded 10 of a band of 40 that attacked a polling place about 70 miles west of here today in South Korea's first direct election of a president and vice president.

Police and troops had been alerted for just such raids.

Home Minister Kim Tai Sun said the guerrillas fled, leaving a sub-machine gun and 300 cartridges.

He said police suffered no casualties and voting resumed after a short delay.

Man Is Victim

About 20 guerrillas killed one man and burned two buildings and a home in a village in southwestern Korea last night. But police who drove off the raiders said they did not know whether the attack was connected with the election or just another sporadic guerrilla strike.

Overcast skies threatened rain, but government officials predicted 85 to 90 per cent of the 8,218,000 eligible voters would ballot.

Rhee Is Candidate

Presidential candidates are the incumbent Syngman Rhee; former Communist leader Cho Bong Am, elderly former vice president Lee Shi Yung, and former ambassador to Japan Hugh Cynn.

Nine candidates, six of them supporters of Rhee, are seeking the vice presidency.

Because of por communications it will be about three days before the results are known.

Of a dozen voters questioned at random in a village near Pusan, almost all said they had voted for Rhee. He is expected to win because his is the only name known to the bulk of the voters. He did not make a single campaign speech, but his supporters covered walls throughout the country with his posters.

China, Japan End War

Taipeh, Formosa, Aug. 5 (AP)—Nationalist China and Japan today formally ended 15 years of declared and undeclared war in a brief ceremony in a 20 by 12 anteroom. Foreign Minister George Yeh of China and Overseas Agency Chief Shini-Shishi Kimura of Japan signed treaty ratification documents—but did not speak to each other until afterwards. Then Kimura read a telegram from Foreign Minister Okasaki expressing hope that the two countries could "again enjoy the blessings of peace." Yeh read a brief statement urging "close cooperation in economic and other fields upon which the peace and security of East Asia so much depend."

Meet on Contract

Pittsburgh, Aug. 5 (AP)—Representatives of U. S. Steel Corp. and officials of the CIO United Steelworkers were scheduled to meet today to work out final details of a full-dress contract embodying terms which ended the 55-day strike against the nation's six biggest steel firms July 26. that settlement called for an average 16½ cents hourly pay hike, a modified union shop and improved fringe benefits. Inland Steel Co. of Chicago is the only one of the Big Six which has signed a formal contract.

Union Official Says No Strike Looms Immediately on Lines

New York, Aug. 5 (AP)—Talk of a strike on the New York Central's lines east of Buffalo, was drowned out today by further peace chats which have eliminated any immediate walkout threat.

The railroad and four independent brotherhoods planned new negotiations today after spending all day yesterday at a parley table.

"No strike is imminent," said Wilbert L. Reed, assistant to the president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, after yesterday's talks. He added: "We're doing business with these people and will continue to."

Lawrence W. Horning, vice president of personnel and public relations for the railroad, said he was encouraged by the talks and that he believed "there has been a gross exaggeration of the imminince of a strike."

Rules at Issue

At issue in the dispute are some 300 working rules and grievances of two years' standing. These include problems of extra pay, switching, changing engines, size of crews, and other subjects.

CHARLES G. CLEVELAND

Lt. Charles G. Cleveland, 24, of Woodstock, son of Mrs. Orestes Cleveland, of the Bearsville road, Woodstock, today was credited with downing one MIG and damaging another in Korea.

Lieutenant Cleveland, who previously was credited with a probable kill, was operating with other U. S. Sabre jet pilots in the Haeju-Sariwon area, a few miles north of the 38th parallel, according to the Associated Press.

The action was one of five air battles today in which the air force said four Russian-built MIGs were shot down and six damaged.

Other Kills Credited

Other pilots credited by the U. S. Fifth Air Force with kills were: Second Lts. Ronald W. Martrim, of Port Jervis and William W. Cook, of Merkel, Texas, who shared one kill; Flight Officer Claude A. La France, Royal Canadian Air Force Exchange Pilot, Lorettaville, Quebec.

Those damaging Red planes included Lt. Robert W. McBride, 4815 Nokomis Ave., Minneapolis, two; Lt. John Inferrera, 785 Mount Auburn St., Watertown, Mass.

Personal Belongings Used to Check by Workers—25 Persons Hurt

Waco, Tex., Aug. 5 (AP)—Just how many persons died in the flaming hell that resulted when two Greyhound buses crashed south of here early yesterday remained a mystery today.

At least 28 bodies had been recovered from the charred shambles of the big 37-passenger highway liners, but a pile of charred flesh and bone remained for classication. Twenty-five persons were injured.

Heat from the flames was so intense that molten metal and glass poured in little streams across the cracked highway. Officers believed

Wafdist Party Begins Purge of Own Ranks, Ousts Nine Members in Action

Cairo, Egypt, Aug. 5 (AP)—Egypt's anti-corruption drive got underway officially today as Premier Aly Maher set up two commissions to probe bribery, graft and unlawful profits by government officials.

At the same time, the powerful Wafdist party—which governed Egypt during most of the time the official stealing is supposed to have taken place—launched a purge of its own ranks. It kicked out nine members, three of them former cabinet ministers, and set up a party commission to examine "any complaint brought against the probity of any Wafd member."

Judges Announced

Maher, chosen "purge" premier by the army following its coup which led to the abdication of King Farouk, in two separate decrees last night:

1. Set up a commission of career judges to "investigate and punish administrative offenses by government employes."

2. Ordered "all responsible officials or officials filling representative posts" to submit a full statement of their income to a second commission before the end of the year. If an official's income increases after he takes office, he must explain why.

Are Not Retroactive

The second decree also applies to officials' wives and to officials who have resigned since 1939. It specifically stated, however, that punishment would be adminstered only for misdeeds committed in the future and would not be applied retroactively.

Official sources said government bans against 173 foreign publications, including Life Magazine and the Saturday Evening Post, have been lifted. These publications were barred from Egypt for publishing stories unfavorable to King Farouk.

Cairo newspapers speculated that the cabinet is discussing a proposal to cut the pay of infant King Fuad II to 36,000 pounds ($100,000) a year. Farouk got 100,000 pounds ($287,000). And under the proposal, the papers added, only two-thirds would go to the king while the rest would be paid to the Regency Council ruling for him.

Might Sell Oil to Russia

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 5 (AP)—An Iranian government official indicated here last night that his country might sell its oil to Soviet Russia if Iran is unable to dispose of it otherwise. Manucher Nakhai, director general of the Iranian ministry of labor, told reporters: "We are getting desperate about this oil situation, and we must sell it for our own welfare." Nakhai, 37, was here on tour to study industrial conditions in the United States. He added: "Under the nationalization law, there are countries other than Russia who have priority on our oil exports, but if the United States will not help and the situation remains the same—well, we must sell it."

Stevenson to Talk With HST Aides

Democrat Will See Russell Tomorrow, Kefauver at Later Date

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 5 (AP)—Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson set up appointments with two White House intimates today and arranged a conference here Wednesday with Senator Richard Russell of Georgia.

Secretary of Agriculture Brannan and Clark Clifford, former special counsel to President Truman, were due in at the executive mansion today for campaign huddles with the Democratic presidential nominee.

Russell's visit, and one slated later with Senator Estes Kefauver of Tennessee—both losers to Stevenson for the nomination—were hailed by the Illinois governor as evidence he faces little worry about losing the south and its big bloc of electoral votes.

Stevenson mentioned the two southern senators Monday in answering a news conference question about whether he thought Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the Republican nominee, would make any headway in the south.

No Appeals, He Says

Declaring he would not make sectional appeals or try to "adjust conventions to suit localities," Stevenson then added:

"I have little apprehension about the fidelity of the south to the Democratic party in this campaign.

"I have had heartening evidences of that already in communications from a great many people in the south—political leaders I am speaking of."

Regarding the Republican party's chances of capturing the Negro vote in the country, he said:

"I can hardly see why the Negro vote could find any happy refuge in the Republican party."

Point Now Is Whether General Plans to Change Stand on Issue

Denver, Aug. 5 (AP)—Endorsement of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's presidential candidacy by a group of Republican Negro leaders posed a big question today—whether he plans to change his stand regarding civil rights.

The GOP nominee's position on that politically explosive issue came under new scrutiny as he made ready to fly to Los Angeles for a major speech tonight—his first since the Republicans chose him as their standard bearer.

Eisenhower will address the annual encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars (about 9 p. m., EST) after receiving the Bernard M. Baruch award for service to the cause of American unity and world peace.

The general has said there will be "absolutely no politics" in the speech. The address reportedly will deal with Eisenhower's ideas about good government and the role he

Navy Accepts Red Attack on Plane

Matter Is Viewed as Hazard Natural to Craft in War's Operation

Washington, Aug. 5 (AP)—The navy has accepted the Communist jet fighter attack on one of its patrol planes over the Yellow Sea as an operational hazard of the Korean war which is unlikely to prompt any diplomatic protests, from the U. S. at least.

Naval officials in expressing this view today pointed out that American patrol planes and a squadron of British navy flying boats have flown about 12,000 sorties over the approaches to Korea and the not

Spaceship Crews Would Be Away From Mars and Venus for a Couple of Years

By Frank Carey
Associated Press Science Reporter

Washington, Aug. 5 (AP) — If those alleged "flying saucers" were ships from outer space, they'd have to be manned by chaps with tolerant wives.

Roundtrip travel to the earth from Mars and Venus—the only two planets in our solar system given even an outside chance of supporting life—would involve neary three years for the Martians, just over two years for the Venutians.

And they'd have to spend that much time away from the wife and kids even though they had spaceships capable of traveling at a 25,000-mile-an-hour clip!

Just suppose, for a minute, that Mars and Venus were populated by some kind of intelligent beings capable of launching a spaceship—saucer-shaped or what-have-you—and that they wanted to do some fancy spying on the earth.

Here's what they'd be up against:

While Venus is "only" 25 million miles from the earth at its closest approach to our planet—just a breeze, you might say, for a spaceship traveling 25,000 miles an hour—there would be much more to the problem than that.

Venus makes such a "close" approach only once in every 470 days; meanwhile, in its orbit around the sun, it gets as far away as 160 million miles from the earth.

Moreover, while Venus and the earth travel in the same direction around the sun, Venus hurtles along at a 22-mile-a-second clip, while the earth moves at 18½ miles a second.

This means that any take-off from Venus—and the return take-off from the earth—must be made several WEEKS in advance of the time the two plants would be closest to each other.

That is, the Venutian spaceman wouldn't aim right for the earth; he'd direct his spaceship at a point in space where it would eventually "rendezvous" with the earth.

Estimates have been made that, for minimum fuel consumption, a roundtrip between Venus and the earth would require 146 days for the actual trip, a 470-day wait at the destination point until the two planets were "close" again, and

Long, Green Expect South To Disappoint Republicans

Washington, Aug. 5 (AP)—Two Democratic senators predicted today the south will remain solid this November despite evident Dixie dissatisfaction with the Democratic platform.

Sens. Russell Long of Louisiana and Theodore F. Green of Rhode Island said in separate interviews they believe Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the Republican presidential nominee, won't win a single southern state.

Eisenhower has counted heavily on breaking into the south to offset the national preponderance of Democratic registration over Republican.

Both senators discounted the likelihood of any bolt in states where opposition to the platform's civil rights declarations is running strong.

Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois, the Democratic presidential nominee, told a news conference at Springfield, Ill., yesterday he thinks the platform's civil rights plank is a good one. It pledges the party in general terms to work toward the establishment of equal rights, including fair employment practices.

But Stevenson gave those who have been working to get his name on the ticket in every southern state some encouragement when he said he thinks it is dangerous to limit debate in a democracy and is not certain he would favor a change in the Senate rules.

Critics have charged that a Sen-

Red Train Explodes

Berlin, Aug. 5 (AP)— Soviet munitions train exploded, killing the train crew and Russian guards, the independent German newspaper Die Welt reported today. The paper said the explosion occurred near Wittenberg, about 60 miles southwest of Berlin, last Friday. Six Guerrillas Die In Korean Voting

Attack Is Made on Polls in First Election of President

Pusan, Korea, Aug. 5 (AP)—Police killed six guerrillas and wounded 10 of a band of 40 that attacked a polling place about 70 miles west of here today in South Korea's first direct election of a president and vice president.

Police and troops had been alerted for just such raids.

Home Minister Kim Tai Sun said the guerrillas fled, leaving a sub-machine gun and 300 cartridges.

He said police suffered no casualties and voting resumed after a short delay.

Man Is Victim

About 20 guerrillas killed one man and burned two buildings and a home in a village in southwestern Korea last night. But police who drove off the raiders said they did not know whether the attack was connected with the election or just another sporadic guerrilla strike.

Overcast skies threatened rain, but government officials predicted 85 to 90 per cent of the 8,218,000 eligible voters would ballot.

Rhee Is Candidate

Presidential candidates are the incumbent Syngman Rhee; former Communist leader Cho Bong Am, elderly former vice president Lee Shi Yung, and former ambassador to Japan Hugh Cynn.

Nine candidates, six of them supporters of Rhee, are seeking the vice presidency.

Because of por communications it will be about three days before the results are known.

Of a dozen voters questioned at random in a village near Pusan, almost all said they had voted for Rhee. He is expected to win because his is the only name known to the bulk of the voters. He did not make a single campaign speech, but his supporters covered walls throughout the country with his posters.

China, Japan End War

Taipeh, Formosa, Aug. 5 (AP)—Nationalist China and Japan today formally ended 15 years of declared and undeclared war in a brief ceremony in a 20 by 12 anteroom. Foreign Minister George Yeh of China and Overseas Agency Chief Shini-Shishi Kimura of Japan signed treaty ratification documents—but did not speak to each other until afterwards. Then Kimura read a telegram from Foreign Minister Okasaki expressing hope that the two countries could "again enjoy the blessings of peace." Yeh read a brief statement urging "close cooperation in economic and other fields upon which the peace and security of East Asia so much depend."

Meet on Contract

Pittsburgh, Aug. 5 (AP)—Representatives of U. S. Steel Corp. and officials of the CIO United Steelworkers were scheduled to meet today to work out final details of a full-dress contract embodying terms which ended the 55-day strike against the nation's six biggest steel firms July 26. that settlement called for an average 16½ cents hourly pay hike, a modified union shop and improved fringe benefits. Inland Steel Co. of Chicago is the only one of the Big Six which has signed a formal contract.

Union Official Says No Strike Looms Immediately on Lines

New York, Aug. 5 (AP)—Talk of a strike on the New York Central's lines east of Buffalo, was drowned out today by further peace chats which have eliminated any immediate walkout threat.

The railroad and four independent brotherhoods planned new negotiations today after spending all day yesterday at a parley table.

"No strike is imminent," said Wilbert L. Reed, assistant to the president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, after yesterday's talks. He added: "We're doing business with these people and will continue to."

Lawrence W. Horning, vice president of personnel and public relations for the railroad, said he was encouraged by the talks and that he believed "there has been a gross exaggeration of the imminince of a strike."

Rules at Issue

At issue in the dispute are some 300 working rules and grievances of two years' standing. These include problems of extra pay, switching, changing engines, size of crews, and other subjects.

Freer Is Found Near State Camp

Kingston Boy Exhausted but Conditon Said to Be Favorable

Durward Freer, Jr., 16, stumbled out of the woods and collapsed on the Haines Falls-North Lake road about one mile from the state campsite shortly before 10 p. m. Monday.

Passersby who found the youth reported he was exhausted but otherwise was apparently unhurt. He was taken by ambulance to the Benedictine Hospital, where his condition at mid-morning today was reported as "good."

Freer, the son of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Freer of 76 Stephan street, reportedly wandered from the North Lake Public Campsite about 4 p. m. Sunday. He was the subject of an intense search by

CHARLES G. CLEVELAND

Lt. Charles G. Cleveland, 24, of Woodstock, son of Mrs. Orestes Cleveland, of the Bearsville road, Woodstock, today was credited with downing one MIG and damaging another in Korea.

Lieutenant Cleveland, who previously was credited with a probable kill, was operating with other U. S. Sabre jet pilots in the Haeju-Sariwon area, a few miles north of the 38th parallel, according to the Associated Press.

The action was one of five air battles today in which the air force said four Russian-built MIGs were shot down and six damaged.

Other Kills Credited

Other pilots credited by the U. S. Fifth Air Force with kills were: Second Lts. Ronald W. Martrim, of Port Jervis and William W. Cook, of Merkel, Texas, who shared one kill; Flight Officer Claude A. La France, Royal Canadian Air Force Exchange Pilot, Lorettaville, Quebec.

Those damaging Red planes included Lt. Robert W. McBride, 4815 Nokomis Ave., Minneapolis, two; Lt. John Inferrera, 785 Mount Auburn St., Watertown, Mass.

Mystery Covers Waco Bus Toll

Personal Belongings Used to Check by Workers—25 Persons Hurt

Waco, Tex., Aug. 5 (AP)—Just how many persons died in the flaming hell that resulted when two Greyhound buses crashed south of here early yesterday remained a mystery today.

At least 28 bodies had been recovered from the charred shambles of the big 37-passenger highway liners, but a pile of charred flesh and bone remained for classication. Twenty-five persons were injured.

Heat from the flames was so intense that molten metal and glass poured in little streams across the cracked highway. Officers believed

Wafdist Party Begins Purge of Own Ranks, Ousts Nine Members in Action

Cairo, Egypt, Aug. 5 (AP)—Egypt's anti-corruption drive got underway officially today as Premier Aly Maher set up two commissions to probe bribery, graft and unlawful profits by government officials.

At the same time, the powerful Wafdist party—which governed Egypt during most of the time the official stealing is supposed to have taken place—launched a purge of its own ranks. It kicked out nine members, three of them former cabinet ministers, and set up a party commission to examine "any complaint brought against the probity of any Wafd member."

Judges Announced

Maher, chosen "purge" premier by the army following its coup which led to the abdication of King Farouk, in two separate decrees last night:

1. Set up a commission of career judges to "investigate and punish administrative offenses by government employes."

2. Ordered "all responsible officials or officials filling representative posts" to submit a full statement of their income to a second commission before the end of the year. If an official's income increases after he takes office, he must explain why.

Are Not Retroactive

The second decree also applies to officials' wives and to officials who have resigned since 1939. It specifically stated, however, that punishment would be adminstered only for misdeeds committed in the future and would not be applied retroactively.

Official sources said government bans against 173 foreign publications, including Life Magazine and the Saturday Evening Post, have been lifted. These publications were barred from Egypt for publishing stories unfavorable to King Farouk.

Cairo newspapers speculated that the cabinet is discussing a proposal to cut the pay of infant King Fuad II to 36,000 pounds ($100,000) a year. Farouk got 100,000 pounds ($287,000). And under the proposal, the papers added, only two-thirds would go to the king while the rest would be paid to the Regency Council ruling for him.

Might Sell Oil to Russia

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 5 (AP)—An Iranian government official indicated here last night that his country might sell its oil to Soviet Russia if Iran is unable to dispose of it otherwise. Manucher Nakhai, director general of the Iranian ministry of labor, told reporters: "We are getting desperate about this oil situation, and we must sell it for our own welfare." Nakhai, 37, was here on tour to study industrial conditions in the United States. He added: "Under the nationalization law, there are countries other than Russia who have priority on our oil exports, but if the United States will not help and the situation remains the same—well, we must sell it."

Stevenson to Talk With HST Aides

Democrat Will See Russell Tomorrow, Kefauver at Later Date

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 5 (AP)—Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson set up appointments with two White House intimates today and arranged a conference here Wednesday with Senator Richard Russell of Georgia.

Secretary of Agriculture Brannan and Clark Clifford, former special counsel to President Truman, were due in at the executive mansion today for campaign huddles with the Democratic presidential nominee.

Russell's visit, and one slated later with Senator Estes Kefauver of Tennessee—both losers to Stevenson for the nomination—were hailed by the Illinois governor as evidence he faces little worry about losing the south and its big bloc of electoral votes.

Stevenson mentioned the two southern senators Monday in answering a news conference question about whether he thought Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the Republican nominee, would make any headway in the south.

No Appeals, He Says

Declaring he would not make sectional appeals or try to "adjust conventions to suit localities," Stevenson then added:

"I have little apprehension about the fidelity of the south to the Democratic party in this campaign.

"I have had heartening evidences of that already in communications from a great many people in the south—political leaders I am speaking of."

Regarding the Republican party's chances of capturing the Negro vote in the country, he said:

Point Now Is Whether General Plans to Change Stand on Issue

Denver, Aug. 5 (AP)—Endorsement of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's presidential candidacy by a group of Republican Negro leaders posed a big question today—whether he plans to change his stand regarding civil rights.

The GOP nominee's position on that politically explosive issue came under new scrutiny as he made ready to fly to Los Angeles for a major speech tonight—his first since the Republicans chose him as their standard bearer.

Eisenhower will address the annual encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars (about 9 p. m., EST) after receiving the Bernard M. Baruch award for service to the cause of American unity and world peace.

The general has said there will be "absolutely no politics" in the speech. The address reportedly will deal with Eisenhower's ideas about good government and the role he

Navy Accepts Red Attack on Plane

Washington, Aug. 5 (AP)—The navy has accepted the Communist jet fighter attack on one of its patrol planes over the Yellow Sea as an operational hazard of the Korean war which is unlikely to prompt any diplomatic protests, from the U. S. at least.

Naval officials in expressing this view today pointed out that American patrol planes and a squadron of British navy flying boats have flown about 12,000 sorties over the approaches to Korea and the not

Spaceship Crews Would Be Away From Mars and Venus for a Couple of Years

By Frank Carey
Associated Press Science Reporter

Washington, Aug. 5 (AP) — If those alleged "flying saucers" were ships from outer space, they'd have to be manned by chaps with tolerant wives.

Roundtrip travel to the earth from Mars and Venus—the only two planets in our solar system given even an outside chance of supporting life—would involve neary three years for the Martians, just over two years for the Venutians.

And they'd have to spend that much time away from the wife and kids even though they had spaceships capable of traveling at a 25,000-mile-an-hour clip!

Just suppose, for a minute, that Mars and Venus were populated by some kind of intelligent beings capable of launching a spaceship—saucer-shaped or what-have-you—and that they wanted to do some fancy spying on the earth.

Here's what they'd be up against:

While Venus is "only" 25 million miles from the earth at its closest approach to our planet—just a breeze, you might say, for a spaceship traveling 25,000 miles an hour—there would be much more to the problem than that.

Venus makes such a "close" approach only once in every 470 days; meanwhile, in its orbit around the sun, it gets as far away as 160 million miles from the earth.

Moreover, while Venus and the earth travel in the same direction around the sun, Venus hurtles along at a 22-mile-a-second clip, while the earth moves at 18½ miles a second.

This means that any take-off from Venus—and the return take-off from the earth—must be made several WEEKS in advance of the time the two plants would be closest to each other.

That is, the Venutian spaceman wouldn't aim right for the earth; he'd direct his spaceship at a point in space where it would eventually "rendezvous" with the earth.

Estimates have been made that, for minimum fuel consumption, a roundtrip between Venus and the earth would require 146 days for the actual trip, a 470-day wait at the destination point until the two planets were "close" again, and

Long, Green Expect South To Disappoint Republicans

Washington, Aug. 5 (AP)—Two Democratic senators predicted today the south will remain solid this November despite evident Dixie dissatisfaction with the Democratic platform.

Sens. Russell Long of Louisiana and Theodore F. Green of Rhode Island said in separate interviews they believe Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the Republican presidential nominee, won't win a single southern state.

Eisenhower has counted heavily on breaking into the south to offset the national preponderance of Democratic registration over Republican.

Both senators discounted the likelihood of any bolt in states where opposition to the platform's civil rights declarations is running strong.

Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois, the Democratic presidential nominee, told a news conference at Springfield, Ill., yesterday he thinks the platform's civil rights plank is a good one. It pledges the party in general terms to work toward the establishment of equal rights, including fair employment practices.

But Stevenson gave those who have been working to get his name on the ticket in every southern state some encouragement when he said he thinks it is dangerous to limit debate in a democracy and is not certain he would favor a change in the Senate rules.

Critics have charged that a Sen-

Red Train Explodes

Berlin, Aug. 5 (AP)— Soviet munitions train exploded, killing the train crew and Russian guards, the independent German newspaper Die Welt reported today. The paper said the explosion occurred near Wittenberg, about 60 miles southwest of Berlin, last Friday. Quoting the East German railway administration as its source, the paper said that sabotage was suspected. The exact number of casualties was not known, it added.

Chemical Worker Killed by Blast At Hastings Plant

Hastings-on-Hudson, N. Y., Aug. 5 (AP)—A man was killed today when he dashed back into the smoking ruins of a dyestuff building to rescue a fellow workman following an explosion at the Zinsser and Company, Inc., chemical plant here.

Crofton Taberer, 37, the dead man, was one of six employes in the two-story steel frame building when there was a loud explosion. Five dashed out, then Taberer noticed that Charles Schreiber, 44, of Irvington, N. Y., was missing.

Taberer ran back into the flaming building and dragged out Schreiber. Police, who identified Taberer, said he had just stretched Schreiber on the ground when a part of one wall of the building collapsed, burying Taberer but not touching Schrieber.

Cause of the explosion was not immediately determined.

A fire followed the explosion and smoke covered a wide area of the Hudson river. Two firemen were injured fighting the flames and a nurse suffered a leg injury as she searched the debris for any other injured.

Forst Driver Is Unhurt As Firm Truck Upsets

John J. McAffrey of R. D. Kingston escaped apparent injury when the Forst Packing Company truck he was driving struck a sign post and overturned at the intersection of Route 23A and 9W in Catskill this morning, village police reported.

McAffrey, who said he would be examined by his own physician for injuries, told police he was driving on Route 23A when an unidentified passenger car pulled onto the highway from a gasoline station at the intersection. In applying his brakes to avoid a collision, the truck skidded on the wet pavement, struck a signpost on the service station drive and turned over on its right side, Catskill police said.

Parents of Slain Girl Ask $250,000 in Proposed Suit

New York, Aug. 5 (AP)—The parents of Eileen Fahey, slain by a war veteran last month, prepared today to sue the U. S. Army and the Veterans Administration for $250,000 for permitting her slayer to be at large.

The action was disclosed with the filing of a petition in Surrogate's Court asking that Francis A. and Josephine Fahey be appointed administrators of the girl's estate so they may file the suit.

The petition said the suit will be filed because the army and the V.A., "well knowing the mental condition of one Bayard P. Peakes, and well knowing him to be a dangerous lunatic, caused, allowed or permitted him to be released from their charge * * *, whereupon the aforsaid Peakes shot and killed the late Eileen Fahey."

Miss Fahey, 18, a pretty stenographer, was reading a letter from her sweetheart in Korea July 14 when Peakes entered her office and shot her to death. She was employed by the American Physical Society, which sponsors research in physics and electronics. Peakes was angry at the society because it had refused to take seriously his book "How to Live Forever."

Admitted Shooting

Police said he admitted the shooting, although he never had seen Miss Fahey before. He was indicted on a charge of first degree murder, pleaded innocent because of insanity and is undedgoing mental tests at Bellevue Hospital.

Attached to the petition was a statement made by Judge Saul S. Streit, when Peakes was arraigned on the indictment. The judge said Veterans Administration records "disclose that the killer was continuously insane for several years, * * * but permitted to be at large in utter disregard of the public safety."

Financial and Commercial

New York, Aug. 5 (AP)—Faltering railroads and scattered weakness throughout the list today weighed the stock market down moderately.

Losses came to around a point at the outside. Gains extended major fractions. At the same time a great amount of steadiness was imparted to the list by a group of leaders trading unchanged.

Business progressed at a sleepy pace. The rate of trading was less than yesterday's meager 950,000 shares.

Steels were unchanged to slightly lower. Automobiles held steady. There was little or nothing notable in the rest of the list.

Gold mines were higher. Dome Mines was more active than usual and up a fraction. Interest in the issue apparently came from prospects for added earning power in Dome from its gold mining subsidiaries.

Church Building Will Be Opened Sunday, Sept. 7

The official board of the Church of the Nazarene completed plans last night for the opening service Sunday, Sept. 7, in the new church building.

The old building suffered heavy damage when it virtually collapsed approximately a year ago. Much of the work of rebuilding was done by the Rev. Fred Fike, pastor, and members of the congregation.

The interior will be practically finished by September 7 and the exterior brick work will be completed soon after that, it was said. Return to the new structure, which is larger than the old church, will enable the congregation to resume its normal schedule of evangelistic services and worship.

It was pointed out that a dedication would be held in early 1953 when the building is completed in all its details and that a general superintendent of the denomination would be present.

Dr. O. J. Finch, district superintendent, will speak at the opening service September 7, with Leland Davis of Akron, O., organist and soloist, furnishing the music.

Boys Club Will Hold Outing on Thursday

The Kingston Boys Club will hold the second of its all-day outings at Ruby Thursday.

Members will meet in front of the club at 9 a. m. where transportation will be provided. They are expected to get back to the city about 4:30 or 5 p. m.

Nick Cosmos, director, will give swimming instruction to non-swimmers during the morning, it was said. Leaders Bill Thurin, Ray Van Buren, Don Van Buren and Bob Sember will supervise group games for the boys. This will be followed by a swimming period and fishing for those who are interested. A rest period after lunch will be followed by swimming, fishing and a short hike.

Quarantine on Hogs

Chicago, Aug. 5 (AP)—The Bureau of Animal Industry today slapped a partial quarantine on the Chicago hog market in a further effort to stop the spread of a swift-moving hog disease called vesicular exanthema. An estimated 13,000 hogs had reached the Union Stock Yards when the quarantine went into effect. None of these may be shipped out but must be slaughtered immediately at local packing plants.

Haynes Resigns From St. Mark's; Plans Vacation

REV. D. L. HAYNES

The Rev. Dr. Daniel L. Haynes, pastor of St. Mark's AME Church, 12 Foxhall avenue, has resigned after almost five years of service in the parish, it was learned today.

Dr. Haynes said that he doesn't plan to take another charge immediately because he hasn't had a good rest in the last 15 years. He said that he would make further plans at the conclusion of his vacation.

A distinguished actor, Dr. Haynes left the stage and screen because he "felt that I could be of greater service in the ministry." He stated that he did not contemplate a return to the theatre but would definitely continue in the ministry.

Dr. Haynes said that he had also resigned from the New York Annual Conference of the AME Church. He is now a regularly ordained and qualified minister of the Central Hudson Missionary Baptist Association and a member of the Metropolitan Baptist Church of Albany.

Dr. Haynes starred several years ago as De Lawd in the Broadway production of Green Pastures. He also has the distinction of being the first person in history to give a representation of the Deity to English audiences. A one-hour transcription of Green Pastures was broadcast by the British Broadcasting Company in October, 1949.

He has a wide experience in theatre and motion pictures. In the original stage production of Green Pastures he played the roles of Adam and Hezdrel 1,862 times in five years, playing in every state in the union, in practically every important city in each state and in Canada and Mexico.

He played the leading role in the first all-Negro talking picture, Hallelujah, which was directed by King Vidor, famed for his Big Parade.

Other stage and screen productions in which Dr. Haynes appeared were So Red the Rose, Can This Be Dixie, Escape From Devil's Island, The Last Mile, White Sisters, Little Boy Blue, The Invisible Ray, Earth, The Bottom of the Cup, Androcles and the Lion and many others.

Since giving up the theater he has been pastor of churches in Brooklyn, Westbury, Huntington, Bay Shore and Olean.

He is a graduate of Morris Brown, Atlanta University, Chicago University, Turner Theological Seminary and College of the City of New York, earning the degrees of AB, MA and BT. He has also been awarded his DD degree.

Haynes has also traveled extensively in the United States, Canada and Mexico and has made personal appearances with his pictures through France, South America, England, Scotland and Wales. He studied with Max Rheinhardt of Germany and Flo Ziegfeld of New York.

Takes Turn for Worse

Los Angeles, Aug. 5 (AP)—Jack O'Leary, who doctors say has hiccuped longer than anyone in history, has taken a turn for the worse. The 26-year-old former market manager began to hiccup more than four years ago—on June 13, 1948—after his appendix ruptured. Since then the spasms have jolted him at the rate of once per second and he has dropped in weight from 135 to 78 pounds. His mother, Mrs. Margaret O'Leary, said the hiccups now have increased to 70 per minute. Jack is on a highly restricted diet and is able to retain food only 20 minutes. He is resting at his home, 4044 Garden avenue, Los Angeles.

Cashin Reserves Decision On New Trial for Kelly

County Judge John M. Cashin today reserved decision on an application for a new trial in the Edward H. Kelly first degree murder case.

Whitman Knapp, attorney for the defendant, moved for a new trial on the basis that new evidence can be produced. The new evidence, he contended, was a report on file with the defendant's medical records at Sing Sing Prison of the examination of Kelly by Dr. Bernard C. Glueck, Jr., a certified specialist in psychiatry and a supervising psychiatrist of the Department of Mental Hygiene, assigned to the prison.

The report, according to Knapp, contained a diagnosis of "probable involutional psychosis from which the inmate appears to have made a complete recovery."

Arguments Heard

Arguments on the motion were heard at special term of County Court today, having been adjourned from July 30 by consent. Knapp asked the court to call Dr. Glueck to the witness stand so that the court itself could determine whether the doctor's testimony was such as to warrant a new trial.

James J. Abernethy, assistant district attorney, argued for denial of the motion on the grounds that the new evidence claimed by Knapp did not meet the requirements to justify a new trial.

Abernethy contended Dr. Glueck's diagnosis apparently would be substantially the same as that of Dr. Joseph L. Cummings in the previous trial, and that it would not change the opinion of the jury.

Knapp's Contention

Knapp countered that Dr. Glueck's testimony, if available at the previous trial, "would have produced acquittal of the defendant." He noted that the district attorney produced no medical testimony to contradict that of Dr. Cummings, but made it appear that Dr. Cummings was a "paid, partial defense witness." He noted that Dr. Glueck, as a state official, would undoubtedly be considered as an impartial witness.

Other points, including Dr. Glueck's reluctance to sign an affidavit but reported willingness to testify, and the fact that the doctor's memorandum containing his diagnosis was not intended for court use, were also debated.

Judge Cashin reserved decision and adjourned court, holding the July Special Term open subject to call. Attorney Howard C. St. John, who is associated with Knapp in the defense, was in court with Knapp, and Former Assistant District Attorney Vincent G. Connelly was seated with Abernethy, but took no part in the verbal proceedings.

Buffalo League Assails Powell

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug 5 (AP)—The Buffalo Civil Rights League, Inc., an inter-racial group which claims 3,000 members, disagrees with Rep. Adam C. Powell's prediction that Negroes will not vote for the presidential candidate of either major party.

The directors of the group, at a special meeting yesterday, approved a resolution declaring that the New York Negro Democrat "is a leader but not a controller of the American Negro."

The resolution added in part:

". . . for the American Negro to fail to exercise his hard won voting franchise would invite disaster, not only as Negroes, but as Americans."

Hikers Lost on Slide Mountain Found by Boys From Woodland

A party of seven people, including four children, vacationing at Fleischmanns, left on a hiking trip on Slide Mountain Monday morning, and became the object of a searching party before their appearance early Tuesday morning at the swinging bridge in Woodland Valley.

According to Corporad Ray Dunn of the New York State Police, the party left the Lakeside Farm in Fleischmanns about 10 o'clock Monday morning, carrying no food or water with them.

Included in the party were Edward Beller, 31, and his wife Ruth, 27, of 107 Elwood Place New York city; Mrs. Sally Wang, 57, of 740 Washington street, New York city, Susan Beller, 6, Linda Beller 2, Valerie Beller, 11, and Helen Heineman 8.

The Beller car was parked at Winnisook Lake and the party started climbing Slide Mountain. About 10 p. m. Monday, the owners of the Lakeside Farm became alarmed at the non-appearance of the party and notified the state police at Margaretville, who in turn notified Corporal Ray Dunn.

Search in Vain

A search party consisting of Corporal Dunn, Kenneth Herdman, caretaker at the Winnisook Mountain Club, and Frank Henkle of Shandaken, started up Slide Mountain about midnight but returned to the Beller car about two hours later without having found the missing persons.

Approximately 1:30 Tuesday morning Mrs. William Wrixon of Woodland Valley called the state police with the information that the missing persons had emerged from the woods near the swinging bridge in the vicinity of her home.

According to the Beller party they hiked over Slide Mountain, became confused and followed the wrong trail over to Cornell Mountain and finally met a party of boys from Camp Woodland, Phoenicia, who were hiking in the vicinity.

It was almost dark when the Beller party contacted the camp boys. Susan Beller had sustained a sprained ankle and the party were exhausted from lack of food and drink. The boys gave the Beller party food and drink, carried the children, and assisted the adults down the mountain to the Wrixon home, from where they were returned to Fleischmanns.

Average whole hams as sold in the butcher shop is 63 per cent lean meat, 24 per cent fat, 10 per cent bone, and 3 per cent skin.

Chemical Worker Killed by Blast At Hastings Plant

Hastings-on-Hudson, N. Y., Aug. 5 (AP)—A man was killed today when he dashed back into the smoking ruins of a dyestuff building to rescue a fellow workman following an explosion at the Zinsser and Company, Inc., chemical plant here.

Crofton Taberer, 37, the dead man, was one of six employes in the two-story steel frame building when there was a loud explosion. Five dashed out, then Taberer noticed that Charles Schreiber, 44, of Irvington, N. Y., was missing.

Taberer ran back into the flaming building and dragged out Schreiber. Police, who identified Taberer, said he had just stretched Schreiber on the ground when a part of one wall of the building collapsed, burying Taberer but not touching Schrieber.

Cause of the explosion was not immediately determined.

A fire followed the explosion and smoke covered a wide area of the Hudson river. Two firemen were injured fighting the flames and a nurse suffered a leg injury as she searched the debris for any other injured.

Forst Driver Is Unhurt As Firm Truck Upsets

John J. McAffrey of R. D. Kingston escaped apparent injury when the Forst Packing Company truck he was driving struck a sign post and overturned at the intersection of Route 23A and 9W in Catskill this morning, village police reported.

McAffrey, who said he would be examined by his own physician for injuries, told police he was driving on Route 23A when an unidentified passenger car pulled onto the highway from a gasoline station at the intersection. In applying his brakes to avoid a collision, the truck skidded on the wet pavement, struck a signpost on the service station drive and turned over on its right side, Catskill police said.

Parents of Slain Girl Ask $250,000 in Proposed Suit

New York, Aug. 5 (AP)—The parents of Eileen Fahey, slain by a war veteran last month, prepared today to sue the U. S. Army and the Veterans Administration for $250,000 for permitting her slayer to be at large.

The action was disclosed with the filing of a petition in Surrogate's Court asking that Francis A. and Josephine Fahey be appointed administrators of the girl's estate so they may file the suit.

The petition said the suit will be filed because the army and the V.A., "well knowing the mental condition of one Bayard P. Peakes, and well knowing him to be a dangerous lunatic, caused, allowed or permitted him to be released from their charge * * *, whereupon the aforsaid Peakes shot and killed the late Eileen Fahey."

Miss Fahey, 18, a pretty stenographer, was reading a letter from her sweetheart in Korea July 14 when Peakes entered her office and shot her to death. She was employed by the American Physical Society, which sponsors research in physics and electronics. Peakes was angry at the society because it had refused to take seriously his book "How to Live Forever."

Admitted Shooting

Police said he admitted the shooting, although he never had seen Miss Fahey before. He was indicted on a charge of first degree murder, pleaded innocent because of insanity and is undedgoing mental tests at Bellevue Hospital.

Attached to the petition was a statement made by Judge Saul S. Streit, when Peakes was arraigned on the indictment. The judge said Veterans Administration records "disclose that the killer was continuously insane for several years, * * * but permitted to be at large in utter disregard of the public safety."

Financial and Commercial

New York, Aug. 5 (AP)—Faltering railroads and scattered weakness throughout the list today weighed the stock market down moderately.

Losses came to around a point at the outside. Gains extended major fractions. At the same time a great amount of steadiness was imparted to the list by a group of leaders trading unchanged.

Business progressed at a sleepy pace. The rate of trading was less than yesterday's meager 950,000 shares.

Steels were unchanged to slightly lower. Automobiles held steady. There was little or nothing notable in the rest of the list.

Gold mines were higher. Dome Mines was more active than usual and up a fraction. Interest in the issue apparently came from prospects for added earning power in Dome from its gold mining subsidiaries.

Church Building Will Be Opened Sunday, Sept. 7

The official board of the Church of the Nazarene completed plans last night for the opening service Sunday, Sept. 7, in the new church building.

The old building suffered heavy damage when it virtually collapsed approximately a year ago. Much of the work of rebuilding was done by the Rev. Fred Fike, pastor, and members of the congregation.

The interior will be practically finished by September 7 and the exterior brick work will be completed soon after that, it was said. Return to the new structure, which is larger than the old church, will enable the congregation to resume its normal schedule of evangelistic services and worship.

It was pointed out that a dedication would be held in early 1953 when the building is completed in all its details and that a general superintendent of the denomination would be present.

Dr. O. J. Finch, district superintendent, will speak at the opening service September 7, with Leland Davis of Akron, O., organist and soloist, furnishing the music.

Boys Club Will Hold Outing on Thursday

The Kingston Boys Club will hold the second of its all-day outings at Ruby Thursday.

Members will meet in front of the club at 9 a. m. where transportation will be provided. They are expected to get back to the city about 4:30 or 5 p. m.

Nick Cosmos, director, will give swimming instruction to non-swimmers during the morning, it was said. Leaders Bill Thurin, Ray Van Buren, Don Van Buren and Bob Sember will supervise group games for the boys. This will be followed by a swimming period and fishing for those who are interested. A rest period after lunch will be followed by swimming, fishing and a short hike.

Haynes Resigns From St. Mark's; Plans Vacation

REV. D. L. HAYNES

The Rev. Dr. Daniel L. Haynes, pastor of St. Mark's AME Church, 12 Foxhall avenue, has resigned after almost five years of service in the parish, it was learned today.

Dr. Haynes said that he doesn't plan to take another charge immediately because he hasn't had a good rest in the last 15 years. He said that he would make further plans at the conclusion of his vacation.

A distinguished actor, Dr. Haynes left the stage and screen because he "felt that I could be of greater service in the ministry." He stated that he did not contemplate a return to the theatre but would definitely continue in the ministry.

Dr. Haynes said that he had also resigned from the New York Annual Conference of the AME Church. He is now a regularly ordained and qualified minister of the Central Hudson Missionary Baptist Association and a member of the Metropolitan Baptist Church of Albany.

Dr. Haynes starred several years ago as De Lawd in the Broadway production of Green Pastures. He also has the distinction of being the first person in history to give a representation of the Deity to English audiences. A one-hour transcription of Green Pastures was broadcast by the British Broadcasting Company in October, 1949.

He has a wide experience in theatre and motion pictures. In the original stage production of Green Pastures he played the roles of Adam and Hezdrel 1,862 times in five years, playing in every state in the union, in practically every important city in each state and in Canada and Mexico.

He played the leading role in the first all-Negro talking picture, Hallelujah, which was directed by King Vidor, famed for his Big Parade.

Other stage and screen productions in which Dr. Haynes appeared were So Red the Rose, Can This Be Dixie, Escape From Devil's Island, The Last Mile, White Sisters, Little Boy Blue, The Invisible Ray, Earth, The Bottom of the Cup, Androcles and the Lion and many others.

Since giving up the theater he has been pastor of churches in Brooklyn, Westbury, Huntington, Bay Shore and Olean.

He is a graduate of Morris Brown, Atlanta University, Chicago University, Turner Theological Seminary and College of the City of New York, earning the degrees of AB, MA and BT. He has also been awarded his DD degree.

Haynes has also traveled extensively in the United States, Canada and Mexico and has made personal appearances with his pictures through France, South America, England, Scotland and Wales. He studied with Max Rheinhardt of Germany and Flo Ziegfeld of New York.

Takes Turn for Worse

Los Angeles, Aug. 5 (AP)—Jack O'Leary, who doctors say has hiccuped longer than anyone in history, has taken a turn for the worse. The 26-year-old former market manager began to hiccup more than four years ago—on June 13, 1948—after his appendix ruptured. Since then the spasms have jolted him at the rate of once per second and he has dropped in weight from 135 to 78 pounds. His mother, Mrs. Margaret O'Leary, said the hiccups now have increased to 70 per minute. Jack is on a highly restricted diet and is able to retain food only 20 minutes. He is resting at his home, 4044 Garden avenue, Los Angeles.

New WSB Takes Over

Washington, Aug. 5 (AP)—A new Wage Stabilization Board officially took office today under the direction of Chairman Archibald Cox. U. S. Circuit Court Judge Charles Fahy administered the oath to nine members of the board. Five other members will take the oath later. The new board, all of whose members are subject to Senate confirmation, has no power to attempt to resolve nation-wide labor disputes.

Cashin Reserves Decision On New Trial for Kelly

County Judge John M. Cashin today reserved decision on an application for a new trial in the Edward H. Kelly first degree murder case.

Whitman Knapp, attorney for the defendant, moved for a new trial on the basis that new evidence can be produced. The new evidence, he contended, was a report on file with the defendant's medical records at Sing Sing Prison of the examination of Kelly by Dr. Bernard C. Glueck, Jr., a certified specialist in psychiatry and a supervising psychiatrist of the Department of Mental Hygiene, assigned to the prison.

The report, according to Knapp, contained a diagnosis of "probable involutional psychosis from which the inmate appears to have made a complete recovery."

Arguments Heard

Arguments on the motion were heard at special term of County Court today, having been adjourned from July 30 by consent. Knapp asked the court to call Dr. Glueck to the witness stand so that the court itself could determine whether the doctor's testimony was such as to warrant a new trial.

James J. Abernethy, assistant district attorney, argued for denial of the motion on the grounds that the new evidence claimed by Knapp did not meet the requirements to justify a new trial.

Abernethy contended Dr. Glueck's diagnosis apparently would be substantially the same as that of Dr. Joseph L. Cummings in the previous trial, and that it would not change the opinion of the jury.

Knapp's Contention

Knapp countered that Dr. Glueck's testimony, if available at the previous trial, "would have produced acquittal of the defendant." He noted that the district attorney produced no medical testimony to contradict that of Dr. Cummings, but made it appear that Dr. Cummings was a "paid, partial defense witness." He noted that Dr. Glueck, as a state official, would undoubtedly be considered as an impartial witness.

Other points, including Dr. Glueck's reluctance to sign an affidavit but reported willingness to testify, and the fact that the doctor's memorandum containing his diagnosis was not intended for court use, were also debated.

Judge Cashin reserved decision and adjourned court, holding the July Special Term open subject to call. Attorney Howard C. St. John, who is associated with Knapp in the defense, was in court with Knapp, and Former Assistant District Attorney Vincent G. Connelly was seated with Abernethy, but took no part in the verbal proceedings.

Buffalo League Assails Powell

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug 5 (AP)—The Buffalo Civil Rights League, Inc., an inter-racial group which claims 3,000 members, disagrees with Rep. Adam C. Powell's prediction that Negroes will not vote for the presidential candidate of either major party.

The directors of the group, at a special meeting yesterday, approved a resolution declaring that the New York Negro Democrat "is a leader but not a controller of the American Negro."

The resolution added in part:

Hikers Lost on Slide Mountain Found by Boys From Woodland

A party of seven people, including four children, vacationing at Fleischmanns, left on a hiking trip on Slide Mountain Monday morning, and became the object of a searching party before their appearance early Tuesday morning at the swinging bridge in Woodland Valley.

According to Corporad Ray Dunn of the New York State Police, the party left the Lakeside Farm in Fleischmanns about 10 o'clock Monday morning, carrying no food or water with them.

Included in the party were Edward Beller, 31, and his wife Ruth, 27, of 107 Elwood Place New York city; Mrs. Sally Wang, 57, of 740 Washington street, New York city, Susan Beller, 6, Linda Beller 2, Valerie Beller, 11, and Helen Heineman 8.

The Beller car was parked at Winnisook Lake and the party started climbing Slide Mountain. About 10 p. m. Monday, the owners of the Lakeside Farm became alarmed at the non-appearance of the party and notified the state police at Margaretville, who in turn notified Corporal Ray Dunn.

Search in Vain

A search party consisting of Corporal Dunn, Kenneth Herdman, caretaker at the Winnisook Mountain Club, and Frank Henkle of Shandaken, started up Slide Mountain about midnight but returned to the Beller car about two hours later without having found the missing persons.

Approximately 1:30 Tuesday morning Mrs. William Wrixon of Woodland Valley called the state police with the information that the missing persons had emerged from the woods near the swinging bridge in the vicinity of her home.

According to the Beller party they hiked over Slide Mountain, became confused and followed the wrong trail over to Cornell Mountain and finally met a party of boys from Camp Woodland, Phoenicia, who were hiking in the vicinity.

It was almost dark when the Beller party contacted the camp boys. Susan Beller had sustained a sprained ankle and the party were exhausted from lack of food and drink. The boys gave the Beller party food and drink, carried the children, and assisted the adults down the mountain to the Wrixon home, from where they were returned to Fleischmanns.

Average whole hams as sold in the butcher shop is 63 per cent lean meat, 24 per cent fat, 10 per cent bone, and 3 per cent skin.

Missouri Voters To Decide Race For U. S. Senator

St. Louis, Aug. 5 (AP)—Missouri voters had their say today after a bitter primary election campaign in which President Truman again took a part.

The state's No. 1 citizen openly endorsed only one candidate—Attorney General J. E. (Buck) Taylor for the Democratic nomination for U. S. senator. Truman planned to vote at his home town of Independence around 10 a. m. (EST), then return to Washington.

In a senatorial primary race in 1950 Truman came out for Emery W. Allison of Rolla, then a state senator. Allison was beaten by Thomas C. Mennings, Jr., of St. Louis, who went on to defeat Republican Sen. Forrest C. Donnell that November.

Opposed by Symington

Truman's choice this time was opposed by Stuart Symington of St. Louis, a one-time key man in the Truman administration.

That race, along with one for the Democratic nomination for governor, cracked the party into separate, feuding camps.

It pitted the well-known Pendergast organization of Kansas City, to which the President belongs, against a young north St. Louis faction headed by Sheriff Thomas F. Callanan.

Jim Pendergast, who now heads the group once led by his uncle, the late T. J. (Boss Tom) Pendergast, has endorsed Taylor in the Senate race and former Gov. Phil M. Donnelly in the gubernatorial battle.

Callanan has been working for Symington and Rep. Phil J. Welch of St. Joseph, Donnelly's opponent.

Morris Shenker, prominent defense attorney and lieutenant of Callanan, split with his friend and came out for Taylor, but went along in support of Welch.

Taylor campaigned on a "Fair Deal" platform and bitterly attacked Symington as a Democrat from the east.

Symington did not reply directly. He said such campaigning showed a bankruptcy of ideas. He urged business-like government and steps to insure that the nation would get a dollar's worth of defense for every dollar spent.

Claims Rush Is On for Uranium

Prince Albert, Saskatchewan, Aug. 5 (AP)—One of northern Canada's biggest rushes for mining claims was in full swing today, with uranium instead of the traditional gold as the lure.

Hundreds of prospectors scampered about Saskatchewan's northwest corner, staking claims to explore hundreds of square miles for the prime raw material of the atomic age.

More than 500 claims, each 1,500 feet by 1,500 feet, were expected to be marked off during the first two days. The staking started officially at 8 a. m. yesterday, but officials figured that some prospectors in remote corners of the bush probably got a head start.

The newly opened area covers a major part of the Beaverlodge field on the north shore of Lake Athabaska, reportedly one of the richest uranium-bearing finds on the continent.

The territory had been let on three-year concessions to some 30 large mining syndicates. Upon expiration of the concessions recently, the companies were allowed to stake claims to 10 per cent of their original tracts and the rest was opened to the public.

Newburgh Soldier Tells of Wound

With the 25th Division, Korea, Aug. 5 (AP)—When Corp. Raul M. Menzer of Newburgh, N. Y., turned up at a medical aid station for treatment of a shoulder wound no one believed his story.

Menzer admits the skepticism was understandable.

The corporal was standing in a frontline bunker when a Communist mortar shell exploded nearby. The concussion snapped a wire supporting a rifle rack.

One of the rifles dropped to the floor of the bunker and was discharged by the impact. The bullet struck an iron ceiling support, shattering the iron and sending a sliver hurtling into Menzer's shoulder.

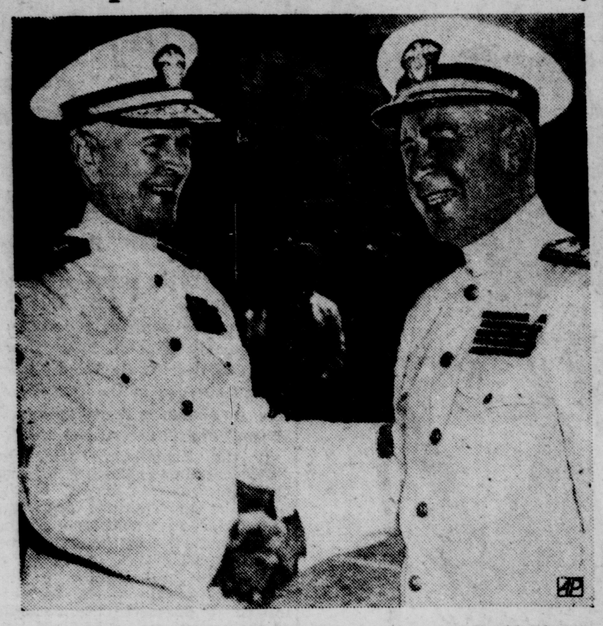

Cigar Ceilings Suspended

Washington, Aug. 5 (AP)—"What this country needs," said Vice President Thomas Riley Marshall, "is a good five-cent cigar." Ha! The Office of Price Stabilization yesterday suspended price ceilings on all cigars (but not cigarettes), effective at once. Reasons: Increased costs of labor and leaf tobacco, and below-level industry earnings. Vice President Marshall's five-cent cigar observation was a casual remark addressed to Chief Senate Clerk John Crockett back in the days of the Woodrow Wilson administration. Marshall died in 1925, but his views on the nickel cigar have been preserved in reference books.

Costello Move Taken

New York, Aug. 5 (AP)—Federal attorneys have moved to put gambler Frank Costello in jail on Friday. Costello, 61, is under sentence of 18 months in jail and $2,000 fine for contempt of the U. S. Senate. Defense Counsel George Wolf was reported to be seeking an order from a U. S. Supreme Court justice to stay commitment of Costello pending further appeal. Costello was convicted last April 4 for refusing to answer a number of questions before the Senate Crime Committee and for walking out on the committee twice.

A 15-gun salute fired as Hill's personal flag was lowered; another 15-shot salvo welcomed Joy. (AP Wirephoto)

Manufacturers Ask Federal Ruling

New York, Aug. 5 (AP)—A group of non-union manufacturers in the women's garment industry filed an anti-trust suit yesterday against an AFL union and three manufacturers' associations whose members have union contracts.

The suit was filed in federal court by the Independent Association of Women's Apparel Manufacturers, Inc.

The association charged that the defendants had entered a "giant conspiracy" to monopolize the cloak and suit industry's 600 million dollar a year business.

The newly-formed independent association's members are targets of a week-old "organizational strike" called by the Cloak Joint Board of the AFL International Ladies Garment Workers Union (ILGWU).

The union has been picketing non-union shops in the garment district here and other shops in upstate New York, New Jersey, Connecticut and Pennsylvania.

Shortly after the civil anti-trust suit was filed, Sol A. Rosenblatt, impartial chairman of the New York cloak and suit industry, made a move in behalf of the union and the unionized shops.

He ordered truckmen in the industry who have contracts with the unionized manufacturing concerns to "desist" from trucking for "firms not under contract with the ILGWU."

Workers Find Grounds Where Cranes Breed

Prince Albert, Sask., Aug. 5 (AP) Two United States field and wild life workers have reported discovery of the summer breeding ground of the almost-extinct whooping crane, a mystery that has baffled ornithologists for more than half a century.

They spotted two adult cranes in the marshes north of Great Slave Lake, one on July 11, one the next day.

The two scientists are Robert Henry Smith of Medford, Ore., and Everett L. Sutton of Aberdeen, S. D.

The significance of the discovery, Smith said yesterday, can be gauged by the fact that only a few specimens of this four-foot waterfowl remain on the North American continent. About 30 spend their winters on the Texas coast, 3,000 miles from where the birds breed.

The 17th century Leyden school taught anatomy so well that physicians as well as artists frequented it.

Rainfall Fails To Do Much Good

(By The Associated Press)

Light rain fell in parts of the nation's southern and eastern drouth areas today but it was mostly a case of too little and too late.

Parched Maine got the biggest break. Light rain dampened most of the state. Showers also sprinkled parts of drouth-singed Tennessee and Kentucky.

The drouth that began in mid-June already has destroyed more than a half billion dollars worth of pastures and corn, tobacco, cotton, and vegetable crops.

Farmers, faced with burnt-out lands, have dumped cattle on the markets by the thousands.

Inch in Nashville

Nearby an inch of rain fell in the Nashville, Tenn., area when a cold front moved in. The moisture was general over the middle portion of the state.

Western Tennessee remained dry with no prospect of immediate relief. Farmers there said rains now would be too late to do crops much good, anyway.

Professional rainmakers were ready to try their hand at bringing moisture to the drying tobacco and vegetable crops of Connecticut.

Stationed in the hills west of the Connecticut valley, they were prepared to fire rain-producing crystals into the sky. They were awaiting favorable conditions—the presence of moisture bearing clouds.

Price Violator Fined

Singapore (AP) — Beating the price ceilings in this British colony can be an expenisve business. The proprietor of a small cafe in a Singapore amusement park was fined $133 for charging 20 cents for a cup of coffee. The maximum controlled price for a cup of coffee is about one American dime.

Mother Sobs

Wringing her hands and sobbing, Mrs. Lillian Bradley, 35, stands before a magistrate in Philadelphia as she was held for a further hearing in connection with the death of her son, James, 5. Police Det. Sgt. Adam Sadorf said hospital authorities said the boy's body was covered with bruises, his throat bore finger marks and "rope burns" encircled his wrists. Sadorf quoted the mother as saying she had "disciplined" the child several days for misbehaving. (AP Wirephoto)

Search for Woman Goes Into 5th Day

Hamburg, N. J., Aug. 5 (AP)—The search for Mrs. Ann G. Meeker entered its fifth day with hope of finding her in the jungle-like Hamburg mountain area dwindling with each passing hour.

As search parties once again combed the tangled wilderness for a trace of the missing matron, two theories were advanced:

(1) Mrs. Meeker had met with foul play, or (2) she still was in the woods, perhaps too weak from hunger to cry out to rescurers.

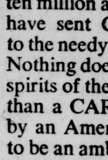

The 55-year-old woman has been missing since Friday when, pail in hand, she set out in quest of berries. She is the wife of Albert Ross Meeker, prominent Newark business executive.

As darkness fell last night, and 100 weary volunteers, troopers and firemen once again reported "no luck", State Police Lt. Joseph Wolf said the search would continue in daylight "until every possibility of her being in the woods is exhausted."

Meeker, president of A. R. Meeker & Co., mimeograph machine distributors, and his two sons, John and Albert Ross, Jr., took part in the search again yesterday. They also expressed belief Mrs. Meeker is in the woods and alive.

Praises Party's Planks

New York, Aug. 5 (AP)—Carmine G. The leader of the Manhattan Democratic organization made the claim in a statement last night. He was a delegate to the Democratic National Convention.

FISHING BUSINESS

Amateur fishing today is more than a relaxing sport. It's big business.

About one-sixth of the nation's population fish. More than sixteen million fishing licenses are sold each year; in 1951 over $35,000,000 was paid to various governmental agencies for the privilege of fishing. Another nine million people are lucky enough to be able to fish without licenses.

This figure is insignificant compared with the billion dollar valuation placed on the fishing business by Dr. R. W. Eschmeyer, executive vice president of the Sport Fishing Institute.

If it seems incredible just think of all the luring equipment offered on the market for the devoted angler. More than 100 different varieties of tackle are available and the businessman unable to attract a bite is likely to try all of them. Rods are offered, each more attractive and efficient than the last. A large assortment of clothing will protect him from the elements. He'll probably want food containers, thermos bottles, ice bottles, maybe portable barbecue pits. He may also want a tent or sleeping bag. Then there are boats, outboard motors and hundreds of other items guaranteed to make him a well-equipped if not a successful fisherman.

Fishing has definitely become big business. It is ironical that all this money is spent by people seeking to duplicate the pure contentment of a freckle-faced kid sitting against a mossy tree with a can of worms at his side and a homemade rod in his hands. Not all the money in the world will buy his contentment, nor can all the equipment produce his thrill when he finally managed to hook a twelve-inch trout.

THE MORE THINGS CHANGE

Nothing really changes. Wars come and go. Political parties and dictatorships rise, fall and pass into oblivion. But the peasants and burghers are always with us. The land is always there and must be tilled. The metals, the machines, the great need of the people for products of industry are always there. Only names and generations are different.

So we read that the Junkers Air Craft Manufacturing plants are opening again after a post-war shutdown of seven years. Building aircraft is still forbidden. The factories can produce only machine tools—for future aircraft building—until the anti-aircraft building regulations are repealed.

Junkers has made machines for peace and war for generations. The war crimes commission investigates and passes judgment, but the need for things made by these factories is still there. Now another enemy rises in the east. New allies and foes are forming new battle lines. Perhaps the Junkers factories are needed.

A new luft-waffe is in the making as soon as the anti-airplane-making laws are repealed. This is expected within a year, according to latest news releases. Americans wonder what other parts of the former German war machine will be reactivated by that time.

The French say: "The more things change, the more they remain the same."

DEMOCRATIC GOVERNMENT

"Government," said the French novelist, Honore de Balzac, "is a man in his shirt-sleeves, reading a newspaper." By that he had in mind not only a certain leisureliness sometimes in government employes, but also the fact that government is not something divorced from the average man, but is the average man himself.

Our much criticized congressmen are lawyers, doctors, business men, farmers and members of labor unions. They are typical of their constituents, and sometimes are superior to those who send them to Congress.

The bitter exchange of notes between the Soviet and the Swedish governments over the shooting down of unarmed Swedish planes is beginning to make clear to Russia that while a porcupine does not throw quills it is a mistake to swat one with the bare hand.

THE McCARRAN REPORT

Also lost in the hurly-burly of the two conventions was the report of the McCarran Committee on its investigation into the Institute of Pacific Relations. This is one of the most important state papers issued this year and its contents will undoubtedly lead to changes in the management of the huge foundations left by rich men for human betterment and often used carelessly for the support of subversive organizations.

The McCarran Committee has already published eight volumes of hearings and there are more to come. The evidence leads the committee to the conclusion that the Institute of Pacific Relations, through "a small core of officials and staff members" sought to "popularize false information, including information originating from Soviet and Communist sources."

Such organizations are usually supported by wealthy persons and foundations. They set up a front of "good names" behind which the paid officials work. This is not only true of the Institute of Pacific Relations but of most public organizations. The hired help become so powerful that they operate on their own. They usually find a sucker with a "good name" whom they flatter and whom they publicize until he believes what they say about him. The McCarran Committee says of such:

"IPR activities were made possible largely through the financial support of American industrialists, corporations, and foundations, the majority of whom were not familiar with the inner workings of the organization.

The question here is one of responsibility. A person may say that he did not know what was going on, and often when his attention is called to his fronting for a gang of subversives, he shouts, "hindsight!" Yet for more than a decade, Alfred Kohlberg has been calling to the attention of the responsible men of the Institute what was being done to them. He was not only ignored; he was pilloried. The report of the McCarran Committee establishes beyond doubt the truth of Alfred Kohlberg's charges.

Concerning Owen Lattimore, the conclusions of the committee are:

"Owen Lattimore was, from some time beginning in the 1930's, a conscious articulate instrument of the Soviet conspiracy. . . .

"Owen Lattimore testified falsely before the subcommittee with reference to at least five separate matters that were relevant to the inquiry and substantial in import. . . .

"Owen Lattimore and John Carter Vincent were influential in bringing about a change in United States policy in 1945 favorable to the Chinese Communists."

In fact, the committee recommends:

"That the Department of Justice submit to a grand jury the question of whether perjury has been committed before the subcommittee by Owen Lattimore."

The McCarran Committee further concluded that

"Over a period of years, John Carter Vincent was the principal fulcrum of IPR pressures and influence in the State Department.

"It was the continued practice of IPR to seek to place in government posts both persons associated with IPR and other persons selected by the effective leadership of IPR.

"The IPR possessed close organic relations with the State Department through interchange of personnel, attendance of State Department officials at IPR conferences, constant exchange of information and social contacts."

The testimony adduced that it was the object of the hired help of the IPR to promote the interests of Soviet Russia in the United States.

"During the period 1945-49, persons associated with the Institute of Pacific Relations were instrumental in keeping United States policy on a course favorable to Communist objectives in China.

The committee recommends:

"That consideration be given to investigation by some appropriate agency of the following:

"Possible Communist infiltration into and influence upon the Treasury Department and other agencies forming and administering fiscal and monetary policies and affairs of the United States;

"The role of Alger Hiss in foreign affairs and the formulation of foreign policy of the United States and his influence on personnel decisions in the State Department; . . .

"The extent to which contributions by American charitable, scientific, and educational foundations have aided Communist or pro-Communist activity in the United States."

This committee was hampered, as are all congressional committees, by the opposition of President Truman who refused to place at its disposal data in his possession which was and is essential to its work.

That Body of Yours

DIAGNOSING LIVER DISEASE

Most of us are so interested in, or concerned about, the heart that we practically ignore the liver. It is true that as far as life itself is concerned, the heart is our most important organ, but from the standpoint of general health it has been well said that life depends on the liver. As compared with the heart (just a muscle pump), the liver is a very busy organ. It stores sugar, filters the blood, manufactures bile, which bile is nature's purgative, and produces a substance for the formation of the blood. If the liver fails in any of these jobs, then the individual, even with a strong heart and muscular body, does not enjoy good health.

There are various methods of testing the condition of the liver, one of which is using a dye by mouth or injection into a vein and then finding how long it takes the liver to clear this dye out of the blood. This is called liver function test, the physicians feeling that if the liver does this job well, it is doing its other jobs well also.

However, there is one method of examining the liver and getting a knowledge of the actual condition of the liver cells. It is called the biopsy test. Biopsy is cutting out a small piece of an organ and examining its cells under a microscope. One method of obtaining a piece of the organ is by use of a certain type of needle which "punches out" enough of the cells for examination.

In California Medicine, San Francisco, Drs. W. E. Molle and L. Kaplan report 401 needle biopsies of the liver of 312 patients and state that needle biopsy provides information that cannot be readily obtained with any other method. The chief reasons for use of needle biopsy are to determine the cause of liver enlargement (liver enlargement often occurs with a failing heart), to find the cause of jaundice, to distinguish between malignant (cancer) disease and cirrhosis (hardening of the liver), to determine when hepatitis (liver inflammation) has subsided and to estimate the value or effect of treatment given.

"At times systemic disease that has not been recognized by other means may be diagnosed by needle biopsy." Thus when examination of liver was made after death, it was found that the correct diagnosis was made by biopsy in 85 per cent of cases.

Unfortunately, there are some cases where needle biopsy cannot be made safely, but in the majority of cases this simple method of learning the condition of the liver is available to the physician.

Innocent Bystander

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—It is probably no accident that the planners in the Kremlin have chosen the most hectic of all American election summers to do some of their ugliest nose-thumbing.

Election years in the U. S. A. are always watched most carefully by those in Europe who have something ominous to put across.

It was no accident, for instance, that Mussolini, Hitler, and Japan ganged up in the fall of 1936—an election year—to start unofficial submarine warfare in the Mediterranean while Japan was pushing farther into China. Roosevelt called a conference in Brussels to try to stop the Japs, but worried politicians, including Cordell Hull, finally induced him to pull his punches.

It was also no accident that Hitler picked the election summer of 1940 to drive into France and try to take England. He knew that American isolationists would do their best to tie Roosevelt's hand.

And had it not been for Roosevelt's courage in bucking the tide in Congress and sending arms to England, a Nazi government might have ruled the British Isles.

Kremlin's Moves

Likewise, it is probably no accident that the Kremlin is making some of its most telltale moves this summer—at a time when the American public is thinking about the heat, summer vacations, and who will be the next president of the United States. Here are some of the moves spurred on by Moscow at this time:

1. Reported test of the first Russian hydrogen bomb. If this is true, then the Soviet is ahead of us in developing the H-bomb. Bruno Pentecorvo, who escaped behind the Iron Curtain, is reported to be the scientist who developed it. Of course, these reports could be another part of the war of nerves. But if true, a hydrogen bomb in Russian hands will seriously upset the balance of military and diplomatic power in Europe. For nations like to be on the side of the nation with the greatest power, and so far our atomic power has been overwhelming.

Possibility that Iran will go Communist. Iranian riots and the demand that the American arms mission pack up and leave is no accident. Of course, incredible State Department and British stupidity have played right into Russian hands. But Communist agents, who now swarm all over Iran, are rapidly bringing about a situation where the Shah will have to abdicate, and Iran will fall into Red hands like a ripe plum.

When that time comes, Communist influence is bound to march down through neighboring oil-rich Iraq, to oil-rich Arabia, to strategic Egypt and the Suez Canal. Thus, the Soviet by working around Greece and Turkey, may circumvent the billions of American money sent into Greece and Turkey under the Truman doctrine to block off Russia from the Mediterranean.

Frenzied Soviet Rearming of East Germany. This was spurred on partly by our pushing of a West European army. It is also why thousands of German refugees are fleeing into West Germany. They want to escape conscription into the Red army. But this rush by Russia to build up an East German army has brought great consternation to other Germans regarding the most important, farsighted project Europe has seen since 1870—the unity of French and German troops under one flag.

Luck and Stupidity

On top of these, are some other factors attributable more to bad luck or American stupidity than to Soviet astuteness. While the men in the Kremlin can't take credit for them, they certainly are benefiting from them. Here they are:

The Economic Illness of Great Britain. This goes hand-in-hand with the split in the Labor Party and the increasing strength of the cut-loose-from-America group.

What's happened in England is exactly what's been happening in the United States. England now has an Isolationist Party. It's somewhat camparable to the Isolationists led by Senator Taft and Colonel McCormick, except that, being labor leaders, they don't belong to the same economic strata. Nevertheless, they urge with increasing vigor and increasing popularity that England can't pay for heavy rearmament and must go it alone.

While this might save us a lot of money, it would also wipe out our air bases in Britain and pull the props out from under our goal of European unity against communism.

The Wabbly Situation in France. What most people don't realize is that American subsidies, both under the Marshall Plan and later under the North Atlantic Pact, long have kept middle-of-the-road leaders of France in power.

We have long benefited from a loose alliance between the Catholic leaders of the middle, the non-Communist leaders of labor, and small businessmen of the middle. The chief factors keeping them together are fear of communism plus the fact that the French government could balance its budget through subsidies from the United States. While these have not been large compared to the total French budget, they represented the margin that kept the middle parties in power.

Today Congress has drastically cut this margin, and France may be torn between the Communist left and the Fascist right of anti-American General de Gaulle. This comes at a time when the Kremlin is pushing its propaganda harder than ever and when we appear to be within gunshot of attaining the great goal of a European army.

All these things also come at a time when the American public is bored stiff with world problems and when it was difficult to squeeze a line of European news into the paper during the Chicago conventions, even with a crowbar.

Nevertheless, this undoubtedly is why the Kremlin has stiffened its truce talks in Korea, why inflammatory posters have been tacked up in Moscow showing American planes shot down by the Reds, and why the Moscow radio has stepped up its hate-America program to a new pitch.

In brief, we are pretty sure to face more trouble abroad this summer and fall—regardless of politics, the heat, and our own desire to be let alone.

Reorganization Due in Whatever Party Loses the Election Next Fall

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Aug. 5 — Whichever way the election goes, there'll be a major crisis in the losing party.

For, if the Democrats win, there will be loud cries from the conservative wing of the Republican party that it might have won and that no Republican party can succeed in the future unless it abandons both "progressivism" and "internationalism."

If the Republicans win, the Democrats in the south will insist that the "liberal-radicals" of the north be subordinated and that the conservative sentiment of the party centering in the south and in a considerable number of Democratic organizations in the big cities of the north be permitted to dominate the councils of the party.

There's always talk of a "realignment" of parties when there's a split in both parties, and in recent years such a proposed solution has received much attention. But "realignment" will not take place for the simple reason that it is easier to accomplish the same objective within the framework of the two existing parties.

The two political parties may be likened to two big office buildings—the tenants may move from time to time and different persons may occupy the offices but the two buildings remain just as sturdy.

The chief reason why reorganization from within is the logical method is that state laws are so rigid that it's hard to get the name of a new party on the ballot and at the same time extinguish the old name, especially since in state and county elections the old name has the same appeal as before.

So the chances are that the names Democratic and Republican will continue for many years to come, but the forces within those parties will change. As a matter of fact, it isn't a difficult matter for a faction to capture the machinery of a political party and change it from conservative to radical or from radical to conservative. The New Deal took possession of the Democratic party through the distribution of public offices when President Roosevelt came into power in 1933. It has been said that this is easy when a leader wins an election, but the party machinery has been captured again and again by nominees who were not successful in winning the presidency.

Back in 1928, after the defeat of Governor Smith, the friends of Franklin D. Roosevelt started out systematically to capture the party machinery, and they had possession of it by 1932. Also in 1928, when President Coolidge decided not to run, the friends of Herbert Hoover moved in and brushed aside the conservative "old guard" and captured the party machinery. Governor Dewey in 1944 and 1948—and to some extent in 1952—had an organization which continuously dominated the party machinery.

As long as it is possible for determined leaders with a moderate amount of financial support to take over a political party, there isn't any real necessity for "realignment" or third parties.

The 1952 election will be a test of theories for the Republicans. If Eisenhower's forces lose, the Republican party will not exactly become "isolationist," but it will tend more toward the Hoover-Taft view on both domestic and international affairs.

In the Democratic party, if Stevenson loses, the south will become the nucleus of an aggressive movement to rid the party of New Dealism and Fair Dealism and labor control as well as of excessive enthusiasm for federal enforcement of penalties against discrimination in employment. The battle between the northern "liberal-radicals" and the southerners will keep the party split wide open, and it will not be simple for either wing of the party to gain control without resolving the ideological issues that are looming large inside the Democratic party.

Thus, the "liberal-radicals" spend much of their time "pooh-poohing" the anti-subversive revelations by Congressional committees while anti-communism is a deep-seated prejudice inside the big city organizations, especially where there happen to be large groups of Catholic voters. The opposition of the Catholic church to communism is one of the reasons why the "pooh-poohing" of anti-communism isn't getting far in the north even though "liberal-radicals" spend more of their time denouncing the exposers of communism than they do in chastising the exposed and convicted Communists, most of whom come from the ranks of the "liberal-radicals."

Much will depend on what Governor Stevenson does with the issue. If he takes the "soft" side of the argument and loses the election the Democratic leaders on the opposite side will not fail to demand that the Democratic party clean house. One sees the day after election as likely to provide almost as much speculation as to what will happen to the losing party as it may provide about the prospective behavior of the winning party.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Chicago, Aug. 4—Indro Montanelli, of the Evening Courier (Corriere Della Sera) of Milan, Italy, attended a grand reception in New Delhi, India, for Eleanor the Great by the Pandit Nehru and wrote a sensitive account which I am able to present in part, thanks to a colleague living in Italy who writes in a covering note: "I enjoyed this article and the work of translation was a labor of love."

Mr. Montanelli's article says:

"Learning of my presence in town, Pandit Nehru, invited me to the party in the garden of his residence, in honor of Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, welcome guest of India. The residence was once that of the British commander-in-chief. Sixty thousand were not many to keep in line 400 million people. The English here knew how to manage. For them, the empire must serve to make money, not to spend it. Not for nothing was this empire sanctioned by a Venetian Jew, Disraeli, who alas, is one of those great men of whom England today is a little ashamed, for which reason there is no longer an empire.

"The prime minister, with his wife and daughter and sister, was at the door to receive the guests, standing next to the Great Widow, who has not yet resigned herself to being merely that. He wore the national costume, a dress coat with the closed collar of a schoolboy, very close fitting at shoulders and hips, over pajamas, and on his head that type of ice cream vendor's beret called a Gandhi cap.

"The great widow, grown a bit fat, wore a violet costume and towered a whole head above the Pandit. The son of a maharajah, my friend, told me of the skirmish between Nehru and the widow who had at first refused his palatial hospitality. She wanted to go and live in the midst of the 'poor people' in a village 'somewhere in the country,' among the untouchables. It would cost a load of money to construct such a village even with only mud huts to give a realistic touch, then to pay a hundred decent fammilies to play the part of 'poor people.' Already it had cost a load to keep Gandhi in poverty.

"We were waiting on the lawn to be presented. In the rear, a military band, in the picturesque uniforms of the British colonial battalions, was playing a Scottish march on the fifes. It was a very beautiful march, pastoral and warlike that seemed to come from the distant past.

"Kipling might have set the words of one of his ballads to it.

"In front of us two others were waiting, new elected representatives, one from the Punjab, the other from Haiderabad. They were exchanging impressions, in English, of course, the only language common to all Indians, the others being dialects. In English, Indian independence is proclaimed; the constitution is published. English is spoken in parliament. In English, newspapers are published, continually speaking ill of England.

"'He seems to be in bad humor,' said one. The other replied, 'seems so to me, too.'

"Nehru indeed was gloomier than usual, nervously smoking one cigarette after another in his filtered holder, his shoulders stooped, his under lip protruding beyond the upper. He was answering in monosyllables, looking up and giving brief, frigid smiles at Mrs. Roosevelt, whose mouth seemed always laughing. Who ever knows at what?

"The two in front of us tried to hide behind the couple ahead to escape the angry glance of Nehru because India is a democracy in which the representatives do not have a right to a sense of humor different from its bard and prime minister, who, among well-bred people, is described as 'slightly emotional.'

"I kept my eyes open to see how one acts when presented to a king and queen of democracy. I discovered that it is just the same as when one is presented to a real king and queen. You take the proffered hand and bend over it, without daring to look the august person in the eye even if such a one has declared a wish to live in the midst of the poor in a village in the country, while a master of ceremonies reads, in a loud voice, your identification from the invitation.

"'Mr. Per Nielsson, from Denmark.' Nehru shook the hand without looking at the owner. Mrs. Eleanor extended her hand with a little polite 'oh,' between surprise and pleasure but reserved; very reserved.

"'Mr. Olof Sparre, from Norway.' Nehru shook the hand without looking at him. Mrs. Eleanor did not say, 'oh' but "ooh!' Norway is a poorer country than Denmark and needs sympathy.

"'Mr. Jacob Derevyanski, from the Soviet Union!'

"This time, Nehru was on the job. He grasped the hand of the

Nothing really changes. Wars come and go. Political parties and dictatorships rise, fall and pass into oblivion. But the peasants and burghers are always with us. The land is always there and must be tilled. The metals, the machines, the great need of the people for products of industry are always there. Only names and generations are different.

So we read that the Junkers Air Craft Manufacturing plants are opening again after a post-war shutdown of seven years. Building aircraft is still forbidden. The factories can produce only machine tools—for future aircraft building—until the anti-aircraft building regulations are repealed.

Junkers has made machines for peace and war for generations. The war crimes commission investigates and passes judgment, but the need for things made by these factories is still there. Now another enemy rises in the east. New allies and foes are forming new battle lines. Perhaps the Junkers factories are needed.

A new luft-waffe is in the making as soon as the anti-airplane-making laws are repealed. This is expected within a year, according to latest news releases. Americans wonder what other parts of the former German war machine will be reactivated by that time.

The French say: "The more things change, the more they remain the same."

DEMOCRATIC GOVERNMENT

"Government," said the French novelist, Honore de Balzac, "is a man in his shirt-sleeves, reading a newspaper." By that he had in mind not only a certain leisureliness sometimes in government employes, but also the fact that government is not something divorced from the average man, but is the average man himself.

Our much criticized congressmen are lawyers, doctors, business men, farmers and members of labor unions. They are typical of their constituents, and sometimes are superior to those who send them to Congress.

The bitter exchange of notes between the Soviet and the Swedish governments over the shooting down of unarmed Swedish planes is beginning to make clear to Russia that while a porcupine does not throw quills it is a mistake to swat one with the bare hand.

THE McCARRAN REPORT

Also lost in the hurly-burly of the two conventions was the report of the McCarran Committee on its investigation into the Institute of Pacific Relations. This is one of the most important state papers issued this year and its contents will undoubtedly lead to changes in the management of the huge foundations left by rich men for human betterment and often used carelessly for the support of subversive organizations.

The McCarran Committee has already published eight volumes of hearings and there are more to come. The evidence leads the committee to the conclusion that the Institute of Pacific Relations, through "a small core of officials and staff members" sought to "popularize false information, including information originating from Soviet and Communist sources."

Such organizations are usually supported by wealthy persons and foundations. They set up a front of "good names" behind which the paid officials work. This is not only true of the Institute of Pacific Relations but of most public organizations. The hired help become so powerful that they operate on their own. They usually find a sucker with a "good name" whom they flatter and whom they publicize until he believes what they say about him. The McCarran Committee says of such:

"IPR activities were made possible largely through the financial support of American industrialists, corporations, and foundations, the majority of whom were not familiar with the inner workings of the organization.

The question here is one of responsibility. A person may say that he did not know what was going on, and often when his attention is called to his fronting for a gang of subversives, he shouts, "hindsight!" Yet for more than a decade, Alfred Kohlberg has been calling to the attention of the responsible men of the Institute what was being done to them. He was not only ignored; he was pilloried. The report of the McCarran Committee establishes beyond doubt the truth of Alfred Kohlberg's charges.

Concerning Owen Lattimore, the conclusions of the committee are:

"Owen Lattimore was, from some time beginning in the 1930's, a conscious articulate instrument of the Soviet conspiracy. . . .

"Owen Lattimore testified falsely before the subcommittee with reference to at least five separate matters that were relevant to the inquiry and substantial in import. . . .

"Owen Lattimore and John Carter Vincent were influential in bringing about a change in United States policy in 1945 favorable to the Chinese Communists."

In fact, the committee recommends:

"That the Department of Justice submit to a grand jury the question of whether perjury has been committed before the subcommittee by Owen Lattimore."

The McCarran Committee further concluded that

"Over a period of years, John Carter Vincent was the principal fulcrum of IPR pressures and influence in the State Department.

"It was the continued practice of IPR to seek to place in goverrment posts both persons associated with IPR and other persons selected by the effective leadership of IPR.

"The IPR possessed close organic relations with the State Department through interchange of personnel, attendance of State Department officials at IPR conferences, constant exchange of information and social contacts."

The testimony adduced that it was the object of the hired help of the IPR to promote the interests of Soviet Russia in the United States.

"During the period 1945-49, persons associated with the Institute of Pacific Relations were instrumental in keeping United States policy on a course favorable to Communist objectives in China.

The committee recommends:

"That consideration be given to investigation by some appropriate agency of the following:

"Possible Communist infiltration into and influence upon the Treasury Department and other agencies forming and administering fiscal and monetary policies and affairs of the United States;

"The role of Alger Hiss in foreign affairs and the formulation of foreign policy of the United States and his influence on personnel decisions in the State Department; . . .

"The extent to which contributions by American charitable, scientific, and educational foundations have aided Communist or pro-Communist activity in the United States."

This committee was hampered, as are all congressional committees, by the opposition of President Truman who refused to place at its disposal data in his possession which was and is essential to its work.

That Body of Yours

DIAGNOSING LIVER DISEASE

Most of us are so interested in, or concerned about, the heart that we practically ignore the liver. It is true that as far as life itself is concerned, the heart is our most important organ, but from the standpoint of general health it has been well said that life depends on the liver. As compared with the heart (just a muscle pump), the liver is a very busy organ. It stores sugar, filters the blood, manufactures bile, which bile is nature's purgative, and produces a substance for the formation of the blood. If the liver fails in any of these jobs, then the individual, even with a strong heart and muscular body, does not enjoy good health.

There are various methods of testing the condition of the liver, one of which is using a dye by mouth or injection into a vein and then finding how long it takes the liver to clear this dye out of the blood. This is called liver function test, the physicians feeling that if the liver does this job well, it is doing its other jobs well also.

However, there is one method of examining the liver and getting a knowledge of the actual condition of the liver cells. It is called the biopsy test. Biopsy is cutting out a small piece of an organ and examining its cells under a microscope. One method of obtaining a piece of the organ is by use of a certain type of needle which "punches out" enough of the cells for examination.

In California Medicine, San Francisco, Drs. W. E. Molle and L. Kaplan report 401 needle biopsies of the liver of 312 patients and state that needle biopsy provides information that cannot be readily obtained with any other method. The chief reasons for use of needle biopsy are to determine the cause of liver enlargement (liver enlargement often occurs with a failing heart), to find the cause of jaundice, to distinguish between malignant (cancer) disease and cirrhosis (hardening of the liver), to determine when hepatitis (liver inflammation) has subsided and to estimate the value or effect of treatment given.

"At times systemic disease that has not been recognized by other means may be diagnosed by needle biopsy." Thus when examination of liver was made after death, it was found that the correct diagnosis was made by biopsy in 85 per cent of cases.

Unfortunately, there are some cases where needle biopsy cannot be made safely, but in the majority of cases this simple method of learning the condition of the liver is available to the physician.

Innocent Bystander

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—It is probably no accident that the planners in the Kremlin have chosen the most hectic of all American election summers to do some of their ugliest nose-thumbing.

Election years in the U. S. A. are always watched most carefully by those in Europe who have something ominous to put across.

It was no accident, for instance, that Mussolini, Hitler, and Japan ganged up in the fall of 1936—an election year—to start unofficial submarine warfare in the Mediterranean while Japan was pushing farther into China. Roosevelt called a conference in Brussels to try to stop the Japs, but worried politicians, including Cordell Hull, finally induced him to pull his punches.

It was also no accident that Hitler picked the election summer of 1940 to drive into France and try to take England. He knew that American isolationists would do their best to tie Roosevelt's hand.

And had it not been for Roosevelt's courage in bucking the tide in Congress and sending arms to England, a Nazi government might have ruled the British Isles.

Kremlin's Moves

Likewise, it is probably no accident that the Kremlin is making some of its most telltale moves this summer—at a time when the American public is thinking about the heat, summer vacations, and who will be the next president of the United States. Here are some of the moves spurred on by Moscow at this time:

1. Reported test of the first Russian hydrogen bomb. If this is true, then the Soviet is ahead of us in developing the H-bomb. Bruno Pentecorvo, who escaped behind the Iron Curtain, is reported to be the scientist who developed it. Of course, these reports could be another part of the war of nerves. But if true, a hydrogen bomb in Russian hands will seriously upset the balance of military and diplomatic power in Europe. For nations like to be on the side of the nation with the greatest power, and so far our atomic power has been overwhelming.

Possibility that Iran will go Communist. Iranian riots and the demand that the American arms mission pack up and leave is no accident. Of course, incredible State Department and British stupidity have played right into Russian hands. But Communist agents, who now swarm all over Iran, are rapidly bringing about a situation where the Shah will have to abdicate, and Iran will fall into Red hands like a ripe plum.

When that time comes, Communist influence is bound to march down through neighboring oil-rich Iraq, to oil-rich Arabia, to strategic Egypt and the Suez Canal. Thus, the Soviet by working around Greece and Turkey, may circumvent the billions of American money sent into Greece and Turkey under the Truman doctrine to block off Russia from the Mediterranean.

Frenzied Soviet Rearming of East Germany. This was spurred on partly by our pushing of a West European army. It is also why thousands of German refugees are fleeing into West Germany. They want to escape conscription into the Red army. But this rush by Russia to build up an East German army has brought great consternation to other Germans regarding the most important, farsighted project Europe has seen since 1870—the unity of French and German troops under one flag.

Luck and Stupidity

On top of these, are some other factors attributable more to bad luck or American stupidity than to Soviet astuteness. While the men in the Kremlin can't take credit for them, they certainly are benefiting from them. Here they are:

The Economic Illness of Great Britain. This goes hand-in-hand with the split in the Labor Party and the increasing strength of the cut-loose-from-America group.

What's happened in England is exactly what's been happening in the United States. England now has an Isolationist Party. It's somewhat camparable to the Isolationists led by Senator Taft and Colonel McCormick, except that, being labor leaders, they don't belong to the same economic strata. Nevertheless, they urge with increasing vigor and increasing popularity that England can't pay for heavy rearmament and must go it alone.

While this might save us a lot of money, it would also wipe out our air bases in Britain and pull the props out from under our goal of European unity against communism.

The Wabbly Situation in France. What most people don't realize is that American subsidies, both under the Marshall Plan and later under the North Atlantic Pact, long have kept middle-of-the-road leaders of France in power.

We have long benefited from a loose alliance between the Catholic leaders of the middle, the non-Communist leaders of labor, and small businessmen of the middle. The chief factors keeping them together are fear of communism plus the fact that the French government could balance its budget through subsidies from the United States. While these have not been large compared to the total French budget, they represented the margin that kept the middle parties in power.

Today Congress has drastically cut this margin, and France may be torn between the Communist left and the Fascist right of anti-American General de Gaulle. This comes at a time when the Kremlin is pushing its propaganda harder than ever and when we appear to be within gunshot of attaining the great goal of a European army.

All these things also come at a time when the American public is bored stiff with world problems and when it was difficult to squeeze a line of European news into the paper during the Chicago conventions, even with a crowbar.

Nevertheless, this undoubtedly is why the Kremlin has stiffened its truce talks in Korea, why inflammatory posters have been tacked up in Moscow showing American planes shot down by the Reds, and why the Moscow radio has stepped up its hate-America program to a new pitch.

In brief, we are pretty sure to face more trouble abroad this summer and fall—regardless of politics, the heat, and our own desire to be let alone.

Today in Washington

Reorganization Due in Whatever Party Loses the Election Next Fall

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Aug. 5 — Whichever way the election goes, there'll be a major crisis in the losing party.

For, if the Democrats win, there will be loud cries from the conservative wing of the Republican party that it might have won and that no Republican party can succeed in the future unless it abandons both "progressivism" and "internationalism."

If the Republicans win, the Democrats in the south will insist that the "liberal-radicals" of the north be subordinated and that the conservative sentiment of the party centering in the south and in a considerable number of Democratic organizations in the big cities of the north be permitted to dominate the councils of the party.

There's always talk of a "realignment" of parties when there's a split in both parties, and in recent years such a proposed solution has received much attention. But "realignment" will not take place for the simple reason that it is easier to accomplish the same objective within the framework of the two existing parties.

The two political parties may be likened to two big office buildings—the tenants may move from time to time and different persons may occupy the offices but the two buildings remain just as sturdy.

The chief reason why reorganization from within is the logical method is that state laws are so rigid that it's hard to get the name of a new party on the ballot and at the same time extinguish the old name, especially since in state and county elections the old name has the same appeal as before.

So the chances are that the names Democratic and Republican will continue for many years to come, but the forces within those parties will change. As a matter of fact, it isn't a difficult matter for a faction to capture the machinery of a political party and change it from conservative to radical or from radical to conservative. The New Deal took possession of the Democratic party through the distribution of public offices when President Roosevelt came into power in 1933. It has been said that this is easy when a leader wins an election, but the party machinery has been captured again and again by nominees who were not successful in winning the presidency.

Back in 1928, after the defeat of Governor Smith, the friends of Franklin D. Roosevelt started out systematically to capture the party machinery, and they had possession of it by 1932. Also in 1928, when President Coolidge decided not to run, the friends of Herbert Hoover moved in and brushed aside the conservative "old guard" and captured the party machinery. Governor Dewey in 1944 and 1948—and to some extent in 1952—had an organization which continuously dominated the party machinery.

As long as it is possible for determined leaders with a moderate amount of financial support to take over a political party, there isn't any real necessity for "realignment" or third parties.

The 1952 election will be a test of theories for the Republicans. If Eisenhower's forces lose, the Republican party will not exactly become "isolationist," but it will tend more toward the Hoover-Taft view on both domestic and international affairs.

In the Democratic party, if Stevenson loses, the south will become the nucleus of an aggressive movement to rid the party of New Dealism and Fair Dealism and labor control as well as of excessive enthusiasm for federal enforcement of penalties against discrimination in employment. The battle between the northern "liberal-radicals" and the southerners will keep the party split wide open, and it will not be simple for either wing of the party to gain control without resolving the ideological issues that are looming large inside the Democratic party.

Thus, the "liberal-radicals" spend much of their time "pooh-poohing" the anti-subversive revelations by Congressional committees while anti-communism is a deep-seated prejudice inside the big city organizations, especially where there happen to be large groups of Catholic voters. The opposition of the Catholic church to communism is one of the reasons why the "pooh-poohing" of anti-communism isn't getting far in the north even though "liberal-radicals" spend more of their time denouncing the exposers of communism than they do in chastising the exposed and convicted Communists, most of whom come from the ranks of the "liberal-radicals."

Much will depend on what Governor Stevenson does with the issue. If he takes the "soft" side of the argument and loses the election the Democratic leaders on the opposite side will not fail to demand that the Democratic party clean house. One sees the day after election as likely to provide almost as much speculation as to what will happen to the losing party as it may provide about the prospective behavior of the winning party.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Chicago, Aug. 4—Indro Montanelli, of the Evening Courier (Corriere Della Sera) of Milan, Italy, attended a grand reception in New Delhi, India, for Eleanor the Great by the Pandit Nehru and wrote a sensitive account which I am able to present in part, thanks to a colleague living in Italy who writes in a covering note: "I enjoyed this article and the work of translation was a labor of love."

Mr. Montanelli's article says:

"Learning of my presence in town, Pandit Nehru, invited me to the party in the garden of his residence, in honor of Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, welcome guest of India. The residence was once that of the British commander-in-chief. Sixty thousand were not many to keep in line 400 million people. The English here knew how to manage. For them, the empire must serve to make money, not to spend it. Not for nothing was this empire sanctioned by a Venetian Jew, Disraeli, who alas, is one of those great men of whom England today is a little ashamed, for which reason there is no longer an empire.

"The prime minister, with his wife and daughter and sister, was at the door to receive the guests, standing next to the Great Widow, who has not yet resigned herself to being merely that. He wore the national costume, a dress coat with the closed collar of a schoolboy, very close fitting at shoulders and hips, over pajamas, and on his head that type of ice cream vendor's beret called a Gandhi cap.

"The great widow, grown a bit fat, wore a violet costume and towered a whole head above the Pandit. The son of a maharajah, my friend, told me of the skirmish between Nehru and the widow who had at first refused his palatial hospitality. She wanted to go and live in the midst of the 'poor people' in a village 'somewhere in the country,' among the untouchables. It would cost a load of money to construct such a village even with only mud huts to give a realistic touch, then to pay a hundred decent fammilies to play the part of 'poor people.' Already it had cost a load to keep Gandhi in poverty.

"We were waiting on the lawn to be presented. In the rear, a military band, in the picturesque uniforms of the British colonial battalions, was playing a Scottish march on the fifes. It was a very beautiful march, pastoral and warlike that seemed to come from the distant past.

"Kipling might have set the words of one of his ballads to it.

"In front of us two others were waiting, new elected representatives, one from the Punjab, the other from Haiderabad. They were exchanging impressions, in English, of course, the only language common to all Indians, the others being dialects. In English, Indian independence is proclaimed; the constitution is published. English is spoken in parliament. In English, newspapers are published, continually speaking ill of England.

"'He seems to be in bad humor,' said one. The other replied, 'seems so to me, too.'

"Nehru indeed was gloomier than usual, nervously smoking one cigarette after another in his filtered holder, his shoulders stooped, his under lip protruding beyond the upper. He was answering in monosyllables, looking up and giving brief, frigid smiles at Mrs. Roosevelt, whose mouth seemed always laughing. Who ever knows at what?

"The two in front of us tried to hide behind the couple ahead to escape the angry glance of Nehru because India is a democracy in which the representatives do not have a right to a sense of humor different from its bard and prime minister, who, among well-bred people, is described as 'slightly emotional.'

"I kept my eyes open to see how one acts when presented to a king and queen of democracy. I discovered that it is just the same as when one is presented to a real king and queen. You take the proffered hand and bend over it, without daring to look the august person in the eye even if such a one has declared a wish to live in the midst of the poor in a village in the country, while a master of ceremonies reads, in a loud voice, your identification from the invitation.

"'Mr. Per Nielsson, from Denmark.' Nehru shook the hand without looking at the owner. Mrs. Eleanor extended her hand with a little polite 'oh,' between surprise and pleasure but reserved; very reserved.

"'Mr. Olof Sparre, from Norway.' Nehru shook the hand without looking at him. Mrs. Eleanor did not say, 'oh' but "ooh!' Norway is a poorer country than Denmark and needs sympathy.

"'Mr. Jacob Derevyanski, from the Soviet Union!'

Oil Firm President Wounds Self Fatally

New York, Aug. 5 (AP)—Benjamin Mekay, 55, president of the Stuyvesant Fuel and Oil Company, 337 East 8th street, Manhattan, fatally wounded himself yesterday with a pistol while sitting in his automobile, police said.

Police listed death as apparent suicide.

Police said Mekay, who lived at 73-19 197th street, Flushing, Queens, telephoned to his son-in-law, Harold Rosenman, at the fuel company's offices to say "goodbye" and ask him to "take care of Mamma and the family."

Rosenman said his father-in-law was crying as he said goodbye. Mekay told Rosenman he was at 11th street and Avenue C.

Rosenman drove there and found Mekay in the back seat, bleeding, moaning and clutching a .38-calibre pistol, for which he had a permit.

Mekay was taken to Bellevue Hospital where he died a few minutes later.

Police said the family told them Mekay had been worrying about his health for the last two years and that he had been at the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn., recently. The family told police that Mekay believed he was suffering from cancer.

Oil Firm President Wounds Self Fatally

New York, Aug. 5 (AP)—Benjamin Mekay, 55, president of the Stuyvesant Fuel and Oil Company, 337 East 8th street, Manhattan, fatally wounded himself yesterday with a pistol while sitting in his automobile, police said.

Police listed death as apparent suicide.

Police said Mekay, who lived at 73-19 197th street, Flushing, Queens, telephoned to his son-in-law, Harold Rosenman, at the fuel company's offices to say "goodbye" and ask him to "take care of Mamma and the family."

Rosenman said his father-in-law was crying as he said goodbye. Mekay told Rosenman he was at 11th street and Avenue C.

Rosenman drove there and found Mekay in the back seat, bleeding, moaning and clutching a .38-calibre pistol, for which he had a permit.

Mekay was taken to Bellevue Hospital where he died a few minutes later.

Police said the family told them Mekay had been worrying about his health for the last two years and that he had been at the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn., recently. The family told police that Mekay believed he was suffering from cancer.

Gas Industry Spending

New York, (AP)—Despite pipe and materials shortages, the natural gas industry spent a record $1,461,599,999 for new facilities in 1951. This, say the American Gas Association, exceeded the previous peak established in 1950 by 22 per cent. The association said the nation's gas distribution and pipeline industry expects to spend $5,699,000,000 during the next 4½ years for construction of new facilities and plant expansion.

Glamor Gals Invade Italy

Rome, (AP)—Glamor girls from many nations are invading the Italian motion picture industry. Foreign film players find little difficulty in getting screen work, since there are few labor restrictions in the Italian film industry. Knowledge of the Italian language is not important in making films here since the final sound track is dubbed in by Italian-speaking actors. Because the United States recently amended its income tax laws, which no longer requires citizens living abroad for 18 months or more to file income tax statements, American film players have more take-home pay by working for less money in Italy.

Little Gardens Club Discuss Mount Vernon

The Little Gardens Club of Kingston met on Friday at the summer home of Mrs. Frederick Snyder in Lake Katrine. Mrs. Etta Wolven was co-hostess. A paper entitled The Woman Who Saved Mount Vernon, was prepared and read by Mrs. William Taylor.

In her interesting account, Mrs. Taylor described Miss Pamela Cunningham of South Carolina as the person who organized the restoration movement for George Washington's home. It was due to "the frail Southern woman's efforts that this most famous of national shrines has been saved for posterity," Mrs. Taylor said.

At the last meeting of the Mount Vernon Association over which Miss Cunningham presided, Mrs. Taylor quoted her as having remarked, "let no irreverent hands change it, let no vandal hands desecrate it with the fingers of progress."

Instructions for starting a B. D. Compost were given by Mrs. William McNamee. Refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Concert Features Anton Rovinsky

ANTON ROVINSKY

Woodstock, August 4—An artist who has won the enthusiastic acclaim of the New York music critics, Anton Rovinsky, pianist, will be the featured soloist at the second Concert Dardenne, Saturday, Aug. 9, at the Wittenberg studio of Victor H. Dardenne, beginning at 4 p. m. He will be heard in a group of solo works and also in violin and piano sonatas with Mr. Dardenne, violinist.

A brilliant prodigy at the age of eight, Rovinsky deliberately forsook the over-facile laurels of childish success for the grave apprenticeship of the great masters living and dead. Favoring a wide latitude both in interpretation and in repertoire, his programs range from Bach to Stravinsky.

Critics have lauded him as a "new and interesting figure in the concert field." Olin Downes, of the New York Times rates him as "one of the best pianists," while Philip Hale, of the Boston Herald says that he has "exquisite tone, strength, dash and fire." Recently Sigmund Spaeth, Ph.D., author, critic and lecturer, wrote: "I consider him the find of this year's pianists. He is the finest interpreter of the moderns and the coming pianist of America."

Rovinsky was born and brought up in New York. He studied as a child with Rafael Jaseffy, making a tour of Canada at the age of ten, later touring abroad for five years. He was also a pupil of Carl Friedberg and Artur Schnabel in Berlin, and Isadore Philipp in Paris. He has appeared as a soloist with symphony orchestras in Berlin, Dresden, Paris, Hamburg, and Vienna, and in numerous recitals and concerts in Europe.

During Saturday afternoon's concert Rovinsky will play the following solos: Ballade in D minor, Brahms; Romances No. 1-2, Shuman; Fantisie Aufschwung, Shuman; Ballade A flat major, Chopin; Etude in C sharp minor Schiabin; Sonatine, Ravel; Little Suite, Anton Rovinsky; Fete a Seville, Albenitz. Rovinsky and Dardenne will also play Sonatine, E major by Jean Sibelus and Sonate D major by Beethoven.

The Dardenne concert studio is located on the Yankee-town Pond Road. Visitors coming from Woodstock are directed to go through Bearsville, and after crossing the bridge to take the left fork to Wittenberg store. Bear left one mile to the Dardenne residence, where there is a large parking area.

The final concert of the series will be held Saturday, August 23.

Colorful Costume Party Is Enjoyed

Woodstock, Aug. 5—One of the summer season's most colorful events, the annual costume party given each year by Wilma Hervey and Nan Mason at their Bearsville home, was held Monday night with the leading artists, musicians and craftsmen of this village present.

The big event of the evening was the auction of the composite painting for the benefit of the Woodstock Boy Scouts. The artists who participated were Marion Greenwood, Sidney Laufman, Pat Collins, Edward Millman, Fritz Werner, Marianne Mecklem, John Pike, Alphonse Bare, Murray Hoffman, Ruth Raymond, David Fairbanks, Lucille Blanch, Dave Huffine, John Striebel and Rollin Crampton. The painting was purchased at auction by Mrs. Pat Collins.

In the old Woodstock tradition, guests arrived in costume, with adults and children participating in a parade around the grounds to music provided by John Pike, Ronnie Lock, Jerry Walters, Clementine Nessel and Peter Pike. Several vocal numbers were contributed by Allen Waterous. The canvas for the painting was donated by Wilna Hervey and Nan Mason and the paints by Mrs. Sidney Berkowitz.

Others who contributed to the evening's fun were David Fairbanks, who played the ukelele, J. Petersen, trumpet, and Allyn Doyle and Mrs. Stephen Elliott, Louise and Brock Brokenshaw, who presented a group of dance numbers. The master of ceremonies for the evening was portrait painter, Norbert Heermann.

Among the costumes, which elicited considerable comment was the Inverness cape, long absent from Woodstock gatherings, purchased last Thursday by Brock Brokenshaw at the Library Fair. The dramatic coat-cape had been owned in the past years by the founder of the Maverick, the late Hervey White.

Aly Plans Visit

New York, Aug. 5 (AP)—Prince Aly Kahn says he plans to see his estranged wife, film star Rita Hayworth, and their daughter, Yasmin, some time during his three-week visit in this country. But the Moslem prince, who arrived yesterday on the liner Queen Elizabeth, declined to say whether he hopes to effect a reconciliation with his wife. Aly said the matter was "a personal question." He told newsmen that he and Miss Hayworth have had frequent talks by transatlantic telephone. Aly said he would go to Saratoga, N. Y., for the sale on Aug. 13 of 20 yearling horses owned by his father, the Aga Khan.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

Miss Addie Andersoñ of 47 Merilina avenue, has brought me a little book called "The Beginnings of New York—Kingston the First State Capital" by Mary Isabella Forsyth of Kingston. It was printed in 1909 by Richard G. Badger of the Gorham Press, Boston. In her chapter of "Old Kingston, the first State Capital" she writes in part: "When the Half Moon on its memorable voyage of discovery passed up what was called Hudson's river, it came in view of other mountains which lay from the river's side." There were found very loving people and very old men, by whom the new comers were cordially welcomed and supplied with Indian corn, pumpkins, and tobacco." She thinks this may have been the Rondout creek entrance to the now Kingston.

It has always seemed strange to me, that Indians were so powerful and strong and lived such wholesome outdoor life yet died out so quickly when the white man came here. Mention is made of "very old men." Which shows that they were able to outlive many of the illnesses man is heir to. Was it their simple food without artificial coloring, and synthetic this and that added? Today vitamins are taken out and other vitamins are put in, in pill form. Indians did not do that.

Quoting partially from her book, pages 44 and on: "The Dutch language continued to be in use in many families until the middle of the last century. Even now it is familiar to some of the generation fast passing away. "Of course that was back in 1909. She also writes: "The ancient baptismal record of the Old Dutch Church gives the name of Jan Roosevelt, an ancestor of Ex-President Roosevelt."

Every little book of this kind has captured some little incident otherwise lost for coming generations. Miss Forsyth did not give names and dates too often as she writes: "Perhaps it was due to the strong influence of the old church—the only one in Kingston for about a century and a half— that the people of the town maintained friendly personal relations, even while of very different social standing. The owner of the first carriage in Kingston, (name not given) sent it all about the village on Sunday mornings to bring to church the aged and infirm, the result being, sometimes, that she herself would arrive after the appointed hour. But this was of little consequence, as the Dominie (name not given) awaited her arrival to begin the service!"

According to Miss Forsyth's version, there must be valuable books in English, Dutch, French and Latin in private libraries locally that have come down from generation to generation. She even felt that the old secretaries must contain interesting letters written to Esopus by friends and kindred at Albany, N. Y. the headquarters of George Washington and from beyond seas. As the inns were not thought worthy to provide for the comforts of distinguished guests, they were usually entertained at the homes of leading families. So no doubt interesting correspondence began. I never thought of that.

Princess in Paris

Paris, Aug. 5 (AP)—Princess Ashraf of Iran says she left troubled Tehran to bring her son to a Swiss hospital for treatment and will return to the Iranian capital in the fall. The princess, who arrived here last night, said reports that her twin brother, Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi, had sent her away because of the tense political situation in Iran were "certainly not true." The princess said she hoped to go later to the United States for a visit with her two sisters in Los Angeles.

Swiss Steak Made Easy

Swiss steak is easy to make: Pound a slice of round steak with seasoned flour and brown in hot fat, then cook slowly in tomato juice with a little onion and garlic added for extra flavor.

Colorfast articles should be washed separately so that no lint from light fabrics will cling to them.

Household Hint

If olive oil is added to the water when washing flannels, there will be no danger of those articles becoming hard. Use a tablespoonful of oil to every gallon of water.

Sweeten baked apples with maple-flavored syrup and serve with a topping of whipped cream for an extra-special family dessert.

Little Gardens Club Discuss Mount Vernon

The Little Gardens Club of Kingston met on Friday at the summer home of Mrs. Frederick Snyder in Lake Katrine. Mrs. Etta Wolven was co-hostess. A paper entitled The Woman Who Saved Mount Vernon, was prepared and read by Mrs. William Taylor.

In her interesting account, Mrs. Taylor described Miss Pamela Cunningham of South Carolina as the person who organized the restoration movement for George Washington's home. It was due to "the frail Southern woman's efforts that this most famous of national shrines has been saved for posterity," Mrs. Taylor said.

At the last meeting of the Mount Vernon Association over which Miss Cunningham presided, Mrs. Taylor quoted her as having remarked, "let no irreverent hands change it, let no vandal hands desecrate it with the fingers of progress."

Instructions for starting a B. D. Compost were given by Mrs. William McNamee. Refreshments were served by the hostesses.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

Concert Features Anton Rovinsky

ANTON ROVINSKY

Woodstock, August 4—An artist who has won the enthusiastic acclaim of the New York music critics, Anton Rovinsky, pianist, will be the featured soloist at the second Concert Dardenne, Saturday, Aug. 9, at the Wittenberg studio of Victor H. Dardenne, beginning at 4 p. m. He will be heard in a group of solo works and also in violin and piano sonatas with Mr. Dardenne, violinist.

A brilliant prodigy at the age of eight, Rovinsky deliberately forsook the over-facile laurels of childish success for the grave apprenticeship of the great masters living and dead. Favoring a wide latitude both in interpretation and in repertoire, his programs range from Bach to Stravinsky.

Critics have lauded him as a "new and interesting figure in the concert field." Olin Downes, of the New York Times rates him as "one of the best pianists," while Philip Hale, of the Boston Herald says that he has "exquisite tone, strength, dash and fire." Recently Sigmund Spaeth, Ph.D., author, critic and lecturer, wrote: "I consider him the find of this year's pianists. He is the finest interpreter of the moderns and the coming pianist of America."

Rovinsky was born and brought up in New York. He studied as a child with Rafael Jaseffy, making a tour of Canada at the age of ten, later touring abroad for five years. He was also a pupil of Carl Friedberg and Artur Schnabel in Berlin, and Isadore Philipp in Paris. He has appeared as a soloist with symphony orchestras in Berlin, Dresden, Paris, Hamburg, and Vienna, and in numerous recitals and concerts in Europe.

During Saturday afternoon's concert Rovinsky will play the following solos: Ballade in D minor, Brahms; Romances No. 1-2, Shuman; Fantisie Aufschwung, Shuman; Ballade A flat major, Chopin; Etude in C sharp minor Schiabin; Sonatine, Ravel; Little Suite, Anton Rovinsky; Fete a Seville, Albenitz. Rovinsky and Dardenne will also play Sonatine, E major by Jean Sibelus and Sonate D major by Beethoven.

The Dardenne concert studio is located on the Yankee-town Pond Road. Visitors coming from Woodstock are directed to go through Bearsville, and after crossing the bridge to take the left fork to Wittenberg store. Bear left one mile to the Dardenne residence, where there is a large parking area.

The final concert of the series will be held Saturday, August 23.

Check Your Range

Make sure your kitchen range is level; if it's not the foods cooked in your oven won't brown as evenly as they should. A carpenter's level will check the range for you.

If you are renovating your old furniture, avoid painting in damp weather. It causes the wood to swell.

Colorful Costume Party Is Enjoyed

Woodstock, Aug. 5—One of the summer season's most colorful events, the annual costume party given each year by Wilma Hervey and Nan Mason at their Bearsville home, was held Monday night with the leading artists, musicians and craftsmen of this village present.

The big event of the evening was the auction of the composite painting for the benefit of the Woodstock Boy Scouts. The artists who participated were Marion Greenwood, Sidney Laufman, Pat Collins, Edward Millman, Fritz Werner, Marianne Mecklem, John Pike, Alphonse Bare, Murray Hoffman, Ruth Raymond, David Fairbanks, Lucille Blanch, Dave Huffine, John Striebel and Rollin Crampton. The painting was purchased at auction by Mrs. Pat Collins.

In the old Woodstock tradition, guests arrived in costume, with adults and children participating in a parade around the grounds to music provided by John Pike, Ronnie Lock, Jerry Walters, Clementine Nessel and Peter Pike. Several vocal numbers were contributed by Allen Waterous. The canvas for the painting was donated by Wilna Hervey and Nan Mason and the paints by Mrs. Sidney Berkowitz.

Others who contributed to the evening's fun were David Fairbanks, who played the ukelele, J. Petersen, trumpet, and Allyn Doyle and Mrs. Stephen Elliott, Louise and Brock Brokenshaw, who presented a group of dance numbers. The master of ceremonies for the evening was portrait painter, Norbert Heermann.

Among the costumes, which elicited considerable comment was the Inverness cape, long absent from Woodstock gatherings, purchased last Thursday by Brock Brokenshaw at the Library Fair. The dramatic coat-cape had been owned in the past years by the founder of the Maverick, the late Hervey White.

Aly Plans Visit

New York, Aug. 5 (AP)—Prince Aly Kahn says he plans to see his estranged wife, film star Rita Hayworth, and their daughter, Yasmin, some time during his three-week visit in this country. But the Moslem prince, who arrived yesterday on the liner Queen Elizabeth, declined to say whether he hopes to effect a reconciliation with his wife. Aly said the matter was "a personal question." He told newsmen that he and Miss Hayworth have had frequent talks by transatlantic telephone. Aly said he would go to Saratoga, N. Y., for the sale on Aug. 13 of 20 yearling horses owned by his father, the Aga Khan.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

Miss Addie Anderson of 47 Merilina avenue, has brought me a little book called "The Beginnings of New York—Kingston the First State Capital" by Mary Isabella Forsyth of Kingston. It was printed in 1909 by Richard G. Badger of the Gorham Press, Boston. In her chapter of "Old Kingston, the first State Capital" she writes in part: "When the Half Moon on its memorable voyage of discovery passed up what was called Hudson's river, it came in view of other mountains which lay from the river's side." There were found very loving people and very old men, by whom the new comers were cordially welcomed and supplied with Indian corn, pumpkins, and tobacco." She thinks this may have been the Rondout creek entrance to the now Kingston.

It has always seemed strange to me, that Indians were so powerful and strong and lived such wholesome outdoor life yet died out so quickly when the white man came here. Mention is made of "very old men." Which shows that they were able to outlive many of the illnesses man is heir to. Was it their simple food without artificial coloring, and synthetic this and that added? Today vitamins are taken out and other vitamins are put in, in pill form. Indians did not do that.

Quoting partially from her book, pages 44 and on: "The Dutch language continued to be in use in many families until the middle of the last century. Even now it is familiar to some of the generation fast passing away. "Of course that was back in 1909. She also writes: "The ancient baptismal record of the Old Dutch Church gives the name of Jan Roosevelt, an ancestor of Ex-President Roosevelt."

Every little book of this kind has captured some little incident otherwise lost for coming generations. Miss Forsyth did not give names and dates too often as she writes: "Perhaps it was due to the strong influence of the old church—the only one in Kingston for about a century and a half— that the people of the town maintained friendly personal relations, even while of very different social standing. The owner of the first carriage in Kingston, (name not given) sent it all about the village on Sunday mornings to bring to church the aged and infirm, the result being, sometimes, that she herself would arrive after the appointed hour. But this was of little consequence, as the Dominie (name not given) awaited her arrival to begin the service!"

According to Miss Forsyth's version, there must be valuable books in English, Dutch, French and Latin in private libraries locally that have come down from generation to generation. She even felt that the old secretaries must contain interesting letters written to Esopus by friends and kindred at Albany, N. Y. the headquarters of George Washington and from beyond seas. As the inns were not thought worthy to provide for the comforts of distinguished guests, they were usually entertained at the homes of leading families. So no doubt interesting correspondence began. I never thought of that.

Princess in Paris

Paris, Aug. 5 (AP)—Princess Ashraf of Iran says she left troubled Tehran to bring her son to a Swiss hospital for treatment and will return to the Iranian capital in the fall. The princess, who arrived here last night, said reports that her twin brother, Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi, had sent her away because of the tense political situation in Iran were "certainly not true." The princess said she hoped to go later to the United States for a visit with her two sisters in Los Angeles.

Swiss Steak Made Easy

Swiss steak is easy to make: Pound a slice of round steak with seasoned flour and brown in hot fat, then cook slowly in tomato juice with a little onion and garlic added for extra flavor.

Colorfast articles should be washed separately so that no lint from light fabrics will cling to them.

Household Hint

If olive oil is added to the water when washing flannels, there will be no danger of those articles becoming hard. Use a tablespoonful of oil to every gallon of water.

Sweeten baked apples with maple-flavored syrup and serve with a topping of whipped cream for an extra-special family dessert.

MISS JONES TELEPHONES

A reader asks: "Should an unmarried woman—even an older one—announce herself as, 'This is Miss Mary Jones,' when she telephones a neighbor whom she knows slightly or to someone much younger when these are not strictly business situations?"

To a woman—a social acquaintance of her own age—she would say, "This is Mary Jones." To a man she would say this is "Miss Mary Jones." The same to a younger person or business acquaintance. But to someone much younger she would call herself "Miss Jones," unless there are many Misses Jones.

Don't Lend

Dear Mrs. Post: Hardly a day goes by that my next-door neighbor doesn't come over and ask to borrow something. One day it is a cup of sugar, another day it's the lawnmower, etc. I didn't mind at first but this habit is becoming very annoying, and I would like to know what I can do about it without being rude?

Answer: I have to acknowledge this is the only answer: Say I'm very sorry but, because I have lent a few things to you, everyone else wants to borrow.

Lazy Susan

Dear Mrs. Post: I have just been given a Lazy Susan for a present and, never having owned one, I would like to know when and how it is correctly used?

Answer: You put dishes of food around its rim — which is then easily turned by everyone at the table so as to bring the items on it close to their plates—thus taking the place of a butler or waitress.

To Wear or Not to Wear Gloves

Dear Mrs. Post: As presiding officer shall I wear gloves at our meetings? And shall I wear gloves to receive members and their guests?

Answer: Presiding — no. When receiving, if it is to be a really formal occasion—yes. But if you would like the occasion to be informal and friendly then no.

What does the well-dressed woman wear for business? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. However, her leaflet E-35, "The Well-Dressed Woman," will answer your question. Inn's Diners Enjoy Lobster Pie

BAKED INDIAN MEAL PUDDING made with yellow corn meal is served in Sturbridge, Mass., topped with thick cream or ice cream.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Sturbridge, Mass.—Eager for lobster pie, we stopped here at the Publick House, just off U. S. Route 20. On the edge of an elm-lined New England common, the Publick House was started in 1770 by Ebenezer Croft, a Yale graduate who intended to be a clergyman but ended as a tavern keeper.

However, its present fame is due to a youthful Dartmouth graduate, father of four, wartime major in the U. S. Marine Corps, and oldest son of L. G. Treadway, dean of New England's innkeepers.

To the best of New England food, Dick Treadway has added an international accent. Menus with caviar omelet and sour cream, frogs legs sauteed in Chablis and broiled, whole baby Rock Cornish game hen with wild rice have progressed far beyond simpler Yankee fare.

But New England is in there pitching, too, with its fried Cape scallops; freshly opened lobster salad bowl; broiled, live Maine lobster, and baked Indian meal pudding a la mode.

Individual Lobster Pie, Treadway Style

Two tablespoons butter, 1 cup well-packed lobster meat, ¼ cup sherry or ¼ cup water with 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 3 tablespoons butter, 1 tablespoon flour, ¾ cup thin cream, 2 egg yolks.

Note: Publick House chef does not use flour, but as sauce takes both practice and skill to make, the flour is recommended to the new home maker.

Melt 2 tablespoons butter. Add sherry. Boil 1 minute. Add lobster and let stand.

Melt 3 tablespoons butter. Add flour. Stir until it bubbles 1 minute. Remove from heat. Slowly stir in cream and wine drained from lobster. Return to heat and cook, stirring all the time until the sauce is smooth and thick. Remove from heat.

Beat egg yolks very well. Stir into yolks 4 tablespoons of sauce, 1 tablespoon at a time. Add to sauce, mixing well.

Heat over hot water either by placing the saucepan with mixture in it in a larger saucepan, 1/3 full of hot water—or heat in top of double boiler. Water should not be allowed to get hot enough to boil. If it does sauce may curdle or break. Sauce should be stirred constantly while heating. It takes about 3 minutes.

Remove from heat. Add lobster. Turn into small, deep pie plate. Sprinkle with topping. Bake in slow oven 300 degrees F. for 10 minutes.

Topping

One-quarter cup cracker meal, ¼ teaspoon paprika, 1 tablespoon finely crushed potato chips, 1½ teaspoons Parmesan cheese, 2 tablespoons melted butter.

Mix first four ingredients. Add melted butter and blend well. Sprinkle on lobster pie. Serves 2.

Publick House Potato and Watercress Soup
(6 servings)

Peel and slice 4 or 5 medium potatoes and one medium onion. Place in a heavy-bottomed pot with a little bacon fat or oil and a cup of water. Salt and pepper. Cook for 15 minutes without browning.

Add 4 cups of chicken or veal stock and the stems of one bunch of watercress. Cook until potatoes are mushy.

Rub puree through a sieve, thin to desired consistensy with light cream. Heat, correct seasoning and serve garnished with the leaves of watercress.

Baked Indian Meal Pudding is a rich dessert, made of yellow corn meal, milk, sugar, New Orleans molasses, butter and spices, served hot with thick cream or a scoop of vanilla ice cream on top.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Sliced peaches, ready-to-eat cereal, crisp bacon, enriched rolls, butter or margarine, blackberry jam, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON—Potato and watercress soup, crackers, cold roast beef sandwich, potato chips, pickles, fruit cup topped with lime sherbet, tea milk.

Baruch Would Check On Inflation Views

New York, Aug. 5 (AP)—Financier Bernard Baruch wants to see which presidential candidate "has the greater wisdom and fortitude to beat inflation" before he decides whom to back.

But the adviser to presidents in two world wars adds that the ability to halt inflation is possessed by both Republican presican presidential candidate Dwight D. Eisenhower and Democratic nominee Adlai E. Stevenson.

"Words alone won't do it," Baruch says. "It will take fortitude."

Baruch spoke with newsmen yesterday upon his arrival here aboard the liner Queen Elizabeth. He returned from a two-month visit in Europe.

Long an advocate of tight economic controls, Baruch said inflation, if not beaten, "will destroy any economic of foreign policy me make."

Proper Way to Cook Rice

When you steam rice in a small amount of water bring quickly to a boil then cover and turn heat very low; don't remove the cover or stir the rice while it is cooking. Leftover rice may be used in muffin or pancake batter, in stuffings for poultry, or mixed with fruit and whipped cream for desserts.

MISS JONES TELEPHONES

A reader asks: "Should an unmarried woman—even an older one—announce herself as, 'This is Miss Mary Jones,' when she telephones a neighbor whom she knows slightly or to someone much younger when these are not strictly business situations?"

To a woman—a social acquaintance of her own age—she would say, "This is Mary Jones." To a man she would say this is "Miss Mary Jones." The same to a younger person or business acquaintance. But to someone much younger she would call herself "Miss Jones," unless there are many Misses Jones.

Don't Lend

Dear Mrs. Post: Hardly a day goes by that my next-door neighbor doesn't come over and ask to borrow something. One day it is a cup of sugar, another day it's the lawnmower, etc. I didn't mind at first but this habit is becoming very annoying, and I would like to know what I can do about it without being rude?

Answer: I have to acknowledge this is the only answer: Say I'm very sorry but, because I have lent a few things to you, everyone else wants to borrow.

Lazy Susan

Dear Mrs. Post: I have just been given a Lazy Susan for a present and, never having owned one, I would like to know when and how it is correctly used?

Answer: You put dishes of food around its rim — which is then easily turned by everyone at the table so as to bring the items on it close to their plates—thus taking the place of a butler or waitress.

To Wear or Not to Wear Gloves

Dear Mrs. Post: As presiding officer shall I wear gloves at our meetings? And shall I wear gloves to receive members and their guests?

Answer: Presiding — no. When receiving, if it is to be a really formal occasion—yes. But if you would like the occasion to be informal and friendly then no.

What does the well-dressed woman wear for business? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. However, her leaflet E-35, "The Well-Dressed Woman," will answer your question. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to her, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

EAT WELL for Less

Inn's Diners Enjoy Lobster Pie

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Sturbridge, Mass.—Eager for lobster pie, we stopped here at the Publick House, just off U. S. Route 20. On the edge of an elm-lined New England common, the Publick House was started in 1770 by Ebenezer Croft, a Yale graduate who intended to be a clergyman but ended as a tavern keeper.

However, its present fame is due to a youthful Dartmouth graduate, father of four, wartime major in the U. S. Marine Corps, and oldest son of L. G. Treadway, dean of New England's innkeepers.

To the best of New England food, Dick Treadway has added an international accent. Menus with caviar omelet and sour cream, frogs legs sauteed in Chablis and broiled, whole baby Rock Cornish game hen with wild rice have progressed far beyond simpler Yankee fare.

But New England is in there pitching, too, with its fried Cape scallops; freshly opened lobster salad bowl; broiled, live Maine lobster, and baked Indian meal pudding a la mode.

Individual Lobster Pie, Treadway Style

Two tablespoons butter, 1 cup well-packed lobster meat, ¼ cup sherry or ¼ cup water with 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 3 tablespoons butter, 1 tablespoon flour, ¾ cup thin cream, 2 egg yolks.

Note: Publick House chef does not use flour, but as sauce takes both practice and skill to make, the flour is recommended to the new home maker.

Melt 2 tablespoons butter. Add sherry. Boil 1 minute. Add lobster and let stand.

Melt 3 tablespoons butter. Add flour. Stir until it bubbles 1 minute. Remove from heat. Slowly stir in cream and wine drained from lobster. Return to heat and cook, stirring all the time until the sauce is smooth and thick. Remove from heat.

Beat egg yolks very well. Stir into yolks 4 tablespoons of sauce, 1 tablespoon at a time. Add to sauce, mixing well.

Heat over hot water either by placing the saucepan with mixture in it in a larger saucepan, 1/3 full of hot water—or heat in top of double boiler. Water should not be allowed to get hot enough to boil. If it does sauce may curdle or break. Sauce should be stirred constantly while heating. It takes about 3 minutes.

Remove from heat. Add lobster. Turn into small, deep pie plate. Sprinkle with topping. Bake in slow oven 300 degrees F. for 10 minutes.

Topping

One-quarter cup cracker meal, ¼ teaspoon paprika, 1 tablespoon finely crushed potato chips, 1½ teaspoons Parmesan cheese, 2 tablespoons melted butter.

Mix first four ingredients. Add melted butter and blend well. Sprinkle on lobster pie. Serves 2.

(6 servings)

Peel and slice 4 or 5 medium potatoes and one medium onion. Place in a heavy-bottomed pot with a little bacon fat or oil and a cup of water. Salt and pepper. Cook for 15 minutes without browning.

Add 4 cups of chicken or veal stock and the stems of one bunch of watercress. Cook until potatoes are mushy.

Rub puree through a sieve, thin to desired consistensy with light cream. Heat, correct seasoning and serve garnished with the leaves of watercress.

Baked Indian Meal Pudding is a rich dessert, made of yellow corn meal, milk, sugar, New Orleans molasses, butter and spices, served hot with thick cream or a scoop of vanilla ice cream on top.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Sliced peaches, ready-to-eat cereal, crisp bacon, enriched rolls, butter or margarine, blackberry jam, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON—Potato and watercress soup, crackers, cold roast beef sandwich, potato chips, pickles, fruit cup topped with lime sherbet, tea milk.

Fruit Yields Profits

Belgrade (AP)—Plums and grapes pump profits into Yugoslavia's treasury. The two crops accounted for approximately $1,300,000 of this country's export trade last year. Yugoslavia has approximately 59 million fruit-bearing plum trees.

Baruch Would Check On Inflation Views

New York, Aug. 5 (AP)—Financier Bernard Baruch wants to see which presidential candidate "has the greater wisdom and fortitude to beat inflation" before he decides whom to back.

But the adviser to presidents in two world wars adds that the ability to halt inflation is possessed by both Republican presican presidential candidate Dwight D. Eisenhower and Democratic nominee Adlai E. Stevenson.

"Words alone won't do it," Baruch says. "It will take fortitude."

Baruch spoke with newsmen yesterday upon his arrival here aboard the liner Queen Elizabeth. He returned from a two-month visit in Europe.

Long an advocate of tight economic controls, Baruch said inflation, if not beaten, "will destroy any economic of foreign policy me make."

Proper Way to Cook Rice

When you steam rice in a small amount of water bring quickly to a boil then cover and turn heat very low; don't remove the cover or stir the rice while it is cooking. Leftover rice may be used in muffin or pancake batter, in stuffings for poultry, or mixed with fruit and whipped cream for desserts.

FLYING SAUCERS

Kingston, N. Y., Aug. 5—Present day scientists and Army experts are probing reports of flying saucers in an effort to find out just what they are.

One hair stylist stated that the flying saucers were merely futuristic hairdos so highly styled that they could not be held down to earth.

Even though the hair styling at Mickey's is up to date, it still hasn't advanced that far. We are still styling hair in a "down to earth" fashion and giving satisfaction to "present day" customers. Try us and see.

KAA All Stars Send Danny Steltz Against Queen City Tossers Today

Semi-Final Spot Depends on Big Righty; Poughkeepsie Defeats Millerton, 3-2

Big Danny Steltz goes to the firing line today against the crack Queen City All Stars as the KAA All Stars make their bid for a semi-final spot in the District 3 Little League tournament at the 156th FA diamond.

A strong-armed right hander and standout hitter, Steltz is the KAA's hopes against the slick-looking Bridge City outfit.

The big Yankee right hander is one of the winningest pitchers in the KAA Little League with a strong penchant for big strikeout totals. He is perhaps as fast as any pitcher in the tournament and when he has his control is hard to beat. At the plate he is the Little League's most consistent performer.

GETS NEW POST

JOHN P. "BUDDY" SMITH

John P. "Buddy" Smith, of 21 Rogers street, coach and physical director at Altoona High since 1950, has been appointed sports coach and physical education director at Bolton Central School, Bolton Landing, N. Y., for the 1952-53 academic year.

A topflight basketball player who ranked with the all-time greats at Ithaca College, Smith received the degree of Bachelor of Science in the School of Health and Physical Education from Ithaca College in 1950.

While at Ithaca he was a basketball and track star, holding the individual hight scoring record of 40 points in a basketball game, and 344 points for a 20-game season.

Record Crowd Expected

KAA officials expect the largest turnout of the tournament for the contest scheduled to start at 5:45 p. m.

The Poughkeepsie Americans kept the Bridge City very much in the tournament picture yesterday when Chris Demaree pitched and batted the Americans to a 3-2 squeaker over Millerton, first round conquerors of Saugerties.

Demaree turned in one of the strong performances to date. He limited the Millertons to a pair of singles, walked three and struck out nine. Batting in the cleanup spot, he delivered a key triple during Poughkeepsie's winning rally in the fifth.

Error Paves Way

Trailing 2-1 when they came to bat in the fifth the Americans quickly capitalized a miscue by first baseman Bob Clark that permitted Arnie Elkin to go all the way to third. Otto Landolfa singled to tie the score at 2-2 and Demaree's triple settled the issue.

Landolfa enjoyed a perfect day at bat in the important No. 3 slot with three singles in three trips. Brent Smith, the Poughkeepsie right fielder, delivered a ringle, double and walk in three trips to the plate.

The Millerton safeties went to Wallace Kaye and Bob Clark.

Winners Score First

Poughkeepsie got off to a 1-0 lead in the first inning when Deke Johnson and Landolfa sandwiched a wild pitch by Art Lamb with singles.

Millerton knotted the count at 1-1 in the third when a bad throw over the catcher's head with the bases loaded set up the tally. The losers went ahead in their half of the fifth when Clark singled and was forced at second by Irving who promptly stole the base. Two wild pitches in succession by Demaree accounted for the run.

Noel Brown Stages Another Upset

South Orange, N. J., Aug. 5 (AP)—Noel Brown, a 26-year-old former prefessional from Los Angeles who won the Southampton tournament last week to everyone's amazement, may be another flash in the pan, but don't try to tell it to Lewis Hoad.

Brown, back in the simon-pure ranks only since last December, eliminated the 17-year-old Australian wonder boy in the first round yesterday in the Eastern Grass Courts championships just as he did the top-seeded Straight Clark at Southampton.

The scores were 11-13, 11-9, 6-3. His opponent today will be William Tully, an unseeded swinger from Larchmont, N. Y.

Sports of the Day

(IN BRIEF)
(By The Associated Press)

London—United States defeated British Empire 11-5 with American team bettering world two-mile relay mark with 7:29.2 clocking.

South Orange, N. J.—Frank Sedgman, Australia, Dick Savitt, Orange, N. J., led favorites through first round of Eastern Grass Courts championship as Noel Brown, ex-pro, downed 17-year old Lewis Hoad of Australia in day's biggest upset.

Seattle—Slo-Mo-Shun V qualified for Saturday's defense of the Gold Cup with speed of 102½ per hour. Slo-Mo-Shun IV also qualified at 83 mph.

Saratoga Springs, N. Y.—Native Dancer ($3.60) won Flash Stakes by two and one-quarter lengths at opening of Saratoga's meeting.

Amateurs Qualify

New York, Aug. 5 (AP)—The hope that springs eternal from the breast of the weekend golfer—a spot in the National Amateur championship—will come true for 172 lucky ones scattered around the country today. The tournament is scheduled for Seattle Aug. 18-23 and there will be about 800 unsuccessful aspirants to the throne home watching. That gives the unknowns about one chance in eight of qualifying.

Spada and Basch Hurl Six-Hitter; Hunt Raps Homer

Bill Tierney Clouts Circuit For Losers

The American All Stars finished with a late burst of power to rout the Nationals, 11 to 3, in the City Softball League's annual classic before more than 400 spectators yesterday at Block Park.

Leading 4-3 at the end of six, the Americans moved ahead 6-4 in the seventh and then iced the game with a five-run barrage in the eighth.

Tom Spada and Don Basch combined to hold the Nationals to six hits and pitched shutout ball after the fifth inning when the losers moved ahead temporarily, 3-1. One of the hits was a circuit clout by Bill Tierney.

The Americans picked up 12 hits off a quartet of National flingers that included Ben Freer, Don Koeppen, Decker and Joe Enright. Al Hunt was "2 for 2" with a single and homer for the Americans.

Hornbeck and Graves each stroked a double and single for the winners.

The fielding was spectacular on both sides with Ruzzo, Hobart and Hornbeck all turning in flashy catches.

The SCORE Board

By JIM KENSIL
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Remember when Hal Newhouser and Dizzy Trout combined their talents to hurl the Detroit Tigers to the 1945 American League pennant?

At the time, baseball fans didn't think their great two-fold performance would be matched for some time to come. But then Johnny Sain and Warren Spahn came along with the 1948 Boston Braves and delivered a one-two pitching punch that landed the N.L. flag. Okay, so baseball history repeats itself.

Don't look now, but Vic Raschi and Allie Reynolds, a pair of New York Yankee moundsmen, are threatening to do it all over again.

Raschi tossed his 11th straight win last night, a 1-0 blanking of the Washington Senators that brought his season slate to 13-2. Tonight, Reynolds faces the same Senators in the nation's capital and will be shooting for his 13th victory in 20 decisions. That means the two Yank righthanders with 25 wins between them, have accounted for better than 40 per cent of their team's 62 triumphs.

Fans Eight

Raschi scattered six hits and fanned eight while walking only one.

The Yanks won it in the sixth inning when ex-New Yorker Bob Porterfield walked Gil McDougald with bases loaded to force over Hank Bauer with the game's only tally. Bauer reached base when with one out Mickey Grasso fumbled his tap in front of the plate. Mickey Mantle then moved him to third with a bouncing double over first baseman Mickey Vernon's head. After Yogi Berra had flied to Gil Coan, Porterfield passed Gene Woodling intentionally to load the sacks.

So the Yanks are now 3½ games in front of second-place Cleveland and another full game ahead of third-place Boston, both of whom were idle last night along with the rest of the American League and all of the National.

Have Big Job

Raschi and Reynolds have been the only dependable members of the Yank staff that lost Tom Morgan to the Army and Eddie Lopat to arm trouble and which has only a faint resemblance of a bullpen.

It looks as if they're going to have to keep right on carrying the load through the league leaders' last 49 games, 26 of which are on the road.

There's more than a full schedule in the majors tonight with six single tilts and a pair of twi-nighters. Attention is sure to be centered on the Polo Grounds where the New York Giants throw Jim Hearn (12-3) against the first place Brooklyn Dodgers who will counter on Billy Loes (9-5). It's the opener of a four game series.

Arlington '50' Won by Benjamin

Doug Benjamin, the "Big Ben of Peekskill" continued to make a shambles of the Arlington Speedway stock car field in the 50-lap "mad-cap" feature Saturday night.

Twenty six finalists were jockeying for position in the feature when the red flag went up after Walt Roberts of Albany, Stan Bomba and Eric Wallenburgh crashed through the guard-rail. There were no injuries and the race resumed.

A lap later Benjamin zoomed into first place and held it despite repeated thrusts by other contestants. Huck Spaulding, Bud Hitsmen and Bill Boo trailed Benjamin in that order.

Steve Danish of Cropseyville, N. Y., whose famous No. 61 Jr. is reported to be the fastest Chevrolet sportsman car in the game today, trailed in fifth place.

Frank Whitley and Wilbur Brink won the "Race of Doom". Most of the cars in the race were demolished and a light pole was knocked down.

The Eastern States 100-lap championship which is open to all sportsmen cars in the east will be held Saturday, Aug. 9, at Arlington Speedway. Another "Race of Doom" is scheduled.

Uncle Sam's sweep of the Olympic swimming events had a nostalgic touch for Walter Williams, who operates the fabulous resort known throughout the eastern seaboard as Williams Lake.

One of Walter's proteges, Jimmy McLane, the great Yale University star, achieved further distinction at Helsinki and is still young enough to look ahead to 1956.

McLane was a mere tenderfoot of 14 or 15 years when he made frequent appearances at Walter's annual swimfests at Williams Lake. The Yale youth had the stamp of greatness all over him at that tender age. In those days, Williams raved about young McLane and said he couldn't miss as a swimming great. He proved to be a good prophet.

Two events happened on widely separated fronts this week with no apparent relation to each other but still in the nostalgia department they seem to hang together for this department.

Nathan G. Markson of the Markson newspaper dynasty is in from Washington for his annual vacation with his family in Kingston. About the same time, Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk announced the appointment of a committee to work with the Recreation Department in the promotion of the all-star junior baseball against the Brooklyn-Against-the-World squad on Wednesday, Aug. 20, in Kingston.

The gentlemen involved, in case you overlooked the item, were Ad Jones, Bob Murray, Herb Myers and Nick Kaslich.

There is a connotation to the two seemingly unrelated items. Because, on the one hand the one group represents Kingston semi-pro baseball at its all-time peak. The other, being Markson, of course, is synonymous with the original Kingston Colonials. Markson and our good friend from across the bridge, P. J. Beichert, the long-suffering Giant rooter, are the most authentic Colonial (originals) historians extant. They are throwbacks to the pristine period of local baseball, when Kingston was the most respected name in the semi-professional domain.

Nick Kaslich and Bob Murray were identified with the original pre-war Kingston Recreations, the best-drawing local team in history. Both were powerful dynasties operating a little more than 20 years apart.

If it were possible to blend a happy medium of these two ball clubs, Kingston would have a team to be proud of and municipal stadium would not be a hollow echo of its one-time majestic splendor. But, if you believe in cycles, it can't happen until 1966. By that time, who cares?

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

When it comes to dreaming up theoretical, fantastic situations to haunt rules interpreters, the baseball fan is in a class by himself.

Bill Lyons advances these beauts for your serious consideration:

With two strikes on the batter, the pitcher throws a "very slow" ball. The batsman misses the ball on the first swing but still has time for another swing. He connects the second time for a basehit. What is the ruling?

The second situation is equally fantastic. The pitcher can throw with either hand, the batter is a switch hitter. Can either switch back and forth on each pitch. The answer is yes.

Now the situation gets merrier. If, as the pitcher is about to wind up, the batter jumps across to the other side of plate. Is that legal? If this continues, whom will the umpire charge with making a travesty of the game?

We don't propose to know the answer to that one, but it would seem that the batter is at fault. Once the pitcher has made up his mind to pitch, he must shift his glove to the opposite hand. That gives the batter an unnatural advantage.

However, neither of these ludicrous situations is likely to bob up but they make interesting baseball chatter in taverns and beside television sets. And they show you what hot weather can do to baseball fans.

Duke of Lullwater 3-1 Choice For Wednesday's Hambletonian

Hit Song, Sharp Note Are Chief Contenders

Goshen, N. Y., Aug. 5 (AP)—Old timers on harness racing's Grand Circuit speculated today that for the first time since 1947 it might require three heats to decide the rich Hambletonian Stake tomorrow.

Sixteen three-year-old colts and fillies are entered for the 27th edition on the sulky sport's Kentucky Derby. And there is speed to burn in the star-studded lineup headed by the Duke of Lullwater.

Perhaps another half dozen were scared away from posting the final $500 starting fee after the blistering workouts turned in by several contenders last week.

The last four Hambletonians have been won in two straight heats, and the first one to put a pair together tomorrow will get $47,236.64 from the jucy $87,637.55 pot. This makes it the second richest Hambletonian. Last year when 21 started, the purse grossed $95,263, and a 25 to 1 shot—Mainliner—hauled in $51,347 for Ralph Kroening of Milwaukee.

Going back to 1947, the winner, was Hoot Mon, which set the stake record of 2:00 flat after losing the first heat to Rodney. Hoot Mon wrapped it up with victory in the third heat. Eight Hambletonians have required three heats, and in 1932 and 1934 they had to make four trips before getting a winner.

Duke at 3-1

Duke of Lullwater, the 1951 two-year-old champion and winner of 14 of 16 starts last year as he piled up the biggest earnings on record for a juvenile, is listed as the 3 to 1 choice. The Duke has won three of five this year.

Usually they pin this race down to one heavy favorite, with two or three others conceded a chance, but this time, there are about eight other snappy steppers in addition to the Duke—owned by Walter T. Candler of Decatur, Ga.

Foremost challenger seems to be Hit Song, property of E. Roland Harriman and E. T. Gerry of New York, and L. B. Sheppard, Hanover, Pa.

Hit Song is the only horse that has beaten the Duke—twice last year, and twice in July of this year. All of the Duke's defeats occurred here in Goshen.

Others considered capable of grabbing the big prize include Sharp Note, owned by C. W. Clark, Dearborn, Mich.; Crystal Hanover, Dave Johnston, T. W. Church and P. J. Baugh, Charlotte N. C.; Hardy Hanover, E. J. Baker, St. Charles, Ill.; Diplomat Hanover, L. E. Lake, Colfax, Ind.; Lu Peck, O. L. Mears, Toledo, Ohio; Dallas Hanover, Ed Dougherty, Hackensack, N. J.; Theme Song, Hayes Fair Acres Stable, Du Quoin, Ill.; and Scotch Victor, S. A. Camp Farms, Shafter, Calif.

Two Fillies Enter

There are two fillies in the lineup, Lu Peck and Crystal Hanover.

Duke of Lullwater is to be driven by Johnny Simpson, who at 32 could become the youngest driver to win the Hambletonian. Doc Parshall won with Lord Jim in 1934 when he was 34.

Harry Pownall, who drove Titan Hanover to victory in 1945, will handle Hit Song, which worked out in 2:01 2/5 last Thursday. Only two Hambletonians have been raced faster.

Harry Fitzpatrick, Charleston, Ill., who drives Lu Peck, said he thought "the colts will be too tough for us."

Duke of Lullwater is No. 4, Hit Song, No. 5, and Sharp Note, No. 7. Ten horses will line up in the first tier, six in the second row at the 2 p. m. EST post for the first heat.

KAA All Stars Send Danny Steltz Against Queen City Tossers Today

Semi-Final Spot Depends on Big Righty; Poughkeepsie Defeats Millerton, 3-2

Big Danny Steltz goes to the firing line today against the crack Queen City All Stars as the KAA All Stars make their bid for a semi-final spot in the District 3 Little League tournament at the 156th FA diamond.

A strong-armed right hander and standout hitter, Steltz is the KAA's hopes against the slick-looking Bridge City outfit.

The big Yankee right hander is one of the winningest pitchers in the KAA Little League with a strong penchant for big strikeout totals. He is perhaps as fast as any pitcher in the tournament and when he has his control is hard to beat. At the plate he is the Little League's most consistent performer.

GETS NEW POST

JOHN P. "BUDDY" SMITH

John P. "Buddy" Smith, of 21 Rogers street, coach and physical director at Altoona High since 1950, has been appointed sports coach and physical education director at Bolton Central School, Bolton Landing, N. Y., for the 1952-53 academic year.

A topflight basketball player who ranked with the all-time greats at Ithaca College, Smith received the degree of Bachelor of Science in the School of Health and Physical Education from Ithaca College in 1950.

While at Ithaca he was a basketball and track star, holding the individual hight scoring record of 40 points in a basketball game, and 344 points for a 20-game season.

Record Crowd Expected

KAA officials expect the largest turnout of the tournament for the contest scheduled to start at 5:45 p. m.

The Poughkeepsie Americans kept the Bridge City very much in the tournament picture yesterday when Chris Demaree pitched and batted the Americans to a 3-2 squeaker over Millerton, first round conquerors of Saugerties.

Demaree turned in one of the strong performances to date. He limited the Millertons to a pair of singles, walked three and struck out nine. Batting in the cleanup spot, he delivered a key triple during Poughkeepsie's winning rally in the fifth.

Error Paves Way

Trailing 2-1 when they came to bat in the fifth the Americans quickly capitalized a miscue by first baseman Bob Clark that permitted Arnie Elkin to go all the way to third. Otto Landolfa singled to tie the score at 2-2 and Demaree's triple settled the issue.

Landolfa enjoyed a perfect day at bat in the important No. 3 slot with three singles in three trips. Brent Smith, the Poughkeepsie right fielder, delivered a ringle, double and walk in three trips to the plate.

The Millerton safeties went to Wallace Kaye and Bob Clark.

Winners Score First

Poughkeepsie got off to a 1-0 lead in the first inning when Deke Johnson and Landolfa sandwiched a wild pitch by Art Lamb with singles.

Millerton knotted the count at 1-1 in the third when a bad throw over the catcher's head with the bases loaded set up the tally. The losers went ahead in their half of the fifth when Clark singled and was forced at second by Irving who promptly stole the base. Two wild pitches in succession by Demaree accounted for the run.

Noel Brown Stages Another Upset

South Orange, N. J., Aug. 5 (AP)—Noel Brown, a 26-year-old former prefessional from Los Angeles who won the Southampton tournament last week to everyone's amazement, may be another flash in the pan, but don't try to tell it to Lewis Hoad.

Brown, back in the simon-pure ranks only since last December, eliminated the 17-year-old Australian wonder boy in the first round yesterday in the Eastern Grass Courts championships just as he did the top-seeded Straight Clark at Southampton.

The scores were 11-13, 11-9, 6-3. His opponent today will be William Tully, an unseeded swinger from Larchmont, N. Y.

Bill Tierney Clouts Circuit For Losers

The American All Stars finished with a late burst of power to rout the Nationals, 11 to 3, in the City Softball League's annual classic before more than 400 spectators yesterday at Block Park.

Leading 4-3 at the end of six, the Americans moved ahead 6-4 in the seventh and then iced the game with a five-run barrage in the eighth.

Tom Spada and Don Basch combined to hold the Nationals to six hits and pitched shutout ball after the fifth inning when the losers moved ahead temporarily, 3-1. One of the hits was a circuit clout by Bill Tierney.

The Americans picked up 12 hits off a quartet of National flingers that included Ben Freer, Don Koeppen, Decker and Joe Enright. Al Hunt was "2 for 2" with a single and homer for the Americans.

Hornbeck and Graves each stroked a double and single for the winners.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

When it comes to dreaming up theoretical, fantastic situations to haunt rules interpreters, the baseball fan is in a class by himself.

Bill Lyons advances these beauts for your serious consideration:

With two strikes on the batter, the pitcher throws a "very slow" ball. The batsman misses the ball on the first swing but still has time for another swing. He connects the second time for a basehit. What is the ruling?

The second situation is equally fantastic. The pitcher can throw with either hand, the batter is a switch hitter. Can either switch back and forth on each pitch. The answer is yes.

Now the situation gets merrier. If, as the pitcher is about to wind up, the batter jumps across to the other side of plate. Is that legal? If this continues, whom will the umpire charge with making a travesty of the game?

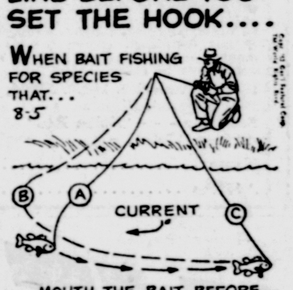

We don't propose to know the answer to that one, but it would seem that the batter is at fault. Once the pitcher has made up his mind to pitch, he must shift his glove to the opposite hand. That gives the batter an unnatural advantage.

However, neither of these ludicrous situations is likely to bob up but they make interesting baseball chatter in taverns and beside television sets. And they show you what hot weather can do to baseball fans.

The SCOREBoard

By JIM KENSIL
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Remember when Hal Newhouser and Dizzy Trout combined their talents to hurl the Detroit Tigers to the 1945 American League pennant?

At the time, baseball fans didn't think their great two-fold performance would be matched for some time to come. But then Johnny Sain and Warren Spahn came along with the 1948 Boston Braves and delivered a one-two pitching punch that landed the N.L. flag. Okay, so baseball history repeats itself.

Don't look now, but Vic Raschi and Allie Reynolds, a pair of New York Yankee moundsmen, are threatening to do it all over again.

Raschi tossed his 11th straight win last night, a 1-0 blanking of the Washington Senators that brought his season slate to 13-2. Tonight, Reynolds faces the same Senators in the nation's capital and will be shooting for his 13th victory in 20 decisions. That means the two Yank righthanders with 25 wins between them, have accounted for better than 40 per cent of their team's 62 triumphs.

Fans Eight

Raschi scattered six hits and fanned eight while walking only one.

The Yanks won it in the sixth inning when ex-New Yorker Bob Porterfield walked Gil McDougald with bases loaded to force over Hank Bauer with the game's only tally. Bauer reached base when with one out Mickey Grasso fumbled his tap in front of the plate. Mickey Mantle then moved him to third with a bouncing double over first baseman Mickey Vernon's head. After Yogi Berra had flied to Gil Coan, Porterfield passed Gene Woodling intertionally to load the sacks.

So the Yanks are now 3½ games in front of second-place Cleveland and another full game ahead of third-place Boston, both of whom were idle last night along with the rest of the American League and all of the National.

Have Big Job

Raschi and Reynolds have been the only dependable members of the Yank staff that lost Tom Morgan to the Army and Eddie Lopat to arm trouble and which has only a faint resemblance of a bullpen.

It looks as if they're going to have to keep right on carrying the load through the league leaders' last 49 games, 26 of which are off the road.

There's more than a full schedule in the majors tonight with six single tilts and a pair of twi-nighters. Attention is sure to be centered on the Polo Grounds where the New York Giants throw Jim Hearn (12-3) against the first place Brooklyn Dodgers who will counter on Billy Loes (9-5). It's the opener of a four game series.

Rajah Takes Over

Cincinnati, Aug. 5 (AP)—Rogers "Rajah" Hornsby takes over the managerial reins of the seventh-place Cincinnati Reds here tonight as the Redlegs open a two-game series with the Chicago Cubs. The "Rajah," recently named to succeed Luke Sewell as Reds' pilot, said he will handle the third base coaching chores tonight as Redleg skipper.

Arlington '50' Won by Benjamin

Doug Benjamin, the "Big Ben of Peekskill" continued to make a shambles of the Arlington Speedway stock car field in the 50-lap "mad-cap" feature Saturday night.

Twenty six finalists were jockeying for position in the feature when the red flag went up after Walt Roberts of Albany, Stan Bomba and Eric Wallenburgh crashed through the guard-rail. There were no injuries and the race resumed.

A lap later Benjamin zoomed into first place and held it despite repeated thrusts by other contestants. Huck Spaulding, Bud Hitsmen and Bill Boo trailed Benjamin in that order.

Steve Danish of Cropseyville, N. Y., whose famous No. 61 Jr. is reported to be the fastest Chevrolet sportsman car in the game today, trailed in fifth place.

Frank Whitley and Wilbur Brink won the "Race of Doom". Most of the cars in the race were demolished and a light pole was knocked down.

The Eastern States 100-lap championship which is open to all sportsmen cars in the east will be held Saturday, Aug. 9, at Arlington Speedway. Another "Race of Doom" is scheduled.

Bailey Upsets Defending Champion Leon Randall in First Round

Wiltwyck Veteran Fires 75 to Post 2 and 1 Victory

Believed First Time Champ Lost 1st Match

J. Watson Bailey, one of the "Old Guard" of local golfdom staged one of the greatest upsets in Wiltwyck Golf Club history with a weekend 2 and 1 triumph over defending champion, Leon Randall, in first round action in the 1952 championship flight.

If a defending champion was ever knocked out in the first round at Wiltwyck, nobody in an official capacity remembers when.

Firing steady nines of 37 and 38, Bailey, a former champion, continued the theme established by Clarence "Dubby" Raichle in winning the Father Herdegen Memorial tournament.

The Army-bound Randall posted 39-37 for a 76 and lost the match despite the fact he twice birdied the No. 3 hole, a most unusual feat.

Leads From Start

A Randall bogie on the first hole and Bailey birdie on the second sent the veteran ahead to stay. Randall wiped out the lead with 3-4 on the third and fourth holes but Bailey went one up with a birdie on the fifth and a par-5 on the sixth while Randall was slipping two over.

A par on the seventh sent Bailey three up but Randall sliced a stroke on the last nine in regulation figures to trail by two at the end of nine.

Randall birdied the rugged No. 3 for the second time but bogied the fourth to restore Bailey's two-stroke lead. Randall rallied with a birdie on the sixth but was unable to negotiate the 7th for the second time and went two there and when they halved the eighth with bogie-4s the match was over and one of the all-time upsets in Wiltwyck Golf Club history had been written into the record books.

Vogt Wins Twice

Roy Vogt, a bargain basement special in the Calcutta sweepstakes who may yet prove a bonanza, strode into the semi-finals by besting veteran Maurice Davenport, 4 and 2, and then edging Bud Leininger, 1-up.

Vogt carded a 76 with 40-36 against Davenport's 44-40-84 in a first round match that saw the Hurley ace start the long road back toward a possible club championship. He has been inactive for several years.

The Leininger match was a different proposition.

Vogt had to overcome a three-stroke deficit at the end of the first nine and two down at the end of 12 in order to accomplish a spectacular comeback.

Leininger, who belts the ball with consummate ease off the tees, was out in 37 and back in 41, the back breaker, while Vogt, a chip spot specialist, carded 39 going out and tightened his game to a 37 in the clutch.

Three-up off the 10th tee, Leininger dropped four of the next five holes to Vogt's 3-4-4-5-4. A par-5 on the dog-leg sixth terminated the match for one of Vogt's most notable triumphs.

Here again it was the "Old Guard" against the youth movement and so far this season, the oldies have had it.

Vogt refused to buckle in the stretch. He bagged a par on the 7th and 8th holes and was able to save the match with a bogie-5 on the ninth hole.

Bostic Wins Twice

Harvey Bostic, the high school wizard, established himself as a darkhorse with two one-sided victories over highly regarded Bob Daley and Bob Cullum.

Bostic overpowered Daley, one of the club's better swingers, 5 and 4 and trounced Cullum, 7 and 5, to move into one bracket of the semi-finals. Cullum had defeated Dr. George Rifenbary in a first-round match, 4 and 3.

First round action still remaining includes matches between Bill Van Aken and Brian Smith; Clarence Raichle vs. George Schick and Dr. Holcomb Jr. vs. Lou Bruhn.

Jack Nichols Cops '25' Race

Jack Nichols of Carmel, rode his modified Ace of Hearts to its first feature victory of the season in the 25-lap race Saturday at Rhinebeck Speedway.

A wild spin by Byron Fisher on the fourth lap of the feature put Nichols in first position at the restart. That was all the incentive the Carmel pilot needed.

Larry Shurter, popular West Shokan driver, finished fourth and furnished plenty of action with his No. 75. Shurter came through to the front from the scratch position but rammed the fence in the tangle with Fisher. Then from a last place in the restart he came back strong the second time to finish fourth in the 25 lapper.

Shurter also proved his mettle in the second heat. He started last and edged out Bill Colville by a whisker as the checkered flag dropped.

Golden Is Second

Jerry Golden of Connecticut finished second in the feature, with Stan Disbrow third. Bob Tator of Rhinebeck grabbed fifth place behind Shurter.

Winners in the qualifying heats were George Welch, Larry Shurter and Doug Garrison. Byron Fisher and Bob Tator copped the semi-finals and Ken Goodermote won the consolation.

After the stock car program, three-car teams from Beacon and Red Hook pitted their strategy and destructive tactics against each other in another Demolition Derby. Vinnie Becker, winner of Rhinebeck's first such derby, kept up his winning streak by being the driver of the only surviving car.

A stock car program is scheduled Saturday afternoon. On Sunday, Aug. 17 at 2:30 p. m., the A.R.D.C. will present a complete midget auto racing program at the Rhinebeck Speedway.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

By AL McCLANE (Fishing Editor)

Those Shy, Late-Season Trout

I've always caught my largest trout, and consistently catch more trout, in the summer months, contrary to the popular belief that the fish knock off until the cooler weather. In fact, early fall is a snare and a delusion if you're dealing with resident brook, brown and rainbow trout.

The type of tackle you are planning to use will have a great deal to do with how successful you will be in taking shy, late-season trout.

Flies should be delicate and small. Leader tippets should be reduced to minimum in size, and the experienced angler will increase their length by one or two feet. A 9-foot leader is better than one 6 or 7½ feet in length. It should taper down to no heavier than 2X, and where trout do not run exceptionally large, 3X is better.

The most popular dry flies for clear-water fishing are small bivisibles, spiders and spent wings tied on sizes 12 and 14 hooks. For wet-fly fishing such patterns as the Red Ant, Hare's Ear, Black Gnat, Queens of the Water, Wickham's Fancy, and Ginger Quill are particularly effective.

The idea is to imitate nature as closely as possible, and under ordinary circumstances large and gaudy patterns are out.

A wet fly can be fished upstream as successfully as a dry fly. If the flies are tied on fairly heavy hooks and are lightly dressed, they will sink even in fast water. Cast upstream and slightly across, retrieving slack as you would in dry fishing.

The fly will tumble down with the current and needs no motion on the part of the angler's rod. Follow the course of the drifting line and wait for the slightest twitch which will indicate that a trout has struck. A turn of the wrist, done gently but quickly, will hook such a trout.

When fishing on a fast run or riffle, get the trout down to you as quickly as possible and with a minimum of disturbance. If you succeed in keeping out of sight and can lead the fish below you, playing it there and netting it, you will often have a chance at another fish that may lie in the same riffle above.

Incidentally, in late season wet fly fishing, it is advisable to fish a single fly rather than use one or two droppers besides the point fly.

Big trout ordinarily take a fly more slowly than smaller ones. A six-incher may strike with a splash that belies its true size and then spit out the fly so quickly that it takes a lightning-fast strike to hook him. This is particularly true in small, rapid mountain streams.

An 18-inch trout, however, is apt to rise deliberately and take the fly with very little disturbance on the surface, often making scarcely a dimple. A strike as fast as would be required to hook the six-incher would jerk the fly away from the big one. Between the fact that we catch many small trout for each large one and with the attendant excitement when a big one strikes, the natural tendency always is to strike too soon. Use a slight and deliberate movement of the rod tip.

Legion Nine Defeats Elks, 16-7 To Take Over FYL Loop Lead

Third Place Battle Is on Tap Today

The Fraternal Youth League pennant race is slowly resolving into a dogfight between the American Legion and Rotary powerhouses and from now until the end of the round, it's even up, take your pick.

The Legion powerhouse unloaded a pair of 8-run innings to crush the Elks, 16 to 7 before a fair crowd in yesterday's meeting before a good crowd at municipal stadium.

A wild streak by the Legion pitchers made it a contest for three innings when the winners led 8-6 as the result of an 8-run blast in the second. A repeat in the fourth inning turned the contest into a rout, despite the fact the Legion was restricted to seven hits.

Bob Maines and Don Ferraro, the two Legion flingers who followed starter Joe Reynolds, doled out seven walks each. Reynolds added 2 for a record-breaking 16. The Elks tossers, giving up only seven hits, issued free passes to 10 batters.

Of the dozen hits in the game, only two were for extra bases; a double by the Elks' Ron Jansen and Don Ferraro's triple for the Legion.

Bob Burns and Jansen each had two hits for the losers, while Bob Weishaupt, Legion first sacker, stroked two singles and two walks for a perfect day at bat.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars meet the Police nine today and the Thursday and Friday action features the Rotary against the Elks and the big one against the Legion on Friday evening. Third place is at stake today and a hotly contested game is predicted.

24 Years in National League

Written for NEA Service

Question: Is it true that Stan Musial, who led the National League five times in batting, ever led a league in pitching?

Answer: Yes, in 1940 Musial paced Florida State League pitchers with 18 victories and 5 defeats, with an earned-run average of 2.26 and a winning percentage of .783. The Cardinals' luminary did this while alternating between the outfield and the hill for Daytona Beach. With his pitching, he got in a total of 113 games. This was only the year before he broke into the St. Louis Nationals' outfield.

Q. Who was known as The Oold Roman in baseball?

A. Charles A. Comiskey, famous first baseman and the original owner of the White Sox.

Q. A game is momentarily suspended. When play is resumed a runner on first base fails to tag up after time is called. He goes on to touch second base after the pitcher delivers the ball. Isn't the runner out?

A. Yes, he is supposed to tag up when play resumes. .. . .

Fraternal Youth League action at 6 p. m. at municipal stadium pairs the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Police.

"Please tell us how to bid the slam in the accompanying hand," requests a Rochester correspondent. "As you can see, South could throw this hand against the wall and still produce 12 tricks. For the life of us, however, we don't see how we can bid it safely. For all he knows, North may have two losing hearts.

"What would the experts do about a hand of this kind?"

It depends on whether you mean tournament experts or rubber bridge experts. The tournament expert hates to bid a slam for which he has no play at all. For some reason or other, he considers this disgraceful.

The same expert, however, does not feel disgraced when he stops at game, and finds 12 absolutely laydown tricks in the hand. He takes refuge in the statement that the slam is "unbiddable."

The first-class rubber bridge player has a completely different philosophy about slams. He is willing to bid slams with a certain amount of gaiety and abandon when he knows that the partnership hands include a very safe trump suit and a large number of playing tricks.

The kind of slam that depends on favorable distribution, or perhaps a favorable opening lead, is difficult to reach by "scientific" methods. The first-class player doesn't disdain science, but he knows its limitations. With a certain type of hand, he knows he must bulldoze his way to the slam and hope for the best.

In the accompanying hand, South should just up and bid six clubs. It is perfectly true that North may put down a dummy that includes, alas, two small hearts.

If so, South accepts his minus score with a smile, and prepares to bid a slam on the same type of hand the very next moment if the chance is presented. He will make many more slams than he loses with such tactics.

When North makes a take-out double of one heart, and subsequently jump raises to five clubs, it's dollars to doughnuts that he has a singleton heart. Of all the possible hands that North can hold to justify this bid, probably three-quarters include a singleton heart.

South is merely following percentage, therefore, when he bids the slam in this situation.

'Box' Reaches Destination

New York, Aug. 5 (AP)—A concrete "bulkhead box" weighing 13,550 tons—the new substructure for Pier 57, on the Hudson river was floated into place last night and locked with cables 20 minutes later. The huge concrete box was expected to settle on the river bottom when the tide went out later. The substructure was built at Grassy Point, N. Y., and floated down the Hudson. It was put in position by 20 workmen using power winches and then was "locked" with cables. When completed the pier will replace Pier 57 which was destroyed by fire in 1947.

Bailey Upsets Defending Champion Leon Randall in First Round

Wiltwyck Veteran Fires 75 to Post 2 and 1 Victory

Believed First Time Champ Lost 1st Match

J. Watson Bailey, one of the "Old Guard" of local golfdom staged one of the greatest upsets in Wiltwyck Golf Club history with a weekend 2 and 1 triumph over defending champion, Leon Randall, in first round action in the 1952 championship flight.

If a defending champion was ever knocked out in the first round at Wiltwyck, nobody in an official capacity remembers when.

Firing steady nines of 37 and 38, Bailey, a former champion, continued the theme established by Clarence "Dubby" Raichle in winning the Father Herdegen Memorial tournament.

The Army-bound Randall posted 39-37 for a 76 and lost the match despite the fact he twice birdied the No. 3 hole, a most unusual feat.

Leads From Start

A Randall bogie on the first hole and Bailey birdie on the second sent the veteran ahead to stay. Randall wiped out the lead with 3-4 on the third and fourth holes but Bailey went one up with a birdie on the fifth and a par-5 on the sixth while Randall was slipping two over.

A par on the seventh sent Bailey three up but Randall sliced a stroke on the last nine in regulation figures to trail by two at the end of nine.

Randall birdied the rugged No. 3 for the second time but bogied the fourth to restore Bailey's two-stroke lead. Randall rallied with a birdie on the sixth but was unable to negotiate the 7th for the second time and went two there and when they halved the eighth with bogie-4s the match was over and one of the all-time upsets in Wiltwyck Golf Club history had been written into the record books.

Vogt Wins Twice

Roy Vogt, a bargain basement special in the Calcutta sweepstakes who may yet prove a bonanza, strode into the semi-finals by besting veteran Maurice Davenport, 4 and 2, and then edging Bud Leininger, 1-up.

Vogt carded a 76 with 40-36 against Davenport's 44-40-84 in a first round match that saw the Hurley ace start the long road back toward a possible club championship. He has been inactive for several years.

The Leininger match was a different proposition.

Vogt had to overcome a three-stroke deficit at the end of the first nine and two down at the end of 12 in order to accomplish a spectacular comeback.

Leininger, who belts the ball with consummate ease off the tees, was out in 37 and back in 41, the back breaker, while Vogt, a chip spot specialist, carded 39 going out and tightened his game to a 37 in the clutch.

Three-up off the 10th tee, Leininger dropped four of the next five holes to Vogt's 3-4-4-5-4. A par-5 on the dog-leg sixth terminated the match for one of Vogt's most notable triumphs.

Here again it was the "Old Guard" against the youth movement and so far this season, the oldies have had it.

Vogt refused to buckle in the stretch. He bagged a par on the 7th and 8th holes and was able to save the match with a bogie-5 on the ninth hole.

Bostic Wins Twice

Harvey Bostic, the high school wizard, established himself as a darkhorse with two one-sided victories over highly regarded Bob Daley and Bob Cullum.

Bostic overpowered Daley, one of the club's better swingers, 5 and 4 and trounced Cullum, 7 and 5, to move into one bracket of the semi-finals. Cullum had defeated Dr. George Rifenbary in a first-round match, 4 and 3.

First round action still remaining includes matches between Bill Van Aken and Brian Smith; Clarence Raichle vs. George Schick and Dr. Holcomb Jr. vs. Lou Bruhn.

Jack Nichols Cops '25' Race

Jack Nichols of Carmel, rode his modified Ace of Hearts to its first feature victory of the season in the 25-lap race Saturday at Rhinebeck Speedway.

A wild spin by Byron Fisher on the fourth lap of the feature put Nichols in first position at the restart. That was all the incentive the Carmel pilot needed.

Larry Shurter, popular West Shokan driver, finished fourth and furnished plenty of action with his No. 75. Shurter came through to the front from the scratch position but rammed the fence in the tangle with Fisher. Then from a last place in the restart he came back strong the second time to finish fourth in the 25 lapper.

Shurter also proved his mettle in the second heat. He started last and edged out Bill Colville by a whisker as the checkered flag dropped.

Golden Is Second

Winners in the qualifying heats were George Welch, Larry Shurter and Doug Garrison. Byron Fisher and Bob Tator copped the semi-finals and Ken Goodermote won the consolation.

After the stock car program, three-car teams from Beacon and Red Hook pitted their strategy and destructive tactics against each other in another Demolition Derby. Vinnie Becker, winner of Rhinebeck's first such derby, kept up his winning streak by being the driver of the only surviving car.

A stock car program is scheduled Saturday afternoon. On Sunday, Aug. 17 at 2:30 p. m., the A.R.D.C. will present a complete midget auto racing program at the Rhinebeck Speedway.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

By AL McCLANE (Fishing Editor)

Those Shy, Late-Season Trout

I've always caught my largest trout, and consistently catch more trout, in the summer months, contrary to the popular belief that the fish knock off until the cooler weather. In fact, early fall is a snare and a delusion if you're dealing with resident brook, brown and rainbow trout.

The type of tackle you are planning to use will have a great deal to do with how successful you will be in taking shy, late-season trout.

Flies should be delicate and small. Leader tippets should be reduced to minimum in size, and the experienced angler will increase their length by one or two feet. A 9-foot leader is better than one 6 or 7½ feet in length. It should taper down to no heavier than 2X, and where trout do not run exceptionally large, 3X is better.

The most popular dry flies for clear-water fishing are small bivisibles, spiders and spent wings tied on sizes 12 and 14 hooks. For wet-fly fishing such patterns as the Red Ant, Hare's Ear, Black Gnat, Queens of the Water, Wickham's Fancy, and Ginger Quill are particularly effective.

The idea is to imitate nature as closely as possible, and under ordinary circumstances large and gaudy patterns are out.

A wet fly can be fished upstream as successfully as a dry fly. If the flies are tied on fairly heavy hooks and are lightly dressed, they will sink even in fast water. Cast upstream and slightly across, retrieving slack as you would in dry fishing.

The fly will tumble down with the current and needs no motion on the part of the angler's rod. Follow the course of the drifting line and wait for the slightest twitch which will indicate that a trout has struck. A turn of the wrist, done gently but quickly, will hook such a trout.

When fishing on a fast run or riffle, get the trout down to you as quickly as possible and with a minimum of disturbance. If you succeed in keeping out of sight and can lead the fish below you, playing it there and netting it, you will often have a chance at another fish that may lie in the same riffle above.

Incidentally, in late season wet fly fishing, it is advisable to fish a single fly rather than use one or two droppers besides the point fly.

Big trout ordinarily take a fly more slowly than smaller ones. A six-incher may strike with a splash that belies its true size and then spit out the fly so quickly that it takes a lightning-fast strike to hook him. This is particularly true in small, rapid mountain streams.

An 18-inch trout, however, is apt to rise deliberately and take the fly with very little disturbance on the surface, often making scarcely a dimple. A strike as fast as would be required to hook the six-incher would jerk the fly away from the big one. Between the fact that we catch many small trout for each large one and with the attendant excitement when a big one strikes, the natural tendency always is to strike too soon. Use a slight and deliberate movement of the rod tip.

Legion Nine Defeats Elks, 16-7 To Take Over FYL Loop Lead

Third Place Battle Is on Tap Today

The Fraternal Youth League pennant race is slowly resolving into a dogfight between the American Legion and Rotary powerhouses and from now until the end of the round, it's even up, take your pick.

The Legion powerhouse unloaded a pair of 8-run innings to crush the Elks, 16 to 7 before a fair crowd in yesterday's meeting before a good crowd at municipal stadium.

A wild streak by the Legion pitchers made it a contest for three innings when the winners led 8-6 as the result of an 8-run blast in the second. A repeat in the fourth inning turned the contest into a rout, despite the fact the Legion was restricted to seven hits.

Bob Maines and Don Ferraro, the two Legion flingers who followed starter Joe Reynolds, doled out seven walks each. Reynolds added 2 for a record-breaking 16. The Elks tossers, giving up only seven hits, issued free passes to 10 batters.

Of the dozen hits in the game, only two were for extra bases; a double by the Elks' Ron Jansen and Don Ferraro's triple for the Legion.

Bob Burns and Jansen each had two hits for the losers, while Bob Weishaupt, Legion first sacker, stroked two singles and two walks for a perfect day at bat.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars meet the Police nine today and the Thursday and Friday action features the Rotary against the Elks and the big one against the Legion on Friday evening. Third place is at stake today and a hotly contested game is predicted.

24 Years in National League

Written for NEA Service

Question: Is it true that Stan Musial, who led the National League five times in batting, ever led a league in pitching?

Answer: Yes, in 1940 Musial paced Florida State League pitchers with 18 victories and 5 defeats, with an earned-run average of 2.26 and a winning percentage of .783. The Cardinals' luminary did this while alternating between the outfield and the hill for Daytona Beach. With his pitching, he got in a total of 113 games. This was only the year before he broke into the St. Louis Nationals' outfield.

Q. Who was known as The Oold Roman in baseball?

A. Charles A. Comiskey, famous first baseman and the original owner of the White Sox.

Q. A game is momentarily suspended. When play is resumed a runner on first base fails to tag up after time is called. He goes on to touch second base after the pitcher delivers the ball. Isn't the runner out?

A. Yes, he is supposed to tag up when play resumes. . . . . .

Baseball Slate For Today

In addition to the District 3 Little League action at the 156th FA diamond today, baseball fans will be occupied on three other fronts.

In the City Baseball League, Jones Dairy (2-0) seeks to strengthen its second round lead at the expense of Boulevard Gulf at the Athletic Field at 6:15 p. m.

Fraternal Youth League action at 6 p. m. at municipal stadium pairs the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Police.

The unbeaten Yankees face the Giants in the Town of Esopus Little League.

There they are. Take your pick.

For the life of us, however, we don't see how we can bid it safely. For all he knows, North may have two losing hearts.

"What would the experts do about a hand of this kind?"

It depends on whether you mean tournament experts or rubber bridge experts. The tournament expert hates to bid a slam for which he has no play at all. For some reason or other, he considers this disgraceful.

The same expert, however, does not feel disgraced when he stops at game, and finds 12 absolutely laydown tricks in the hand. He takes refuge in the statement that the slam is "unbiddable."

The first-class rubber bridge player has a completely different philosophy about slams. He is willing to bid slams with a certain amount of gaiety and abandon when he knows that the partnership hands include a very safe trump suit and a large number of playing tricks.

The kind of slam that depends on favorable distribution, or perhaps a favorable opening lead, is difficult to reach by "scientific" methods. The first-class player doesn't disdain science, but he knows its limitations. With a certain type of hand, he knows he must bulldoze his way to the slam and hope for the best.

In the accompanying hand, South should just up and bid six clubs. It is perfectly true that North may put down a dummy that includes, alas, two small hearts.

If so, South accepts his minus score with a smile, and prepares to bid a slam on the same type of hand the very next moment if the chance is presented. He will make many more slams than he loses with such tactics.

When North makes a take-out double of one heart, and subsequently jump raises to five clubs, it's dollars to doughnuts that he has a singleton heart. Of all the possible hands that North can hold to justify this bid, probably three-quarters include a singleton heart.

South is merely following percentage, therefore, when he bids the slam in this situation.

'Box' Reaches Destination

New York, Aug. 5 (AP)—A concrete "bulkhead box" weighing 13,550 tons—the new substructure for Pier 57, on the Hudson river was floated into place last night and locked with cables 20 minutes later. The huge concrete box was expected to settle on the river bottom when the tide went out later. The substructure was built at Grassy Point, N. Y., and floated down the Hudson. It was put in position by 20 workmen using power winches and then was "locked" with cables. When completed the pier will replace Pier 57 which was destroyed by fire in 1947.

CHILDREN—to

then another 146 days for the flight home, or a total of 762 days.

As for the Mars-to-earth-and-return junket, the figures go like this.

That would mean that interplanetary visitors would have to find some place to hide during the stopover.

Of course, a spaceship with a limitless supply of fuel wouldn't have to undergo the so-called "waiting period." It could take off even when the objective planet was at its maximum distance—160 million miles between earth and Venus and 248 million between earth and Mars. But, of course, that would mean a longer time in flight.

Coming back again to the alleged "flying saucers"—And the big "IF" on whether they are something manned by interplanetary space-navigators—here's another thought:

They've certainly licked the interplanetary fuel consumption problem if they can afford to do all the nocturnal cruising around the earth that has been credited to them.

Try Army Walkout

Brussels, Belgium, Aug. 5 (AP)—Sixty-eight Belgian soldiers made off with five trucks last night and tried to start an army walkout against the new two-year conscription term. When they couldn't attract reinforcements, they surrendered. Shouting against the 24-month draft period and singing the Communist "Internationale," the freedom-seekers drove at full speed into the night from their training camp a Casteau, near Mons. They went first to Mons for reinforcements. Soldiers in the barracks there would have no part of them. It was the same story at Tournai. Finally, on the road to Charleroi, four of the truckloads surrendered at a police barricade. The fifth returned to camp and surrendered to military police.

The moon is receding from the earth at a rate of five feet every 100 years, and has been doing so for about 4,000,000,000 years.

Busy Schedule For Girl Scouts At Camp Wendy

New Paltz Aug. 5—Between the seven a. m. rising bell and the nine p. m. taps the Girl Scouts at Ulster County's Camp Wendy cram water and land sports, assigned chores and comradeship that leaves them wiry and brown, with tremendous appetites and newfound sense of self-reliance.

"We're only the props that make the camp tick," said Mrs. Ethel Martin, camp director, referring to herself and the rest of the staff.

A careful balance of safety precautions and a sufficient number of young staff members to join in activities with the girls allows them a strong sense of freedom and independence.

Six New Paltz girls are enjoying the current two-week session. They are Janice Pritchet, Mary DuBois, Alinda Elliott, Elaine Richards, Alice Ehrman and Mary Jacobson.

Split into six units, Camp Wendy provides increasing challenges for the girls as they grow older and more responsible.

Brownies, seven to ten-year-old "junior scouts", join the Tinkerbell or Indian units, sleep in cabins along with a young staff member, and turn to Mrs. Max Chirlin of Kingston for mothering if they suffer the occasional pangs of homesickness that sometimes attacks the younger group.

Flyups, girls who have recently reached regular scouting age, are placed in Greenwood and Pioneer units, where they learn the joys of outdoor cookery and create such concoctions as "blushing bunny", a combination of tomato soup and melted cheese on toast, and "pot of gold", cheese dumplings in a tomato stew.

Older intermediate Girl Scouts choose either the Jungle or Romany units for their camping sessions. These units emphasize water activities and primitive camping. They live in platformed tents and three-sided lean-tos.

Swimming, a most popular sport, is the only "set" activity at the camp, Mrs. Martin said. The morning period is devoted to instruction and the afternoon session is wholly recreational. Each girl is tested for swimming ability when she enters camp and is issued a bathing cap, whose color reveals her standing in the sport.

Non-swimmers wear red caps, and progress through green, yellow and blue caps as they master the art until they are entitled to wear the white cap of a qualified junior life saver. A "buddy" system and frequent checks during the swimming periods insure the safety of the girls.

Boating and the accompanying art of swamping and resettling canoes are also enjoyed by the girls. Less strenuous sessions are spent in the arts and crafts house where they work with clay, liquid plastic, paints and wood.

Mrs. Martin pointed with pride to repair work and painting done recently by fathers of Girl Scouts. One of the fathers, Melvin Richards of New Paltz, has built a house for staff members, and Sidney Haas, New Paltz Boy Scout leader, is rebuilding the wooden frame of the camp station wagon.

The camp is supported in large part through camping fees paid by the girls and by donations made during the annual Girl Scout finance drive.

"We make everything last as long as it can and then use it for something else," Mrs. Martin explained. "When canvas is too worn for tents, for example, it is transferred to an outdoor cooking area or used for patching."

When asked whether there were any special pieces of equipment needed at Camp Wendy, both Mrs. Martin and her assistant and program director, Miss Ethel Halsey, quickly detailed a list of "badly needed" items.

A portable refrigerator would save many trips for fresh supplies, Mrs. Martin said, and smaller items such as jackknives for whittling, lanterns and even orange crates are always needed.

"We never felt restrained, but still knew we always had someone to go to for assistance. The counselors at Camp Wendy are wonderful."

Coy Gets Suspended Sentence for Assault

Myron Coy, 34, of Modena pleaded guilty to third-degree assault and was given a suspended 90-day jail sentence by Justice of the Peace Charles Demsky of Plattekill during arraignment on Saturday. He was placed on probation, state police said.

Coy had been charged with second degree assault following the alleged shooting of his brother-in-law, Richard Tompkins, 18, of Poughkeepsie during a scuffle which followed a "heated argument," state police of Highland reported on July 13. The plea to a lesser charge was accepted with the consent of the district attorney's office.

Troopers said Tompkins was not critically injured. The bullet from a .22 rifle penetrated his right ankle, they reported. The incident occurred on Coy's property in Modena, troopers said.

The interior of the initial fire ball formed in an atomic bomb blast has a temperature of many millions of degrees and is very nearly a vacuum.

Gambling Boss Killed

Chicago, Aug. 5 (AP)—Theodore Roe, wealthy Negro gambling boss, was killed from ambush last night by assassins who blasted him with shotgun slugs when he stepped from his south side apartment. Roe, 53, a reputed millionaire and last of the old guard to resist syndicate control over the lucrative south side policy wheel racket, was hit from fairly close range twice in the chest and once in the neck. He died soon after arrival at a hospital. Police found four spent shotgun shell cases on the ground behind a signboard south of Roe's apartment building.

then another 146 days for the flight home, or a total of 762 days.

As for the Mars-to-earth-and-return junket, the figures go like this.

Closest approach of the two planets: 35 million miles.

That would mean that interplanetary visitors would have to find some place to hide during the stopover.

Of course, a spaceship with a limitless supply of fuel wouldn't have to undergo the so-called "waiting period." It could take off even when the objective planet was at its maximum distance—160 million miles between earth and Venus and 248 million between earth and Mars. But, of course, that would mean a longer time in flight.

Coming back again to the alleged "flying saucers"—And the big "IF" on whether they are something manned by interplanetary space-navigators—here's another thought:

They've certainly licked the interplanetary fuel consumption problem if they can afford to do all the nocturnal cruising around the earth that has been credited to them.

Try Army Walkout

Brussels, Belgium, Aug. 5 (AP)—Sixty-eight Belgian soldiers made off with five trucks last night and tried to start an army walkout against the new two-year conscription term. When they couldn't attract reinforcements, they surrendered. Shouting against the 24-month draft period and singing the Communist "Internationale," the freedom-seekers drove at full speed into the night from their training camp a Casteau, near Mons. They went first to Mons for reinforcements. Soldiers in the barracks there would have no part of them. It was the same story at Tournai. Finally, on the road to Charleroi, four of the truckloads surrendered at a police barricade. The fifth returned to camp and surrendered to military police.

The moon is receding from the earth at a rate of five feet every 100 years, and has been doing so for about 4,000,000,000 years.

Girl Scouts Enjoy Boat Ride

Setting out for a boat ride at Camp Wendy in boat they have recently christened "the Little Crocodile":

Busy Schedule For Girl Scouts At Camp Wendy

New Paltz Aug. 5—Between the seven a. m. rising bell and the nine p. m. taps the Girl Scouts at Ulster County's Camp Wendy cram water and land sports, assigned chores and comradeship that leaves them wiry and brown, with tremendous appetites and newfound sense of self-reliance.

"We're only the props that make the camp tick," said Mrs. Ethel Martin, camp director, referring to herself and the rest of the staff.

A careful balance of safety precautions and a sufficient number of young staff members to join in activities with the girls allows them a strong sense of freedom and independence.

Six New Paltz girls are enjoying the current two-week session. They are Janice Pritchet, Mary DuBois, Alinda Elliott, Elaine Richards, Alice Ehrman and Mary Jacobson.

Split into six units, Camp Wendy provides increasing challenges for the girls as they grow older and more responsible.

Brownies, seven to ten-year-old "junior scouts", join the Tinkerbell or Indian units, sleep in cabins along with a young staff member, and turn to Mrs. Max Chirlin of Kingston for mothering if they suffer the occasional pangs of homesickness that sometimes attacks the younger group.

Flyups, girls who have recently reached regular scouting age, are placed in Greenwood and Pioneer units, where they learn the joys of outdoor cookery and create such concoctions as "blushing bunny", a combination of tomato soup and melted cheese on toast, and "pot of gold", cheese dumplings in a tomato stew.

Even the Brownies do some of their coooking at outdoor fireplaces, Mrs. Martin explained, getting to be pretty adept at stick cookery in particular, toasting hot dogs and bread over the fire.

All the scouts gather at long tables at noon in the Peter Pan mess and recreation hall for a main meal prepared by chief cook Miss Betty Leehive and planned by dietician Miss Theresa Schatzel, both from Kingston.

Greenwood and Pioneer girls are eligible for long hikes, packing tents and food and sleeping off-property.

Older intermediate Girl Scouts choose either the Jungle or Romany units for their camping sessions. These units emphasize water activities and primitive camping. They live in platformed tents and three-sided lean-tos.

Swimming, a most popular sport, is the only "set" activity at the camp, Mrs. Martin said. The morning period is devoted to instruction and the afternoon session is wholly recreational. Each girl is tested for swimming ability when she enters camp and is issued a bathing cap, whose color reveals her standing in the sport.

Non-swimmers wear red caps, and progress through green, yellow and blue caps as they master the art until they are entitled to wear the white cap of a qualified junior life saver. A "buddy" system and frequent checks during the swimming periods insure the safety of the girls.

Boating and the accompanying art of swamping and resettling canoes are also enjoyed by the girls. Less strenuous sessions are spent in the arts and crafts house where they work with clay, liquid plastic, paints and wood.

Mrs. Martin pointed with pride to repair work and painting done recently by fathers of Girl Scouts. One of the fathers, Melvin Richards of New Paltz, has built a house for staff members, and Sidney Haas, New Paltz Boy Scout leader, is rebuilding the wooden frame of the camp station wagon.

The camp is supported in large part through camping fees paid by the girls and by donations made during the annual Girl Scout finance drive.

"We make everything last as long as it can and then use it for something else," Mrs. Martin explained. "When canvas is too worn for tents, for example, it is transferred to an outdoor cooking area or used for patching."

When asked whether there were any special pieces of equipment needed at Camp Wendy, both Mrs. Martin and her assistant and program director, Miss Ethel Halsey, quickly detailed a list of "badly needed" items.

Lumber for repairs and new tent platforms, as well as new tents are a major need, they said. Boat repair and replacement are also necessary.

"We'd love to have an ice cream freezer," Mrs. Martin said, "and really need more shoulder pack baskets for carrying food on hikes and for outdoor cooking."

A portable refrigerator would save many trips for fresh supplies, Mrs. Martin said, and smaller items such as jackknives for whittling, lanterns and even orange crates are always needed.

Diane Richards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Richards of New Paltz, who attended the first of the three two-week sessions at Camp Wendy, was full of unreserved praise for the camp.

"We never felt restrained, but still knew we always had someone to go to for assistance. The counselors at Camp Wendy are wonderful."

Chicago, Aug. 5 (AP)—Theodore Roe, wealthy Negro gambling boss, was killed from ambush last night by assassins who blasted him with shotgun slugs when he stepped from his south side apartment. Roe, 53, a reputed millionaire and last of the old guard to resist syndicate control over the lucrative south side policy wheel racket, was hit from fairly close range twice in the chest and once in the neck. He died soon after arrival at a hospital. Police found four spent shotgun shell cases on the ground behind a signboard south of Roe's apartment building.

Art Student, 18, Disappears From Liner in Atlantic

Hoboken, N. J., Aug. 5 (AP)—A pretty 18-year-old art student disappeared from the Liner Veendam in mid-Atlantic after leaving a note expressing despondency, a ship's officer said when the vessel docked here today.

The girl, Patsy Ann Partridge, was on her way from England with her family to visit an aunt in Short Hills, N. J., when she was reported missing at 6:30 a. m. last Wednesday.

A seaman on watch reported that he saw Patsy Ann pacing the deck, apparently in a distraught state, about three hours before her disappearance.

Accompanying her on the voyage were her father, Jesse Partridge, London export manager for an American heating and plumbing firm, her mother, and a young sister, Harriet, 17. They had lived abroad for many years and were coming here for a month's visit with Partridge's sister.

Vessel Is Searched

Harriet discovered her sister was missing at 6:30 a. m. Wednesday. The family searched the vessel for an hour and a half and then notified Capt. Harm Oldenburger of the Holland-American Line vessel. The entire crew and most of the passengers made a systematic search of the Veendam.

Meanwhile the ship retraced its course and made a 12-hour zig-zag hunt of the area, at the same time alerting 15 other ships in the vicinity. As a result, the Veendam was 12 hours late in docking.

Harriet found a note which Patsy Ann had written to her parents and left in a purse, the ship's spokesman said.

He described the girl as a pretty brunette who had been studying book illustration at St. Martin's, a fashionable London art school. A brilliant student, she was upset about failing one examination last spring, the spokesman said. He added, however, that her parents did not attribute her later actions solely to the examination failure.

Portlick Burglary Examination Monday

Arraigned before Police Justice Benjamin Lonestein in Ellenville Monday night, Frank James Portlick, 38, hotel diswasher, requested an examination on a second degree burglary charge and the case was adjourned until next Monday at 10 a. m. Attorney John L. Larkin of Kingston represented the district attorney.

Portlick was arrested by Ellenville police on Sunday morning after Alexander Grant of Westboro Hills complained that his wallet, containing registration, car keys and an undisclosed amount of money, was taken from him about 3:50 a. m. that day.

Soldier Is Picked Up By Local Officers

Wilfred Fred Hahn, 20, of 14 North street, who, police say, is AWOL from Camp Kilmer, N. J., was picked up by Officers Harold DeGraff and James J. Harbeck at 12:45 a. m. today at Delaware avenue and North street.

Military police are expected to arrive today to return Hahn to Camp Kilmer where he is attached to the 17th Overseas Field Artillery Battalion.

Removing Victims of Texas Bus Crash

An ambulance attendant covers one of the victims of an early morning bus crash, August 4, seven miles south of Waco, Texas. Firemen probe the burned wreckage of the two buses involved, in background.

Mystery Covers

Meanwhile, officials of the Greyhound Lines, local police and the Texas Department of Public Safety tried to find out what happened, and why.

Drivers in 20s

The two speeding vehicles rammed together and burst into flames about 4 a. m. Two young drivers — Hilburn Berry Herring, 24, and B. E. (Billy) Malone, 23 —were piloting their big vehicles through the pre-dawn blackness of central Texas. Herring was completing his fifth day as a driver; Malone had been driving about four months. Both were among the dead.

Passengers miraculously thrown clear of the shambles pulled screaming injured from the flames. But the fire enveloped the wreckage quickly. Bodies burned on the pavement and alongside the highway right-of-way.

Identification of the dead, which was to resume this morning was being made by personal belongings more than any other way. Little of the charred bodies remained for sorrowing, shocked relatives to identify.

Peace Talks Make

Strike talk started over the weekend.

Involved, in addition to the trainmen, are the Brotherhoods of Locomotive Engineers and of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, and the Order of Railway Conductors.

The strike threat directly affected 1,500 operating employes. The railroad said it would have idled 14,000 others. More than 80,000 passengers, including 50,000 New York City commuters, could have been hit.

One bar to an immediate strike, union spokesmen said, was the National Railway Labor Act, which provides for mediation.

Is on Probation

Also, it was pointed out, the trainmen's brotherhood is on Federal court probation until next October on criminal contempt charges

The charges, heard in Cleveland, are the result of a "sick strike" last year, when a work stoppage was blamed on mass sickness. Sentence on the criminal charges was deferred pending the end of the probation period. The trainmen were fined for civil contempt at the same time.

Other brotherhoods in the current dispute are not bound by this legal action, but they apparently are acting in concert and unwilling to put the trainmen on the spot.

While the company-union talks were going on here, high officials of the four brotherhoods were meeting in Cleveland, from where any strike call presumably would come.

Reed said yesterday that none of the union representatives here had been in touch with those in Cleveland.

Strikers Fight Police

Chicago, Aug. 5 (AP) — Strikers fought police at an International Harvester Company twine mill Monday and stoned a truck transferring machinery to a new IHC plant in New Orleans. One policeman was reported kicked in the groin in the melee involving some 250 strikers, and 20 persons were arrested. The truck got through. Pickets were protesting the scheduled permanent shutdown Aug. 8 of the five-story plant on the south side and transfer of its operations to New Orleans.

Asks Court Ruling

Bonn, Germany, Aug. 5 (AP)—West German President Theodor Heuss today asked the federal constitutional court for a ruling whether he may sign the allied-German peace contract when it is ratified by Parliament. The president already has a request before the court to say if it is constitutional for him to sign the related European army treaty if parliament ratifies it. Today's request was that the court give a double opinion.

Negro Leaders'

Stronger Stand Favored

Eisenhower's position regarding civil rights—he has said handling of the matter should be left mainly to the states—was highlighted late yesterday when a Negro group favoring a much stronger stand endorsed him.

The delegation which called at the general's headquarters was led by Bishop D. Ward Nichols of New York, presiding prelate of the First Episcopal District of the African Methodist-Episcopal Church.

He said he and the other members of the delegation are Republicans and have been in the past, and added that the group represented organizations with a membership of three million persons. He said, however, that those in the delegation were speaking only for themselves.

Bishop Gives Statement

After the conference with Eisenhower, the bishop put out a statement saying in part:

"We are convinced that the election of Gen. Eisenhower in November will greatly advance civil rights progress in America. . . .

"In all fairness to our position, we must point out that the general told me he is not yet willing to concede that the only solution to civil rights is through a compulsory federal law.

"He was impressed, however, by the statement issued yesterday (Sunday) by 16 Republican leaders, calling for a compulsory FEPC (Fair Employment Practices Commission) which would not conflict with effective state action in this field, and he promised he would carefully study that statement."

Lodge Is Sponsor

Among the sponsors of the statement, issued in Washington, was Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts, who managed Eisenhower's campaign for the presidential nomination and who now is chairman of his campaign advisory committee.

The statement said a Republican victory in November would hasten enactment of a federal law aimed at preventing racial and other discrimination in hiring and firing.

Bishop Nichols said at a news conference that he is dissatisfied with the civil rights plank the Democrats adopted at their national convention last month. And he added:

"I think Truman has given a deal of lip service on the civil rights issue. I think, for one thing, he could have ended discrimination in Washington after all these years."

In his statement, the bishop said Eisenhower told the negro delegation that "discriminatory practices in our nation's capital were disgraceful," and that if elected he would take "immediate steps to end them."

Other Developments

In other developments at Eisenhower headquarters yesterday:

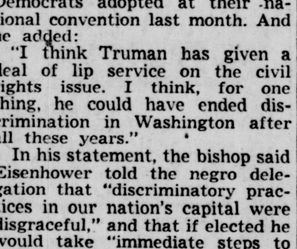

1. Former U. S. Sen. C. Wayland Brooks of Illinois, now a GOP national committeeman, quoted the general as having said presidential respect for Congress must be restored.

Brooks and about 50 other Illinois Republican leaders and GOP businessmen fired questions at Eisenhower at a luncheon meeting. Brooks backed Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio for the presidential nomination, and he said many of the others in the group which conferred with Eisenhower also did.

But the entire delegation, he added, left for home determined to deliver Illinois—the home state of the Democratic presidential nominee, Gov. Adlai Stevenson—into the Republican column in November.

2. Marriner S. Eccles, former chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, said after a conference with the general that they agreed federal spending should be put on a pay-as-you-go basis as quickly as possible. But, Eccles added, they saw no possibility of doing it in the immediate future.

Stevenson to Talk

venson gave a sharp reply when asked if he had been "taken over" by the American for Democratic Action, regarded by some sources as a left-wing element in the Democratic party.

"I can respond in two syllables, which is nonsense. If you refer to Wilson Wyatt—well, it is nonsense."

"I have been my own master so far and I will continue to be," he added.

Wyatt, a Louisville attorney who was named this week as Stevenson's personal campaign manager, formerly was national president of the ADA.

Stevenson announced that Arthur M. Schlesinger Jr., Harvard historian, is going to help with the campaign, chiefly in research and organizing material. Schlesinger is a national vice chairman of the ADA.

No "Personal Abuse"

Airing some other views, the Democratic standard bearer said he would not indulge in "personal abuse" of Eisenhower during the campaign.

He declared he is confident, from the many messages he has received that "what the nation needs is a refreshening and not any sharp alterations of the policies which have meant strength and progress during the past two decades."

He disclosed that former Congressman Walter Lynch of New York is one of "12 or 14 names" that have been proposed for national committee chairman. He added that he has "several people" in mind for the job, including the present chairman Frank McKinney.

Stevenson said he was appalled about the cost of the national campaign and that he didn't believe the Democrats would be able to match the Republican candidates dollar for dollar.

It would be to his advantage, he said, if he and Eisenhower could reach some agreement on limitation of campaign spending.

Long, Green . . .

ate rule requiring 64 of the Senate's 96 votes to end a filibuster makes it impossible for Congress to act on controversial civil rights measures.

The party platform urged modification of this rule but Southerners oppose any change.

Green, who helped draft the platform, said he believes some individuals may stray off the reservation "but there won't be any bolt."

At the same time, Green took to task Negro leaders who have been criticizing the Democratic civil rights plank as too weak.

Rep. Adam C. Powell Jr., New York Democrat, has threatened a Negro "boycott" of both party tickets unless Stevenson and Sparkman take a strong stand for civil rights. Powell said he will lead a delegation to confer with Stevenson soon.

Green said he can't see what the Negroes would have to gain by not voting in the presidential race.

"What end do they achieve by not voting at all?" he asked.

"We havve a stronger plank on civil rights than we had in 1948. When you put all of the platform's statements together, there is a very much better prospect of getting what the Negro wants than he ever has had before.

This was an allusion to the platform's pledge to attempt to change the Senate"s debate rule.

Coal Pacts End

pensate for cost of living increases since Jan. 26, 1951.

Several Weeks Off

A soft coal industry official said there is little likelihood of any full-scale bargaining talks for several weeks.

The coal industry as a whole is said to be in a depressed economic position. Exports have not lived up to hopes; the steel strike has weakened demand; and the present soft coal stockpile has reached an 84-day supply, one of the highest ever.

Basic daily minimum wage in the bituminous fields is $16.35, plus overtime or other extras which bring the average close to $18 a day. Anthracite workers average a little over $17 a day.

Gas Leak Blamed

Fort Worth, Tex., Aug. 5 (AP)—An air force investigating team said today leaking gasoline, ignited by a spark, caused the explosions and fire which destroyed a B-36 bomber and injured 13 men. The big battle plane was being readied for a takeoff and local flight yesterday when it exploded during a thundershower. At first it was believed lightning struck the big plane.

Republicans Plan Attack Upon Adlai, Several 'Scandals'

Top figures in waging it may be four GOP senators—Jenner (Ind.), Bricker (Ohio), Kem (Mo.) and McCarthy (Wis.).

Sen. Dirksen of Illinois, chairman of the Republican senatorial campaign committee, indicated as much in a statement yesterday assailing Stevenson as "Illinois' worst governor since the turn of the century."

His Opening Blast

Stevenson, in an opening gun blast of the presidential campaign, had caustically asked how Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the GOP standard-bearer, could "crusade" in company with the four senators.

Among other things, he questioned how Eisenhower's views on foreign policy could be reconciled with those of the four lawmakers.

Dirkson said:

"Perhaps reluctant Adlai's opening guns were aimed at his next door neighbors (the four midwestern senators) because they know, as we in Illinois know, that he is most famous for his cigarette tax scandal and his horsemeat scandal, and that he is rapidly becoming known as Illinois' worst governor since the turn of the century.

To Accept Challenge

"I have spoken to Senators Jenner, Bricker, Kem and McCarthy and they are very willing to accept Adlai's challenge to meet him on these grounds during the campaign."

Dirksen was referring to prosecutions that stemmed from the sale of unlabeled horse meat for human consumption and the use of counterfeit cigarette tax stamps to evade payment of state revenue.

Bricker and Jenner already have won renomination in their states. Kem is standing for renomination in the Missouri primary elections being held today. McCarthy seeks renomination in the Wisconsin primary to be held Sept. 9.

Freer Is Found

state police, campsite workers, Conservation Department men and volunteers.

Items Are Discovered

The searching party early Monday afternoon reported finding a flashlight, sleeping bag and pen and pencil set near Artist's Rock at a point above the campsite. The pen and pencil set was later identified as Durward's by his mother.

A later report from state police at Catskill disclosed that a large group of searchers, led by District Forest Ranger Victor Schrader, believed they spotted the boy. When members of the party waved and called to him, he reportedly turned and fled back into the woods.

The search continued until about 10 p. m., when a passerby, whose name was not available, notified the game protector that he had found the youth along the road.

Troopers at Catskill had been informed that Freer occasionally suffered loss of memory from the effects of an earlier automobile accident. A Kingston Police Department report of June 4 noted that Freer was injured just before noon that date in a three-vehicle collision at the intersection of Hasbrouck and Delaware avenues.

Mrs. Henry Reported 'Still Unconscious'

Mrs. Debra Henry, 30, a nurse at Camp Rondout, LeFevre Falls, who fractured her skull in a fall from a horse Thursday afternoon, was reported at Benedictine Hospital today to be "still unconscious" and in "serious" condition.

It is believed that Mrs. Henry was thrown from the horse when it tripped or slipped suddenly while galloping at Maple Hill.

Plane to Fly Over City

A "mystery airplane" will hover over Kingston sometime tomorrow, Robert J. Kreines, deputy Civil Defense director in charge of public information, disclosed today. Just what the airplane will do, Kreines declined to make public. He suggested, however, that residents be on the alert. "It might be propaganda," he said, indicating that if it is, it will be propaganda of a good sort. It was understood that arrangements for the so-called mystery plane were made jointly by the local Civil Defense office and Reade's Theatres.

Art Student, 18, Disappears From Liner in Atlantic

Hoboken, N. J., Aug. 5 (AP)—A pretty 18-year-old art student disappeared from the Liner Veendam in mid-Atlantic after leaving a note expressing despondency, a ship's officer said when the vessel docked here today.

The girl, Patsy Ann Partridge, was on her way from England with her family to visit an aunt in Short Hills, N. J., when she was reported missing at 6:30 a. m. last Wednesday.

A seaman on watch reported that he saw Patsy Ann pacing the deck, apparently in a distraught state, about three hours before her disappearance.

Accompanying her on the voyage were her father, Jesse Partridge, London export manager for an American heating and plumbing firm, her mother, and a young sister, Harriet, 17. They had lived abroad for many years and were coming here for a month's visit with Partridge's sister.

Vessel Is Searched

Harriet discovered her sister was missing at 6:30 a. m. Wednesday. The family searched the vessel for an hour and a half and then notified Capt. Harm Oldenburger of the Holland-American Line vessel. The entire crew and most of the passengers made a systematic search of the Veendam.

Meanwhile the ship retraced its course and made a 12-hour zig-zag hunt of the area, at the same time alerting 15 other ships in the vicinity. As a result, the Veendam was 12 hours late in docking.

Harriet found a note which Patsy Ann had written to her parents and left in a purse, the ship's spokesman said.

He described the girl as a pretty brunette who had been studying book illustration at St. Martin's, a fashionable London art school. A brilliant student, she was upset about failing one examination last spring, the spokesman said. He added, however, that her parents did not attribute her later actions solely to the examination failure.

Portlick Burglary Examination Monday

Arraigned before Police Justice Benjamin Lonestein in Ellenville Monday night, Frank James Portlick, 38, hotel diswasher, requested an examination on a second degree burglary charge and the case was adjourned until next Monday at 10 a. m. Attorney John L. Larkin of Kingston represented the district attorney.

Portlick was arrested by Ellenville police on Sunday morning after Alexander Grant of Westboro Hills complained that his wallet, containing registration, car keys and an undisclosed amount of money, was taken from him about 3:50 a. m. that day.

Soldier Is Picked Up By Local Officers

Wilfred Fred Hahn, 20, of 14 North street, who, police say, is AWOL from Camp Kilmer, N. J., was picked up by Officers Harold DeGraff and James J. Harbeck at 12:45 a. m. today at Delaware avenue and North street.

Military police are expected to arrive today to return Hahn to Camp Kilmer where he is attached to the 17th Overseas Field Artillery Battalion.

Removing Victims of Texas Bus Crash

An ambulance attendant covers one of the victims of an early morning bus crash, August 4, seven miles south of Waco, Texas. Firemen probe the burned wreckage of the two buses involved, in background.

Mystery Covers

some bodies were completely cremated.

Meanwhile, officials of the Greyhound Lines, local police and the Texas Department of Public Safety tried to find out what happened, and why.

Drivers in 20s

The two speeding vehicles rammed together and burst into flames about 4 a. m. Two young drivers — Hilburn Berry Herring, 24, and B. E. (Billy) Malone, 23 —were piloting their big vehicles through the pre-dawn blackness of central Texas. Herring was completing his fifth day as a driver; Malone had been driving about four months. Both were among the dead.

Passengers miraculously thrown clear of the shambles pulled screaming injured from the flames. But the fire enveloped the wreckage quickly. Bodies burned on the pavement and alongside the highway right-of-way.

Identification of the dead, which was to resume this morning was being made by personal belongings more than any other way. Little of the charred bodies remained for sorrowing, shocked relatives to identify.

Peace Talks Make

Strike talk started over the weekend.

Involved, in addition to the trainmen, are the Brotherhoods of Locomotive Engineers and of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, and the Order of Railway Conductors.

The strike threat directly affected 1,500 operating employes. The railroad said it would have idled 14,000 others. More than 80,000 passengers, including 50,000 New York City commuters, could have been hit.

One bar to an immediate strike, union spokesmen said, was the National Railway Labor Act, which provides for mediation.

Is on Probation

Also, it was pointed out, the trainmen's brotherhood is on Federal court probation until next October on criminal contempt charges

The charges, heard in Cleveland, are the result of a "sick strike" last year, when a work stoppage was blamed on mass sickness. Sentence on the criminal charges was deferred pending the end of the probation period. The trainmen were fined for civil contempt at the same time.

Other brotherhoods in the current dispute are not bound by this legal action, but they apparently are acting in concert and unwilling to put the trainmen on the spot.

While the company-union talks were going on here, high officials of the four brotherhoods were meeting in Cleveland, from where any strike call presumably would come.

Reed said yesterday that none of the union representatives here had been in touch with those in Cleveland.

Strikers Fight Police

Chicago, Aug. 5 (AP) — Strikers fought police at an International Harvester Company twine mill Monday and stoned a truck transferring machinery to a new IHC plant in New Orleans. One policeman was reported kicked in the groin in the melee involving some 250 strikers, and 20 persons were arrested. The truck got through. Pickets were protesting the scheduled permanent shutdown Aug. 8 of the five-story plant on the south side and transfer of its operations to New Orleans.

Asks Court Ruling

Bonn, Germany, Aug. 5 (AP)—West German President Theodor Heuss today asked the federal constitutional court for a ruling whether he may sign the allied-German peace contract when it is ratified by Parliament. The president already has a request before the court to say if it is constitutional for him to sign the related European army treaty if parliament ratifies it. Today's request was that the court give a double opinion.

Negro Leaders'

Stronger Stand Favored

Eisenhower's position regarding civil rights—he has said handling of the matter should be left mainly to the states—was highlighted late yesterday when a Negro group favoring a much stronger stand endorsed him.

The delegation which called at the general's headquarters was led by Bishop D. Ward Nichols of New York, presiding prelate of the First Episcopal District of the African Methodist-Episcopal Church.

He said he and the other members of the delegation are Republicans and have been in the past, and added that the group represented organizations with a membership of three million persons. He said, however, that those in the delegation were speaking only for themselves.

Bishop Gives Statement

After the conference with Eisenhower, the bishop put out a statement saying in part:

"We are convinced that the election of Gen. Eisenhower in November will greatly advance civil rights progress in America. . . .

"In all fairness to our position, we must point out that the general told me he is not yet willing to concede that the only solution to civil rights is through a compulsory federal law.

"He was impressed, however, by the statement issued yesterday (Sunday) by 16 Republican leaders, calling for a compulsory FEPC (Fair Employment Practices Commission) which would not conflict with effective state action in this field, and he promised he would carefully study that statement."

Lodge Is Sponsor

Among the sponsors of the statement, issued in Washington, was Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts, who managed Eisenhower's campaign for the presidential nomination and who now is chairman of his campaign advisory committee.

The statement said a Republican victory in November would hasten enactment of a federal law aimed at preventing racial and other discrimination in hiring and firing.

Bishop Nichols said at a news conference that he is dissatisfied with the civil rights plank the Democrats adopted at their national convention last month. And he added:

"I think Truman has given a deal of lip service on the civil rights issue. I think, for one thing, he could have ended discrimination in Washington after all these years."

In his statement, the bishop said Eisenhower told the negro delegation that "discriminatory practices in our nation's capital were disgraceful," and that if elected he would take "immediate steps to end them."

Other Developments

In other developments at Eisenhower headquarters yesterday:

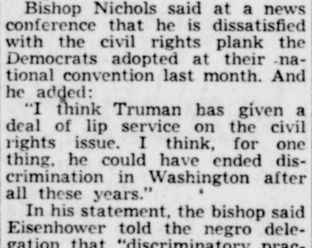

1. Former U. S. Sen. C. Wayland Brooks of Illinois, now a GOP national committeeman, quoted the general as having said presidential respect for Congress must be restored.

Brooks and about 50 other Illinois Republican leaders and GOP businessmen fired questions at Eisenhower at a luncheon meeting. Brooks backed Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio for the presidential nomination, and he said many of the others in the group which conferred with Eisenhower also did.

But the entire delegation, he added, left for home determined to deliver Illinois—the home state of the Democratic presidential nominee, Gov. Adlai Stevenson—into the Republican column in November.

2. Marriner S. Eccles, former chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, said after a conference with the general that they agreed federal spending should be put on a pay-as-you-go basis as quickly as possible. But, Eccles added, they saw no possibility of doing it in the immediate future.

About the only curve that can set things straight is a smile.

Stevenson to Talk

venson gave a sharp reply when asked if he had been "taken over" by the American for Democratic Action, regarded by some sources as a left-wing element in the Democratic party.

"I can respond in two syllables, which is nonsense. If you refer to Wilson Wyatt—well, it is nonsense."

"I have been my own master so far and I will continue to be," he added.

Wyatt, a Louisville attorney who was named this week as Stevenson's personal campaign manager, formerly was national president of the ADA.

Stevenson announced that Arthur M. Schlesinger Jr., Harvard historian, is going to help with the campaign, chiefly in research and organizing material. Schlesinger is a national vice chairman of the ADA.

No "Personal Abuse"

Airing some other views, the Democratic standard bearer said he would not indulge in "personal abuse" of Eisenhower during the campaign.

He declared he is confident, from the many messages he has received that "what the nation needs is a refreshening and not any sharp alterations of the policies which have meant strength and progress during the past two decades."

He disclosed that former Congressman Walter Lynch of New York is one of "12 or 14 names" that have been proposed for national committee chairman. He added that he has "several people" in mind for the job, including the present chairman Frank McKinney.

Stevenson said he was appalled about the cost of the national campaign and that he didn't believe the Democrats would be able to match the Republican candidates dollar for dollar.

It would be to his advantage, he said, if he and Eisenhower could reach some agreement on limitation of campaign spending.

Long, Green . . .

ate rule requiring 64 of the Senate's 96 votes to end a filibuster makes it impossible for Congress to act on controversial civil rights measures.

The party platform urged modification of this rule but Southerners oppose any change.

Green, who helped draft the platform, said he believes some individuals may stray off the reservation "but there won't be any bolt."

At the same time, Green took to task Negro leaders who have been criticizing the Democratic civil rights plank as too weak.

Rep. Adam C. Powell Jr., New York Democrat, has threatened a Negro "boycott" of both party tickets unless Stevenson and Sparkman take a strong stand for civil rights. Powell said he will lead a delegation to confer with Stevenson soon.

Green said he can't see what the Negroes would have to gain by not voting in the presidential race.

"What end do they achieve by not voting at all?" he asked.

"We havve a stronger plank on civil rights than we had in 1948. When you put all of the platform's statements together, there is a very much better prospect of getting what the Negro wants than he ever has had before.

This was an allusion to the platform's pledge to attempt to change the Senate"s debate rule.

Coal Pacts End

pensate for cost of living increases since Jan. 26, 1951.

Several Weeks Off

A soft coal industry official said there is little likelihood of any full-scale bargaining talks for several weeks.

The coal industry as a whole is said to be in a depressed economic position. Exports have not lived up to hopes; the steel strike has weakened demand; and the present soft coal stockpile has reached an 84-day supply, one of the highest ever.

Basic daily minimum wage in the bituminous fields is $16.35, plus overtime or other extras which bring the average close to $18 a day. Anthracite workers average a little over $17 a day.

Gas Leak Blamed

Fort Worth, Tex., Aug. 5 (AP)—An air force investigating team said today leaking gasoline, ignited by a spark, caused the explosions and fire which destroyed a B-36 bomber and injured 13 men. The big battle plane was being readied for a takeoff and local flight yesterday when it exploded during a thundershower. At first it was believed lightning struck the big plane.

Republicans Plan Attack Upon Adlai, Several 'Scandals'

Washington, Aug. 5 (AP)—Republican campaign strategists apparently are preparing a hammering attack on alleged scandals in the administration of Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois, the Democratic presidential nominee.

Top figures in waging it may be four GOP senators—Jenner (Ind.), Bricker (Ohio), Kem (Mo.) and McCarthy (Wis.).

Sen. Dirksen of Illinois, chairman of the Republican senatorial campaign committee, indicated as much in a statement yesterday assailing Stevenson as "Illinois' worst governor since the turn of the century."

His Opening Blast

Stevenson, in an opening gun blast of the presidential campaign, had caustically asked how Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the GOP standard-bearer, could "crusade" in company with the four senators.

Among other things, he questioned how Eisenhower's views on foreign policy could be reconciled with those of the four lawmakers.

Dirkson said:

"Perhaps reluctant Adlai's opening guns were aimed at his next door neighbors (the four midwestern senators) because they know, as we in Illinois know, that he is most famous for his cigarette tax scandal and his horsemeat scandal, and that he is rapidly becoming known as Illinois' worst governor since the turn of the century.

To Accept Challenge

"I have spoken to Senators Jenner, Bricker, Kem and McCarthy and they are very willing to accept Adlai's challenge to meet him on these grounds during the campaign."

Dirksen was referring to prosecutions that stemmed from the sale of unlabeled horse meat for human consumption and the use of counterfeit cigarette tax stamps to evade payment of state revenue.

Bricker and Jenner already have won renomination in their states. Kem is standing for renomination in the Missouri primary elections being held today. McCarthy seeks renomination in the Wisconsin primary to be held Sept. 9.

Freer Is Found

Items Are Discovered

The searching party early Monday afternoon reported finding a flashlight, sleeping bag and pen and pencil set near Artist's Rock at a point above the campsite. The pen and pencil set was later identified as Durward's by his mother.

A later report from state police at Catskill disclosed that a large group of searchers, led by District Forest Ranger Victor Schrader, believed they spotted the boy. When members of the party waved and called to him, he reportedly turned and fled back into the woods.

The search continued until about 10 p. m., when a passerby, whose name was not available, notified the game protector that he had found the youth along the road.

Troopers at Catskill had been informed that Freer occasionally suffered loss of memory from the effects of an earlier automobile accident. A Kingston Police Department report of June 4 noted that Freer was injured just before noon that date in a three-vehicle collision at the intersection of Hasbrouck and Delaware avenues.

Mrs. Henry Reported 'Still Unconscious'

Mrs. Debra Henry, 30, a nurse at Camp Rondout, LeFevre Falls, who fractured her skull in a fall from a horse Thursday afternoon, was reported at Benedictine Hospital today to be "still unconscious" and in "serious" condition.

It is believed that Mrs. Henry was thrown from the horse when it tripped or slipped suddenly while galloping at Maple Hill.

Plane to Fly Over City

A "mystery airplane" will hover over Kingston sometime tomorrow, Robert J. Kreines, deputy Civil Defense director in charge of public information, disclosed today. Just what the airplane will do, Kreines declined to make public. He suggested, however, that residents be on the alert. "It might be propaganda," he said, indicating that if it is, it will be propaganda of a good sort. It was understood that arrangements for the so-called mystery plane were made jointly by the local Civil Defense office and Reade's Theatres.
